Sounds good. I really like the userbar. Seems like it is going to be a great group.

kray - December 15, 2013, 9:08 pm

Lets pick through this little mission statement, which honestly I feel Kyle probably came up with.

The Republic is a family that demonstrates superiority throughout society.

Gross. Another group which is going to act condescendingly towards other members. ("superiority")

We are brothers in oath, we stand strong to live and protect one another.

Woah! So original, brothers standing to protect each and other. That hasn't been done 17k other times.

Not trying to be a douche, but I'm leaving now even though I probably would've gotten kicked knowing Kyle.

Good luck, lol.

GodlikeGuy - December 15, 2013, 9:12 pm

Hey Kyle, super awesome group bruh!

I totally value the sense of honor and pride that one would gain being part of such a group.

I think that is where the "143" type deal comes in. They dont have set guidelines, but also wont tell you what you need to do to join. Its something you have to "earn" so to say.

Good luck with the group Kyle. Don't listen to all of the people that are flaming. Give it time and the group will become more and more respected. I think it's kind of like, if a new member joins, he has no influence, and people usually are rude to him; but with a group you just need to lean back, relax and allow for some time. I would make some nice threads or products to really let HF know your not running this group for the userbar. I'm sure you will take the group down a great path Kyle. Good luck bud.

Oh, I have every intention to teach others about A/V technology and similar such fields. That's the reason why I'm going to be starting an A/V crew. I started learning these things more than half of my life ago when I was eight, and I feel I have a responsibility to share my enthusiasm for the field with others. Mohatu - December 16, 2013, 12:18 pm

Why all the mystery? It's another new group, yay. It'll take years for it to achieve any legendary status such that belonged to The Alliance, or the secrecy that belongs to Red Lions. Everyone on this thread who's hopping on Kyle's dick, do it some more, shine his shoes while you're at it. The sad thing is that all of the "new" group come and go with the seasons, and coming up with a new idea for a group that stands out from all the others is pretty hard to do. Therefore, I think that Kyle may not know exactly WHAT he wants to do with the group and is still thinking about it.

Remember Coders? What about Angels, Reverence, TechSperts, The Corporation, Informers, Eminence, MineCrafters, Blackshades, Propitious, Creed, Rhythm, Valor, HF Coders, Logic, Serenity, Beacon, Respawn, Wifi Gang, Marketers, Terror, Legacy, Guardians, Lannisters, and Diamond? They are all gone.

Kyle, what are your intentions with the group? What sets this apart from other "invite only" groups such as 143? Also, what sets it apart from other groups with seemingly similar intentions such as The Brotherhood? Do you see this group being around in 1 year? What about two years? What will you be doing for the forum, or is it intended to become a private lounge group of inactivity?

Depending on how the above is read, it may come off as harsh or critical. It is not. See it more as a no-bullshit and to-the-point questioning of topics we would all like to know, seeing as this thread is now almost 30 pages long, filled with "lel hop i git in <3<3>3" and people who think posting a lot is going to get them in. Christ. All of you only want the userbar. You have no clue what the group will do, what you can do for the group, how the group will improve HF, what you will learn, nothing. You just see a new userbar and want in. Pathetic.

Fintastic - December 16, 2013, 1:09 pm

Promise. We can prove our value to the forum ourselves. You can say the group is (SUPER DUPER) similar to others, but our actions differentiate ourselves from every single group on HF. "Actions speak louder than words" you may say. Or you can be patient, and witness.

I never said that, and you incorrectly perceive my statements as an attack on your group. So far you have yet to state what you will actually be DOING as a group, beyond saying some nouns that are supposed to suffice in the meantime. I'm not stubborn at all, I'm not sure where that comes from.

"The Republic is a family that demonstrates superiority throughout society. We are brothers in oath, we stand strong to live and protect one another."

Is this a group on Hackforums or a motto for a new batman movie?

On topic, the userbar looks pretty shitty to be honest and I believe I believe that this group will consist of nothing but the good old invite only trend that has been going on for a good while. However they all end up in failures pretty sadly. 90% of the people backing KyleWTF up are those with nice hopes about getting invited. "Oh my god great group hopefully one day I will get invited".

So when is "The Republic booter" is going to be released, or maybe "The republic helpdisk" or probably probably "The republic giveaway $50 steam"

Meh meh meh, so many bad groups.

I'd have to disagree with this. From what I can tell the only similarity between the two is that both have the gold color in their userbar, which doesn't say much. You shouldn't judge the group by some pictures and a little bit of text on a thread. Time will tell what the group will become, keep in mind that The Republic was transformed from Skill just two days ago.

Yeah, this is what Skill was changed too.

The Republic - It's pretty much a group of users who help out around the forum, not to "Show off" or anything like that but more to Set an Example.

Most users find it kind of dumb, but I believe its a pretty decent Group Idea.

Well, that's the whole idea behind "invite only", you don't ask for an invitation. You get invited, and if you don't get invited then you're not in the group.

Also, I like what the group is becoming so far. I see a lot of people I recognize to be excellent users here.

That's where the Invite Only nature comes in, mate. It's kind of silly to see a bunch of people begging to get in, or asking how to apply, when it says the answer in the title. ?

I've been very lenient on who has been getting on the group simply because I find it annoying how groups can be so closed up. We are secretive, but the moment we let you in is when the secrets are revealed. Expect more members to be added, at any time. I think this is what will work best for any group. ? No people buying in, nobody posting a 2k+ character application to get in, but to impress Assault or I to receive an invite. We like users who'll make an impact on OTHER users in the group as well as HF. This is where the whole family process knits in.

For now, invite only. So ... How do you get an invite then. :p

Just wondering

... Are you serious? The group is INVITE ONLY. That means you are invited if the group leader(s) think of you as an appropriate member for their group.

Well I got kicked in the middle of a project I spent quite some time on. I did not see the activity thread, so my partner and I both lost a few hours of work because of that.

Oh well. Their loss.
