Feeling pretty happy with how its going...

All made via dropshipping...

I dropship anything and everthing that is in high demand.. I currently have about 107~ items listed... I'm a bronze powerseller with 100% feedback too :)

I take a standard 20~% profit on all items after all fees are paid :)

Being only 19 with 2 jobs and college on top of this.. I don't feel like I'm doing too bad :)

Note: Please don't assume that I'm selling knock-off replica goods from China because I'm not :')

Damn... If only I didn't have a Student PayPal I'd sell on eBay. Nice earnings.

Pretty much buying from places like China websites, and using that to sell to others. Well in simpler terms, selling a product you don't actually have, but some website has and you send the item directly from the website, to the buyer

It is kinda like being a middleman.

Since you know, a lot of people want to do what you said.
