Kind of reminds me of Gurren Lagann a bit. I will check out the first few episodes to see if I want to watch the rest this weekend.

Tell me what you think. I've downloaded most of the aired episodes, but have no motivation to start new series' unless I know they're good.

I've watched all the currently aired episodes and I can say I'm thoroughly enjoying it.

It's a fantastic series and I wish your OP had given it more justice...but alas, you have one post and I never expect to see you again.

I like this series, but the type of animation that they do is different, for example the animation looks nothing like FMA. It looks a bit 3D-ish?

That's because it is purely CG, which is 3D.

Aren't most recent anime CG? Not many people draw by hand anymore. But I do see that the animation in this anime is incredibly smooth, sometimes unrealistically smooth for character movements, but overall it looks pretty good so far.

No, contrary to popular belief, most anime is not computer animated. They do use computers to produce the anime, but most of the art is still handrawn.
