Thread: Spreading Service Access to hundreds of computers

aaronkylecole - November 5, 2013, 10:20 am

Hello, I am new here. I specifically joined to do this. I am a current employee of worldwide and have access to computers of both personal and business ranging from banks to locally owned bushiness.

I am not sure how much to charge for something like this, so pm me and we can discusses pricing.

You are going to have some kind of proof if you want people other than skids to give you attention. This is your first post, and you are claiming to be an employee that has access to these computers, including banks. It's very improbable, cause if it were true, you know how much trouble you could get in for spreading there. How would you spread to all those computers?

why do am having some feeling that says 'don't deal with this OP' !?

if you are having access to bank computers then i won't deal with you, i don't want to be hacking a computer bank and give the police a trace for me -_-

I can provide proof, what would be needed as proof?

Also, If the buyer doesn't want banks involved than I wont do anything to a banks computer.

I repair computers for the company and only do about 3-4 a day, so it wont be super fast, but your guaranteed to have the system infected as I have complete control and am also able to disable antivirus if installed.

Since I have physical access I can use a USB to spread them. I can also provide a picture for every computer I spread too. (Like the USB drive opened on the computer before spreading.)
