Thread: The Basic Elements of Making Signatures!

drugs - November 29, 2013, 9:12 pm

I use to do a lot of GFX back in the day when I was little (like around 2008 when I was 13). I was browsing an old forum (my first forum) that I was registered and found this.

This tutorial helped me a lot when I first started doing GFX.

To those who want to start doing GFX, I high recommend taking a look at this.

Very nice thanks for this.

I just got a new laptop and i want to get into GFX work.

Any recommendations for what program to use on Windows 8?

You can start with GIMP. It's great for beginners.

Then once you get better, you can change to Photoshop.
