Thread: BTC Fraud

Omniscient - November 20, 2013, 9:38 am

Due to some threads about BTC stealers and member feedback I have added a new rule to the Disallowed BlackHat Activity help doc.

<https://hackforums.net/misc.php?action=help&hid=21>

Quote:Bitcoin Fraud - We consider BTC the alternate crypto currency of choice here on HF. And while it has no official government backing we feel it has value to this community. As such any BTC fraud will be considered financial fraud. Discussion on stealing BTC wallets including RATS will not be allowed on HF.

I hope this resolves the problem and makes it clear that we will consider BTC fraud as financial fraud just the same as stealing CC info.

Thank you.

Y0ix - November 20, 2013, 9:39 am

Sound about okay that its still stealin but its virtually not like a cc but still its still fraud

Muscles Glasses - November 20, 2013, 9:39 am

Keeping ontop of that blackhat.

It's nice to see you taking feedback into consideration on topics such as this, good lad.

To my customers, program and support will live but do not discuss it outside of PM's.

Thanks.

Omniscient - November 20, 2013, 9:41 am

I think as BTC grows for usage here in the community we should respect it enough not to ruin it and exploit it. If you want free BTC then go mine. Heck you could do like some and get an army of computers to mine for you. :)

Omniscient - November 20, 2013, 9:56 am

Quote: Good to see this banned. BTC is starting to pop up a lot on HF as a preferred payment of choice.

I just feel that if we're going to be using BTC here as a currency we should respect it enough to disallow the stealing of wallets. Obviously mining is perfectly fine. I gave an example of those who might use a RAT to steal BTC data. Another example would be discussing an exploit to steal BTC from a well known wallet site.

I don't think it's too far of a stretch from our existing rules about financial fraud but I needed to make it clear that we will consider BTC as part of that.

Thank you. Nice idea. But there's a bad side.

I never knew people can steal your BTC wallet. I found here on HF some BTC stealers. So now I KNOW that they can and I won't install anything that's unofficial. I'm sure the guy who created the BTC wallet stealer will improve his "hack" and make it FUD and nobody will be able to find it because it isn't public.

What I'm trying to say is we need these "rats/stealers" here to know what they can do and how we can spot them.

Indeed it would. Adding any kind of BTC stealer to any software on HF is now prohibited.

Your wallet can't get stolen if you encrypted the wallet.. right? Unless the stealer has a keylogger.

Because nobody can buy your product, so nobody will know someone created BTC stealer. That means nobody will protect against a BTC Stealer.

Blocking BTC stealers from HF is a good idea. But at the same time is a bad idea.

May I ask your opinions on Bitcoin Scams on HF? They are easy to spot ,but the problem is most btc scammers get away easily knowing nothing will happen to them. The bitcoin community on HF is growing and it is sad to see more and more scammers(ub3rs) are scamming new members for hundreds and they do it since they know nothing will ever happen to them. And it is so easy to spot these scams as all transactions are public.

I also believe non-upgraded members make up 80% of buyers on the marketplace so these scams will tend to affect sellers as well.

PsychoSexy - November 20, 2013, 11:17 am

BTC allows for some very interesting changes here on HF. Adjustments are going to be made because of this. What changes or when they'll occur are questions I cannot answer at this time.

You're on a forum called "HackForums". I can guarantee you that almost 90% of the community has done something 'wrong'. It's too hard to be a moral person in an immoral society. That being said, it still makes me feel hopeful that there are still people like you out there.

What exactly don't you like about this update? Just because the name of this forum involves "Hacking" doesn't directly mean that it's all for Black Hat reasons. Hacking involves a lot more than just Black Hat. Black Hat isn't allowed here to prevent any illegal issues and I'm sure Omni wouldn't want to be held responsible for a member's actions, let alone numerous. I think it's better they don't allow Black Hat activity. Maybe if you actually stated a reason, something could change here if you provide enough of a structured opinion and suggestion why it's not a good update. Otherwise, saying "I don't like this update" doesn't really help to change anything. That's equivalent to me emailing Microsoft "I don't like Windows 8. It should be named Windows Hubs." and end the email there. Without structure in your biased opinion, nothing will change.

There are many black hat and illegal stuff going on here on HF.

There are just some activity you can't do without receiving a warning.

My guess is that he either own or run a wallet stealer, and he's upset because he spend so long time making it perfect, and now it has been shut down.

I feel like you'd be better off PM'ing him directly for a quick response. I don't see this being illegal here though since this isn't fraud. This I feel like is the equivalence to a botnet in a sense since you're using the person's computer as a "zombie."

Machiavellian101 - November 20, 2013, 2:09 pm

When are people going to realise black-hat activity is not hacking in any sense of the word at all. Black-hats are career criminals who mostly make money illegally among few other illegal acts such as defacing government websites or even defacing sites for money and so forth.

Furthermore you'll also be pleased to know that the US department of homeland security defines hackers as having a high level of skill and sophistication that mainly use that stuff for security research. And of course these security agencies also have their own team of elite hackers but usually each one trained in cyber ethics and bound by ethical and/or legal codes. Ingredients15 graham crackers, crushed

2 tablespoons butter, melted

4 (8 ounce) packages cream cheese

1 1/2 cups white sugar

3/4 cup milk

4 eggs

1 cup sour cream

1 tablespoon vanilla extract
1/4 cup all-purpose flour

DirectionsPreheat oven to 350 degrees F (175 degrees C). Grease a 9 inch springform pan.

In a medium bowl, mix graham cracker crumbs with melted butter. Press onto bottom of springform pan.

In a large bowl, mix cream cheese with sugar until smooth. Blend in milk, and then mix in the eggs one at a time, mixing just enough to incorporate. Mix in sour cream, vanilla and flour until smooth. Pour filling into prepared crust.

Bake in preheated oven for 1 hour. Turn the oven off, and let cake cool in oven with the door closed for 5 to 6 hours; this prevents cracking. Chill in refrigerator until serving.

On a more serious note. I'm not sure why everyone is complaining. It's been said and done, and it won't really change anything no matter how much everyone bickers about it. He's not outlawing ALL illegal crap, just fraud. You know...the thing that can get you arrested or come back to get him in legal trouble.

4 (8 ounce) packages cream cheese
1 1/2 cups white sugar
3/4 cup milk
4 eggs
1 cup sour cream
1 tablespoon vanilla extract
1/4 cup all-purpose flour

DirectionsPreheat oven to 350 degrees F (175 degrees C). Grease a 9 inch springform pan.

In a medium bowl, mix graham cracker crumbs with melted butter. Press onto bottom of springform pan.

In a large bowl, mix cream cheese with sugar until smooth. Blend in milk, and then mix in the eggs one at a time, mixing just enough to incorporate. Mix in sour cream, vanilla and flour until smooth. Pour filling into prepared crust.

Bake in preheated oven for 1 hour. Turn the oven off, and let cake cool in oven with the door closed for 5 to 6 hours; this prevents cracking. Chill in refrigerator until serving.

On a more serious note. I'm not sure why everyone is complaining. It's been said and done, and it won't really change anything no matter how much everyone bickers about it. He's not outlawing ALL illegal crap, just fraud. You know...the thing that can get you arrested or come back to get him in legal trouble.

Dear Viral Dragon,

Your recipe looks absolutely delicious! I will try this out when I am with the kids and grandparents to give them a nice surprise. Thank you so much!

Dear regards,

Thanks for the heads up Omniscient. I think the rule was much needed.

Seems like a straight forward and good ban to have on HF. Members don't really need to sell fraud eBooks or other fraud programs.

Thanks :)

Hello Soccer, so you and your partner will still be providing service to the ones that bought the software correct? Also, how can they contact you for problems if one can not PM yet?

BTC is very powerful, give it a bit more time and governments will be all over it with legislations.

Thanks for the update Omni. Stealing money is fraud no matter how you word it or the type of currency.

That's some good stuff Omni, looking forward to more great rules to help the community to be safe.

Correct but since no single entity can control BTC it's actually in a position to be a consistent online currency. It's like online poker. They might be able to create laws about it in USA but they can't stop it. And eventually it will be completely legal because US only choice is to fight or tax. And they'll choose to tax.

But anyways....I've posted the policy on BTC fraud and that's all this thread is about.

Thank you.
