Hahaha I sold my Solo beats for that price to some idiot.

Delevingne - November 11, 2013, 12:13 pm

It is still way to overprised. Okey, nice sound. For that money you can get much better headphones. You pay for the 'sw3k'.

Adolf Hipster - November 11, 2013, 12:15 pm

Or buy class1 copies and sell them to idiots at the original price, BAM!

This isn't cheap, these are the old beats. This is becoming the standard price.

Big Baller Shot Caller - November 11, 2013, 8:14 pm

Yup, eBay deals aren't really deals. They put on sale products that are priced at what they are worth. So basically, studios are worth about there now. And I bet I could find better quality audio for $160.

Preev - November 12, 2013, 1:41 pm

ioffer has some fake ones too. Might wanna try those.

0_0_ - November 12, 2013, 10:49 pm

Be careful they could be fakes. Majority of eBay beats are fakes, it's just hard for the human eye to identify sometimes.

Invulnerability - November 13, 2013, 12:23 am

Most of the beats are taken from ioffer (China product) but they sell it in original price
I suggest OP buy other brand.

The reason it so cheap is because the studios 2.0 came out so the older version is cheaper alberto777 - November 15, 2013, 12:05 pm

these are going down in price all the time thanks to counterfeit goods
