

Forum: Hack Forums

Thread: Searching for beats wireless headphones, cheapest deal

jeejeepower - October 26, 2013, 7:47 pm

Hello HF,

I would like the cheapest deal that anyone can find for the headphone wireless beats that you can officialy buy at : <http://ca.beatsbydre.com/en/headphones/wireless/beats-wireless.html>

The headphones must be new or refurbished. And if possible white and red.

Thanks to anybody that can found a good deal

(I am living in canada for the shipping fees)

GL1TCH3D - October 26, 2013, 9:52 pm

Search in the garbage, shape some rotten stuff into the shape of headphones, paint it red and add the b on it.

Boom, beats quality

ParashiteHF - October 27, 2013, 8:34 am

(Oct 26, 2013 09:52 PM)GL1TCH3D Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Search in the garbage, shape some rotten stuff into the shape of headphones, paint it red and add the b on it.

Boom, beats quality

You really are the most annoying little fuck I've ever seen on the Shopping Deals section. Anything to do with beats by dre you have to comment on to give your "master" opinion on. Just let people search for what they want without giving them some spammy troll reply.

fbto10 - October 27, 2013, 9:09 am

(Oct 27, 2013 08:34 AM)ParashiteHF Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) You really are the most annoying little fuck I've ever seen on the Shopping Deals section. Anything to do with beats by dre you have to comment on to give your "master" opinion on. Just let people search for what they want without giving them some spammy troll reply.

Sorry to say but beats are just overpriced shit phones

ThirdEyed - October 28, 2013, 11:51 am

I'm looking for cheap wireless beats too. Bump

YeZzZyEz - October 28, 2013, 12:22 pm

Honestly you guys. Don't even look for beats. They are absolutely terrible. Go read up and then spend your money on something useful.

Elman - October 28, 2013, 4:06 pm

how much does beats go for now days anyway???

seanw684 - October 28, 2013, 4:08 pm

Over $120 USD for wired headphones. Quite a rip-off, look at Bose or Creative Labs headphones

here is a good pair and it is $80 cheaper

<http://us.creative.com/p/headphones-headsets/hq-1600>

NOS - October 28, 2013, 5:04 pm

(Oct 28, 2013 04:08 PM)seanw684 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Over $120 USD for wired headphones. Quite a rip-off, look at Bose or Creative Labs headphones

here is a good pair and it is $80 cheaper

<http://us.creative.com/p/headphones-headsets/hq-1600>

I don't think that is a good idea either, sennheiser and audio-technica are reputable brands.

ThePengy - October 29, 2013, 11:23 am

(Oct 27, 2013 09:09 AM)fbto10 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Sorry to say but beats are just overpriced shit phones Beats are not phones ??? ...

How just how could you think that .-.

GL1TCH3D - October 29, 2013, 11:29 am

(Oct 29, 2013 11:23 AM)ByDelux Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Beats are not phones ??? ...

How just how could you think that .-.

Yup, they're really mean to just be worn by swagfags as necklaces.

Beats by dre, showing how plastic is worth more than gold.

jeejeepower - November 5, 2013, 10:41 am Still looking for a good deal. If anyone can find one... :)

Exo-Politics - November 5, 2013, 1:21 pm

Beats as a whole, in terms of the various ones I've tried don't sound as bad as what people are portraying them to be. Yes, they are way overpriced and there is a stupid social clique that uses them as fashion, but as a headphone they are decent. They're adequate enough for listening to lossy music without a dac if you prefer a sound that is "bass heavy" and even if you don't like the sound, you can always use an equalizer.

Personally I would never buy one, I got a Beats Studio as a gift that I use for monitoring my guitar and click tracks when I'm not using my IEMs. If its your money, who are we to tell you how to spend it. If you really want to buy one, then do it.

Now if you want a great entry level flat sounding headphones that sound great without a dac try the ATH-M50 series. They'll sound great (assuming you're listening to music at your transparency) and they will sound even better when you decide to purchase a better soundcard/dac/amp etc.

jeejeepower - November 5, 2013, 2:05 pm

Thanks for all the advice and I arealy know that beats don't worth the price. This isnt for me, its for a friend and he absolutly want wireless beats. I am only looking for a cheap deal.

ajax329 - November 6, 2013, 9:04 am

go ioffer.com

you get 1:1 for cheap :D

Vegas - November 6, 2013, 12:38 pm

You can find non-genuine ones that work just as well for very cheap on chinese wholesale sites. If your friend isn't okay with them being fake, try craigslist.