So, I got two strikes on my YouTube channel. In the email they said my account will only be disabled for 2 weeks. But when I log in it saysQuote:Your account has been permanently disabled.
What gives?

Have you tried contacting them through support? :-)

No not yet :P I probably will after the two week period if it doesn't get unbanned though

Generally it says that regardless of how long the ban time. My main account had that, but it was good after two weeks. Your account should be good. No promises though.

You've been caught.

I'd stop now and make a new account, if you don't they WILL ban your IP address from YouTube and you will never be able to upload again even on a different account.

YouTube is now watching you.

YouTube isn't really watching they just have you marked. If you really want to get past this just go to a McDonalds or something and make a Gmail account w/ a fake phone number.

I've got one email that has over 7 banned accounts + 6 active accounts. I also have a legit YouTube account. Haven't seen anything happen, they just keep closing channels and I open a new one.

Sad to hear but why do you think your account was disabled?

I had two videos with "misleading content". So I got two strikes.
