Thread: [LegacyLink Seller Ignores PMs And Doesnt Provide Any Support \[LQ Seller\]](#)

Decompiler - December 17, 2013, 11:39 am

I have bought the rat from Assault

The RAT did not work what so ever for me and I wasnt able to open my slaves webcam,view desktop or do anything with them what so ever.So I messaged Assault a couple times and gotten no answer and saw that he was ignored me.It was clear he wasnt going to help me with the problem so I decided to charge back since it was less then useless much like his help.
Long story short he won the paypal dispute and I lost.

To anyone who is wanting to buy this LQ rat/seller I highly suggest you think otherwise as in my experience It was worse then DC and simply didnt meet my needs I expected when buying from him.

The money is nothing to me but I expected the common courtesy to get messaged back and not to be ignored like a child would do so.Everything would be fine if he said sorry for not being able to reply exc but this is just absurd.

Assault - December 17, 2013, 11:40 am

This thread is a joke, you are a joke.

Please reference the following lines from my Terms of Service

Code No refunds or chargebacks, all sales are final.

Any chargeback against legacyLink will not be tolerated.

Failure to comply with any of my terms will result in immediate license suspension

If you can understand English, you should be able to easily understand that you have violated my Terms of Service && that this would happen.

I have done nothing wrong in this case. I am only trying to run my business.

Over the past seven days, I haven't received a single private message from you requesting support.

Also, before this thread made, you started a blackmail attempt.

(Dec 17, 2013 12:39 PM)Decompiler Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Everything would be fine if he said sorry for not being able to reply exc

Do you believe you should be respected after threatening me?

I will not be replying to any of your PMs any longer.

I am developing an application that is being used by hundreds of users on this forum.

I have tons of customers & happy users, are you telling me that they have received a defective product?

I am refusing to refund you to due to the fact you have threatened & harassed me.

Thanks for understanding, I hope you get the message.

J?ey - December 17, 2013, 11:41 am

I've used the rat before to test it out... It does work..

You are deveoping a application that hundreds use and you are unable to help a person who aks you for help when the RAT doesnt work for him.I am not saying the problem is on your hands I am saying it didnt work for me so I asked for help and was ignored.I asked you beforehand for a refund and you just said no refunds in TOS like 99% percent of people on this forum wich is clearly good for somone who wants money.But this isnt about the money its about you not replying to my messages when I sent them to you.SO dont act like you wont refund me now because I said I would share this with people I know.

I believe you're not in the position to state this. I have a product that is selling on this forum for a reason. Over the past few months, there has only been about two alerts from users like you that can not understand the no refund policy.

Clearly you have seen the Terms of Service before you have purchased.

And yes, I like to sell my product for money, just like every other seller.

Thanks for stating the obvious.

Especially when there hasn't been a single message in my inbox from you in the past week?

Froggy - December 17, 2013, 11:59 am

This is a bogus thread. Assault is a legitimate seller and provides wonderful support to his customers, despite the amount of customers he has. What I conclude from this thread is that you disputed the payment for either not knowing how to work the program or simply because you thought you could be slick, breaking his ToS, and him doing what he is supposed to do by telling you off for breaking the ToS.

Do you have any proof that you asked for support and received none?

Decompilerator - December 17, 2013, 12:01 pm

Here is the last message I have sent you regarding my problem wich you didnt respond back to.

Thats fine I dont expect to get a refund now I think we both know I wont get one due to your TOS.

Assault is a 100% trusted member, Atleast to me he is. even if he doesnt reply to one of your pm's, you could also think that you aint the only one thats pming him, and that he has other stuff to do beside awnsering PMs..

IMO its a bit childish to make a topic about how "bad" assault is.

Do you realize how many PMs product owners get?

Have you ever tried RE-SENDING a message, or were you waiting 3 weeks for a response?

I'm sorry, but this is not worth the argument.

You can not push blame onto me for not realizing a inbox that was buried in my inbox almost a month ago.

Yeah its a bit childish to warn the community of a problem I have.

If you read it you will see that I waited for a good period of time.

It doesn't help your situation, whatever it is, to threaten him when asking for help. If it is not working for you, leave a PM on HF to him or Skype and wait patiently.

Where did you take this screenie from? It doesn't look like the sent items folder.

Either way, you're complaining about not receiving support for a message that was sent a month ago that could have been easily buried, and disputed the payment without even thinking of re-contacting him. After trying to be slick and failing by losing the dispute, you threatened him with this thread.

All that can be taken from this thread is that people should be careful when selling to you.

I asked for his help multiple times before I sent him a PM today regarding this I dont think a forth PM would of done a difference.

What do you mean it doesnt look like the sent folder ?

Yeah the only difference is that I quickly PM me every one of my customers via skype or HF.If he cant maange his PMs then he should higher a support team like half of the users here.What do you mean buried? I sent him a PM when he was online,that instant I saw he viewed a PM and then he just went offline again.At the moments when I sent him the PMs I would of bettet anythign he was ignoring me.

First, Assaults RAT is the best ive used, If youve read the TOS then why are you making this thread? to try and sales trash?

Secondly, when you threaten him you obv are not going to get answers.

Third, just because YOU can not get it to work doesnt mean anything, How about ask for a little help? Someone on HF im sure is willing to help.

you have NOTHING to warn the community about. The only reason you did this is to get some attention / trying to get a response from him or even a refund.

Just think about your actions before you post something, that turns out into a huge discussion that you are losing..
