Just gonna say;

Battlefield is spelt wrong in the thread title.

You have 600+ guests viewing the site, either they are spam, fake or normal people, if it's the last option, you gotta work on your sign up. Clearly people aren't wanting to sign up.

I see no favicon but that might be my browser.

You are using similar award icons and userbars as L-e-a-k-f-o-r-u-m-s, I think I recognize you and other members from LF also (The account I saw might not have been you but I saw plenty of others)

However, the site has a nice theme, you kept MyBB copyright in the footer and like PKA... so goodluck to you. I may speak with you in a month or so about a partnership, or if you seem interested, PM me now :P

Revenge - November 24, 2013, 5:28 am

That's great. Be sure not to remain heavy over SQL Queries. There are a lot of plugins like MyAlerts, that take unnecessary space in databases. Also, be sure to clean you debuglogs table when it gets heavy.

Something must of happened that made your site literally die some how. I mean you got to understand sites can get hype and such but then there is a point where you are doing something wrong and your forum starts to die down. You must be doing something wrong because from what I see there aren't many members online. ./ Just my opinion.
