Thread: Is it possible to hack someones phone and view pictures, messages, call log, etc.?

Guy_Fawkes - November 17, 2013, 10:57 am

I have a phone number of a friend that I want to mess with. Is their anyway that I can use their number to remotely access their phone? Sorry if this is in the wrong place.

EDIT: The phone is an iPhone. I am not really not looking for "magic programs" (lulz), I just want to get in.

Some magical program that I have never heard of that lets you put in a phone number and gives you insta access to everything?

I don't think so.

you could install a trojan on it if you can get real access for a short time.

You could install a RAT for android.

Just in case you want to crash their phone for a while and their phone has an older version of iOS on it:

Spoiler (Click to View) If it's an android, you can hack their gmail and if their account is synced, you can sync everything to another device (or virtual box with android.iso, hint hint).

Disregard that, it's an Iphone.
