Thread: Website Design Wireframe

? THEINsPIREDONE - December 9, 2013, 5:06 pm

Hello designers and fans of designing!

It's been a very long time since I used this section so it's about time I show some of my work and ask for your opinion :P

This is one of my latest projects (CryptoChest, I designed the logo as well) and it's about an upcoming website!

What do you think about the wireframe? Any cool ideas are welcomed :P

Looking good man I'll give you 9/10 ?

Austinbanana - December 9, 2013, 8:15 pm

That looks actually quite professional, good work

Bad Meets Evil - December 9, 2013, 9:23 pm

Your wireframe really doesn't look any different than many websites out there so there is no real point to it.

If you are going to wireframe something, do it to illustrate a unique concept that you want to put into action.

? THEINsPIREDONE - December 10, 2013, 3:19 am

Actually it's the way I've presented the wireframe rather the wireframe itself that I actually tried for the first time!!

Erwin Schrödinger - December 10, 2013, 3:23 am

Seems really sexy!

9/10! :D

Good luck with your website.

? THEINsPIREDONE - December 10, 2013, 3:56 am

Hehe I'm pretty satisfied with the final outcome as well :D

Thanks!

It feels like the left side is empty. It looks good overall though.

Are you talking about the Chart section?

Football - December 10, 2013, 4:20 am
Wow man, 10/10, awesome design. I wish i could do that.

Yea, That catches my eye. But in general, it looks like the right side has more "Action"

This is just my personal opinion aswell. Dont feel that you need to change anything.

Like I said into my OP, every suggestion is welcomed and will be taken into consideration ;)

Why would I want to design something which would make people feel "something is missing" !!
I will probably try to add some text over there or the logo of the company...will see!

Thanks a lot for your feedback!

I really do like it, it's clean and simples; would be awesome if you could setup a Demo of it? :)

Unfortunately I don't have any coding/development experience. I do just the Photoshop part.

But I'm really thinking of getting into HTML and CSS in the coming days!

I like it, it's very simple and good looking. However, the idea is missing some uniqueness.. I've seen quite a lot of similar websites. Very nice though.

Thanks for wanting to help me inepz, I really appreciate it :)

I've found some really top notch e-books about HTML and CSS on the internet...I'll start reading them soon but in case I need some help, I'll hit you up :)

There's no point in knowing how to mockup websites if you don't know html nor css. Learn them both, and study shit on dribbble but don't STEAL from those pretentious fucks either. No wait fuck dribbble learn from smashingmagazine and the /r/webdesign subreddit. We don't want everyone running around with minimalism and flat ui shit everywhere.

Mt. Everest - February 12, 2014, 5:21 pm

I personally like the look of it, but it seems too much of a one-page website to me and they are annoying to me.
9/10 for graphics though :)

+Aether - February 12, 2014, 5:30 pm

You do a nice job with your presentation, but you definitely don't have enough padding and I can already tell that the website will look cramped together when it's done. Try to better utilize spacing and padding next time.

Be?tray?ed - February 12, 2014, 11:58 pm

That looks pretty clean keep up the good work

xhflhkeuhwguu34 - February 13, 2014, 6:09 pm

It's like you know what you're doing but never add any creativity.

? THEINSPIREDONE - February 14, 2014, 5:10 am

It's just a wireframe, it's to present the way elements are supposed to be placed and function in the real thing. It's just so the client can get an idea.

What creativity are you all talking about? lol

Waxy - February 14, 2014, 6:19 am

The final design:

the "security is our main factor" looks really out of place.

I don't like the sub-title font choices either.

other than that it looks pretty good.

Wiak - February 14, 2014, 6:55 am

Clean and just awesome! But remember, the pictures you are adding later to the site have to be clean to ;)

- Regards Wiz!

xhflhkeuhwguu34 - February 14, 2014, 6:56 am

Looks a bit "standard" to me is what I'm saying. Spice it up.

HIGH PAID FELLA - February 14, 2014, 7:56 am

Good but what Bad Meets Evil said, it's not unique.

Keep working on it.
