Thread: THE EMPIRE - RECRUITMENT THREAD - ENDS ON SUNDAY

Tibit - December 17, 2013, 3:35 pm

[img]http://imageshack.us/a/img90/6030/bannermo.gif[/img]

General Introduction:

Be sure to read the entire post, this will explain most of the information that is required to know, so don't skim it, actually read it or you will regret it later on.

Welcome to The Empire Recruitment thread! The Empire is once again recruiting, looking for members that are hard working, active, and will a good member in the group. Members who were kicked or declined in the past recruitment are welcome to apply again. To elaborate on our other recruitment threads, we want to know more about you as a person. With that said, creating a video or voice application is HIGHLY recommended, but not required. Though it will most surely separate the members willing to go above the usual basic application format, and the ones who don't, so keep that in mind.

Members can nominate applicants for further review for the group, but even so, if you'd like to be one of the members to make it into the group, be positive that your application is full of effort and thought.

The last Recruitment Thread can be located here. If you'd like to chat with some of the members feel free to PM around or join our Minecraft server; most information can be found in the following thread. <https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=3347479>

Basic Guidelines:

Around 60+ posts per month of the account's age

Must have acceptable grammar

Usually an upgraded member or a very committed non-upgraded member

No LQP or Harassment Warnings

No legitimate open or unresolved scam reports

No trolling or flaming other members

Application:

Note: To elaborate on the general information, we want to know more about you, other than how "high quality" you are. Be sure to be truthful and honest in your application, this could make you or break your application. Remember, video and voice applications are highly recommended and those that create that type of application tend to have a higher chance at being accepted, but it is not necessarily required. The minimum time length for both are 3 minutes, you may do more but keep in mind quality is better than quantity.

Be sure to answer all the questions, regardless if you're also doing a video/voice application.

You may reformat the layout of the questions however you like; you may use GFX.

Good luck to all that apply, this round of recruitment will only last for a week.

Adam's Quick Tips:

(May 20, 2013 10:54 AM)xadamxk Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I will repeat what Tibit and other Empire members have stated.

If you truly want into the Empire, prove it to us.

Show us that you DESERVE to be in the group.

I can promise you that you will appreciate the group if you are accepted.

Just some tips if you want your application to stand out:

Make your application unique.

Make it lengthy, but be sure for it to hold it's quality.

Use your personal skills to make the application: GFX, Gaming, Coding, etc. Show your specialty.

Be sure to use a set format, colors, themes, etc. Organized = good/ attention catching.

Show that you want in.

Again, the length can have something to do with the result of your conclusion, but ONLY if it holds quality from beginning to start.

Do a top 10 reasons why you want in, make a video application along with the required application.

Do far more than the required application asks for. Again, show us that you want to be a member of the Empire.

Zanelot - December 17, 2013, 3:39 pm

Good luck to everyone who is applying. Hope to see some new faces here soon.

Which section are you most active in and why? I'm most active in the giveaway section and the lounge because I enjoy reading posts about people and giving them feedback, also I use giveaway because my main giveaway is paypal and people love that, also I like getting some cool things like free e-mails and such.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?: The empire has an amazing owner, and mature responsible members that support other members also they have some damn good GFXers

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?: I'm very good at GFX with 1 year+ experience carrying me on, also I'm quite good at CoD gaming such as quickscoping. I can GFX and represent the group quite well :)

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you:

My Life On Hackforums: By Expels

This is a story about how I joined hackforum about a few XBL codes and it turned into a few shops, HF L33T and already celebrating my one month anniversary. To start my story, I was in an xbox live sniping clan named Zora Legacy I asked where I could get some free Xbox live codes and they sent me here. At first I searched around for some free codes, not understanding the website or why it was here. I got a few codes and decided maybe this could be more, so I waited one more day and bought l33t. I was very proud of myself! I started to think, well what will I do here? Are people even going to like me, how should I get some friends here? I decided to open a few threads of my own with free services which ended up becoming something much more. I'm now know for a paypal service, a Youtube shop, a Roblox shop, and a winter thread. Now you have it my life on hackforums hope I make it in!

Thanks for reading!

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you? Most important priorities in my life are making sure that I go to college, pass high school, and get a good job, instead of being some trailer trash kid who sits on his ass smoking drugs all day.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining? As mentioned in my story above, a few XBL codes turned into a L33T account and reading lounge posts and applying for groups, also the members made me stay, lots of people inspired me.

Anything else you would like to say: I really hope I make it into this group, I hope I make it with this application I tried quite hard on it. Thanks! ?

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are:

First of all I am a skilled marketer. I have been marketing for around 5 years now and I have made tons of money online. I have taken different business and marketing classes. I also have invested a lot of money into products including my own and I have came out with a income every single time.

- And Many More! -

I have also been programming for around 2-3 years. I started off with batch which I probably became a expert at under 1 month. Then I went on to learn VB.NET which I am pretty good at right now and I code lots of programs for different people. VB.NET is probably one of the languages I am the best at right now and also one of my favorite. While right now I am also trying to learn HTML and PHP to code more for my website.

- <https://linklance.us> -

Which section are you most active in and why?

I am generally most active in the marketplace sections while I try to also chip in and help some beginners in the hacking section. I just love to sell buy and appraise people's products and accounts. I am usually most active in these sections because I want to market many more things with my time here on hackforums and marketing comes fun to me.

<https://hackforums.net/postactivity.php?uid=1347815>

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?:

I want to join the Empire so I can meet some new members get involved in some of the group projects and help members out in the subforum. While I am helping members out in the subforum I will ask other members for help and try to make it a fun place. When looking for a group I like them to have a active subforum with lots of fun members and hopefully that is what this group has!

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?:

I feel I should be invited to the Empire because of all the time and hard-work I dedicate to hackforums. I am always hosting contest and making high quality posts for others. I think I should be accepted in particular because I can make many useful threads under Empire's name if they allow me to and I will be a very helpful member to the subforum!

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you:

I grew up in the United States until the age of about 9. When I was 9 my dads company sent us over to europe because he had to fly over there almost every other week and it would be cheaper for them to move us over. I didn't want to move over in the beginning but it was totally worth it.

In Italy it was a lot of fun, but it was also sad to leave all of my friends. When I moved to Italy it was so much different because not many people spoke English. Also the houses were so much smaller and the closest fast food restaurant was 30 minutes when in the US they were 5 minutes. When I moved there I went to this private school for 2 years and it was pretty shitty. It was very hot in the summer in the school and it also was very tiny. There were some hot girls in that school but I didn't like the school and I didn't learn much at all. After I told my parents I hated that school they changed me over to a different school which was also an English speaking school. I really liked this school for a few reasons. Firstly, they had air conditioning, it was much larger, and and they would teach you much better. At this school I made tons of friends and they started to introduce me to computers. In that school me and all of my friends would play video games together and have tons of fun. That is how i got started with computer.

After some time I moved back to the US and went back to the same old school as I did before. I still chat with some of my friends from Italy on Skype and I am better then most of them even though they have been on them longer then I have. I'm hoping in the future to get even better on computers.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

What is most important to me has to be my family; my health, and there health. After that would be my education. I want to take my life into programming or marketing and hopefully have wife and kids with a lot of spare money. I really just want to live a happy life with kids and a wife I can go on vacations with.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

I joined because of the game minecraft. From there I started to get into the marketplace which wasn't my favorite at the start because of all the deal disputes and scams people would do to regular members. I sorta took a break from that section and at one point had a spree of posting in the lounge. I really never check out the lounge anymore and I tend to stick the hacking and marketplace now.

Anything else you would like to say:

I can speak two languages english and Italian.

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are:

My main skill that is relevant to HF is programming. I am a current CIS student so I am always learning more about computers and programming. I am not an expert but a student. Here are some of my sources:

<http://pastebin.com/fTvbVnjB>

<http://pastebin.com/M7vcQX7D>

Which section are you most active in and why?

I am the most active in the lounge because I love the variety of topics that come up. I feel like I have a lot to say to the threads in this section. I am also very active in the groups that I currently belong to.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?:

The Empire seems like a group that is really looking for HQ members. Not only do they want HQ but they want to find people that stand out from the crowd. I think this says a lot about the quality of The Empire. I'm kind of reverent of The Empire because I know you guys only select the best of the best.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?:

I have come a long way since joining HF. I first joined to learn how to make batch programs. Now I am able to code my own programs in Visual Basic. I still have a lot to learn but that's another good thing about me. I am always willing to learn. I've been humbled to the point of knowing that I know very little compared to many people. I may not be the most skilled member on HF, but I am one of the most eager. I was once a person who was only into infecting others with RATs, now I aspire to create my own RAT.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you:

I am a CIS major with a focus on web game programming. I am a video game enthusiast who loves my computer. I love computer programming and I am also interested in medical science. My greatest achievement is going back to college and excelling in it.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

My biggest priority in life is the happiness of myself and others. I don't think anything else can compare to those two things.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

I think the amount of information on HF is what kept me coming back. I was eager to learn about the world of hacking. Now I stay here to fellowship with other hackers and to continue learning.

Anything else you would like to say:

I did try making a voice recording but my laptop does not record sound very well.

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are:

I have many skills, I consider myself a people's person because I am good with people, I consider that a skill. I am also good with computers, I took a Computer Networking class in High School and maintained an A all year. I built the computer I am typing on now and I build my brother's birthday computers. Next semester in college I am taking a class on computer programming so I can learn more about that.

Which section are you most active in and why?

Other than the lounge I am most active in Deal Disputes, I post there often to help assist those who have fallen victims to scammers. Unfortunately there are a lot of scammers out there so that explains the high amount of posts.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?:

This group is one of the best groups I have seen so far on HF, you all are like brothers to one another. I would love to join the Empire family because who doesn't like making friends? ?

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?:

I am a great, honest, caring individual with big goals in life and a big heart. I always put my family and friends before myself because they are what truly matter the most to me. I have also done several member upgrades on here and I am participating in the Empire giveaway by donating one Gift award. If I were to be accepted I would only reinforce the good name of the Empire.

UB3R Contest

L33T Contest

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you:

I am an honest hardworking individual, and I owe that all to my father. The only reason I am such a good person is because my father is a good person. He is the man that taught me what is right and wrong, and he truly means the world to me. I owe everything to my father, the only way I can pay him back is with my love. When I was young my father didn't have the best job in the world. As a matter of fact, he had a terrible boss that would give him loads of shit everyday. I, of course, didn't know this because he would always put on a smile for me but he was secretly miserable. About 6 or so years ago he got into Vanderbilt graduate school in Nashville to get his MBA, and he did! I was so proud of him because I remembered all the nights where he'd be at the dining room table with stacks and stack of paper/books. Now he's the boss, and he makes 6 figures. This has taught me that no matter how rough it gets in life, there is always a way to come out on top. I incorporate that part of me to my everyday life!

Where do your priorities in life like? What is most important to you?

As stated about, my friends and family are the things that matter most to me. Family first, because that is the one thing that will never change. They will always be my family no matter what. Friends second because they are my friends for a reason, at one point or another they were there for me whether they know it or not.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

I joined because I wanted to get into hacking, which I have become uninterested in recently, and I was bored of TTG. I have stayed on this site for over 2 years because I have come to realize what an amazing community we have here thanks to Omni. I look forward to chatting with you guys every day. :)

Anything else you would like to say:

Just would like to thank you for reading this, it means alot.

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are:

I really don't have any fancy skills besides gaming. I have been gaming for 12+ years now and have done competitive gaming for 6+ years. I want to learn how to do GFX, so that's the next task I am going to be tackling.

Which section are you most active in and why?

The section that I am most active in is the Halo section. Honestly, I love the Halo section and the little community that is based inside of it. All the users that are active in that section are awesome and they're really kind people too. Also I love the Halo series it's by far my favorite FPS game of all time.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?:

When I signed up for Hackforums, Empire was the first group that really caught my eye. Also the first product I ever bought on HF was the Empire stresser and I was really satisfied with the results that the stresser delivered.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?:

Honestly, I'm not sure why I should be accepted into Empire. I feel like I am a very high quality person and I have upgraded many members for free and hosted some contests, that's about the only things I have done during my time on HF.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who you are:

Well to start off my name is Jake, I'm 19 and I live in Florida. One thing you should know about me is that I love playing Baseball and playing guitar! Baseball is basically something I have done my whole life and have achieved numerous accomplishments through baseball, whether it be winning a USSSA World Series, or winning State Championship.

Just recently, I learned to play the guitar. I am very passionate about music, I feel like music can be a very powerful for some people and help them get through hard times. Music is something that defines who I am, I love all genres of music and everyone says I have an amazing taste for music.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

Right now my priority in life is to finish school and go work with my dad.
The most important thing in my life is my family. They have been really supportive with the decisions I have made with my life.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

I was curious, My friend has told me about HF since 2009 and always told me to join. The main reason I joined HF was for the Halo/gaming section. Soon I came to realize that HF is an awesome place to meet people to play with and learn new things so I just stuck around.

Anything else you would like to say:

I just want to say thanks to Empire for hosting recruitment to allow some members to be apart of your group. Also thank you for taking the time to read my application.

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are: I tend not to limit myself in the sense that i have 'Skills'. I love to learn, and i will try anything once. If you need a skill per se then it would have to be service. No matter what i do, i try and provide the highest quality service i can. If a member pays for something and it does not work, i will not stop until i fix the issue, they become priority. Being a webmaster means i can hone my skills and teach myself how to overcome problems like PHP, Plugin errors and more in the same genre.

Which section are you most active in and why?: I am active mostly in the webmaster and the giveaways section, for two reasons. I love to help other people better their sites and give my own advice and knowledge to those who need it there, and if i help someone learn something, then mission accomplished. I am active (recently) in the giveaway section because i love making other people feel happy, take my latest giveaway for example, 100 12 month codes for skype premium were given out in an hour.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?: Simple. The Empire is one of the most known and respected groups on HF, and i feel like i could learn a lot from them.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?: I try my best to be HQ and i feel that i can respresent everything that you stand for.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you: I come from scotland, and i am 20. Last year, i lost my job and am still (technically) unemployed. I make all my money online and i much prefer it to actually going out to work. This means i have learned a lot, some good and some bad but i feel that this makes me more qualified than most.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you? First and foremost, my girlfriend is my life. Without her i am nothing. Then of course family, and then my online life.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining? I love the site, plain and simple.

Anything else you would like to say: Nope, just thanks for reading i guess.

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are:

There goes a saying, "Jack of All trades But Master of None" .. Well I am not exactly the "Master of None" . I specialize in Penetration Testing (I offer Free Penetration Testing services here in Muscat), Vulnerability Assessment, malware identification(not an expert, but I am able to identify malwares), part time web developer and a PC Enthusiast. . but even on the side, I game, try out my luck with GFX, small video editing and etc

Which section are you most active in and why?

I don't really have a "specific" section to be active in. You'll find me everywhere from The Lounge to the Market Place. But I spend most of my time in The Lounge (fun : Because, "All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy , SRPP (sometimes a good debate is necessary to keep the mind at work) , Innuendo (love to read and advise people, although at times no one cares about them) The Market Place (I got 2 products here on HF) , Crypto Currency , Free Services and Giveaways (come on we all love free stuffs :P) and the Deal Disputes (I hate scammers)

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?:

There are quite a few reasons, why I want to be a part of Empire.

1. Make friends (I barely know people here on HF ?)
2. To learn what I don't know, and Share what I know ..
3. I love the Grace and elegance of the group !

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?:

There also are a few reasons for this :

1. I am an HQ member (according to me)
2. IF I am accepted it will be my first group and I will strive to shine out among the others.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you:

I am the type of person, who always has positivity around them. I don't seek revenge, I don't seek power. I hate a lot of things (not quite the space to write down the list here) . I haven't been to any fancy college or university, as a child, I grew up in a middle class family. I know pain when I see one, I know love when I see one, I also can read people by their attitudes. I have learnt a lot in these 21 years of my life, I have experienced a lot of hardship and troubles' . And quite luckily, I have the answer to ANY and ALL problems (Well majority of the people that have come to me for advise like my answers, while a few hate them - well that's life) .

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

1. My parents : They will always be my first priority in life, no matter what.
2. GF/WIFE: This person will always come second, because I love her.
3. Kids: Well, who doesn't love kids ?
4. Wealth : In Order to provide for my parents, my gf/wife/kids this is a must ..
5. My Friends : in order to survive in this world, we all need friends. In your entire life, you'll meet a lot of friends, friends who will stay with your when you have money but wont be seen when you need help. but then there will be friends, who'll stay with you all ALONG until the end of the road.
6. Myself : I put people I love and care about before me. Although everyone, I know hates me for this, but eh its my nature !!

Which section are you most active in and why? I'm most active in Marketplace Discussions and the RANF section. I enjoy the Marketplace Discussions forum for its balanced drama and upcoming products. I also like to contribute to policy questions and suggestions, hence my activity there.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?: The Empire is a very good group that I've seen make many good contributions to this forum. I like the casual nature of it as well.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?: I believe my knowledge is valuable.

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are:

I took Computer Science in 9th Grade, got an A on the class. I've built 2 computers over the summer, one high end gaming PC, and a family computer with my old computer parts, I am currently taking Software Applications this year, learning Microsoft Word and Excel to aid me in the world of marketing by organizing pieces of data. I've learned each computer part individually from my brother, he taught me how to build a computer very well. I know it by heart. I am somewhat knowledgeable on Internet Safety and Security measures on how to protect your PC with basic programs. Good eBook reviewer, reviewed some eBooks back when I was 13, members asked me to review them. Computers is my main skill out of all other skills.

I also have a gaming skill as well. I started to play games ever since I was too young to remember. I always played my N64 with my brother, playing them Pokemon, Starfox, and South Park games. Gaming helped me experience intense gaming like Starcraft 2, learned how to have fun with others. I currently have a custom built PC, gaming keyboard and mouse. I don't own as much but this. I can't say much about gaming since EVERYONE LOVES GAMING AND knows how to play.

I am starting to look into Graphics. I don't really have much experience, but I have tried on Photoshop, GIMP, and Paint. Photoshop I am nowhere near close to knowing, the program just lags to do a brush stroke. For GIMP, in my Software app class, I usually try to make some thread designs and a signature for fun. GIMP is easy and user friendly, it doesn't lag at all like Photoshop and I can get use to doing thread designs on it. For Paint, I mean it's a super basic program that comes with windows, I just attempted to make a thread design, a short one, but it looks ok. I am starting to learn graphics, may take me years to perfect my graphics skills.

I have tried coding. I've taken Computer Science classes to learn more about Eclipse and Java coding. I didn't do well in the class by the way. Coding is just not my thing, I have tried coding a Minecraft client, disaster happened.

Which section are you most active in and why?

I have multiple sections I am most active in, I will list them.

Member Contests

The name says it all, usually when I have some leftover money, I host a money giveaway on there. I do others giveaways as well, did some member upgrade contests a while back, product giveaways, and Xbox Live codes.

Freebies and Giveaways

Why? Well it's because I just LOVE to give away precious items to all of HF members so they can enjoy it. I host many beyond many giveaways consisting of Paypal Money, Xbox Live Codes, Skype Premium Codes, Clicking links, just things that are more valuable than other things.

Deal Disputes

Hey! This section is really helpful, helps me keep an eye out for them scammers who have no respect in life because they suck at life. Usually there is that one guy who turns the entire thread into a war zone, people flaming others, people negging each other, reporting posts, it's just simple.

Computing

Well you know, you want to be safe online, so why not go into the computer protection section. See others infected, watch the MRT fix stuff. Back then, I used to download EVERYTHING, EVEN though it was from youtube. Got infected heavily and RAT'd. Then I learned to protect myself online with the best AV and Antispyware programs, and learn that youtube downloads is shit. My PC is a brick, they can get in, but nothing gets out, they will die from the might of Malwarebytes. Its a death zone and war zone in terms.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?:

Here are the top 10 reasons why I want to join The Empire:

1. The name sounds sick
2. I meet most of the basic guidelines.
3. I would rather join The Empire than The Rebellion.
4. Im mostly a HQ user
5. The group seems like my type of group to join.
6. The group is led by Darth Vader
7. The members of the group are not childish but mature.
8. The owner of the group is slick and chill
9. The group has high potentials to teach me new skills that could benefit me later.
10. I like horses, they are legit animals.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?:

I can provide loads of giveaways to the community. I release giveaways consisting from game codes such as Xbox Live, consisting of Premium codes such as Skype Premium. Also as well as doing money giveaways, since I just LOVE to give my earned money to cheapskates. IF I had more money, I am more than welcome to do one of those member upgrade contests of L33T upgrades, to UB3R upgrades since who doesnt like free upgrades??? I dont know if you think it but I am pretty HQ for the stuff I giveaway because I dont need that stuff. I feel that I am qualified to be part of The Empire instead of The Rebellions with all their droids and yeah.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you:

When I first came to HF, I didnt know anything from money making, giving to others, or learnings anything new. I was a complete newbie about everything but grieving. Grieving is what led me to HF in the first place. I was around the minecraft section on HF for a few months. Then I believe to be ready to move onto the other sections of HF. Moved to the Money section of HF. That section was insane, so many eBooks (Most didnt work at all) on the section swarming around. Gave them a look, tried them, didnt make a cent from them. The section taught me how most eBooks on HF about money making didnt work at all.

Then I became inactive for several months, like I was on HF but not doing anything to benefit HF like giveaways, since I didnt have anything to give away. Skipping ahead 1 year, I got on HF and explored the entire site, mostly in the member contests, marketplace, and computing sections. Each section taught me an important lesson, for computing, it taught me how to be safe online, and be wary of what I download. The marketplace is where I learned how to sell stuff. Before HF, I was selling MC accounts, didnt work to well, only made a couple bucks. I met a user who guided me through the money making world, not gonna say names, but he was able to get me to make some big money online. His eBook, that actually worked, got me $60+ online.

I forgot to mention this was after I won a L33T upgrade contest. I had enough money to do 2 l33t upgrade contests, butt loads of money giveaways and save up for my ub3r. Now moving on to recent time, I tried out wtf ewhoring was, kinda the worst idea ever, it made me $60 in like an hour, but wasnt my type of money making to do. Only did ewhoring for a day cause almost got caught. Moving on, I got approved for ub3r and bought ub3r. Now being on HF really changed my life big time. I knew much more than I did before. Learned how to make money online legitimately, learned how to sell products online efficiently, got an experience to review eBooks for users for their sales, learned to give to others better, and learned how to be safe and not to do stupid downloads like I did when I was little.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

Getting a job is most important to me. HF has all I need. I want to go into Marketing, so HF can help me start little marketing like selling products to all. Getting a good college education is most important, means I can get a better job to support myself in the future. Just living life to the fullest, until they day I die, and HF is gone as well when I die. I hope to live long to see HF is still there.

Basically to shorten my paragraph, I want to get a good education so I can support myself in the near future, get a computer related job, get into marketing, NEVER WORK AT MCDONALDS, WILL work at Chipotle, and enjoy life to the fullest, without dying, cause I almost died twice by choking on food, yeah I used to swallow things fast as a kid, and so as others, so SJHH.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

The support of a fellow member. The user helped me with my money problems, as stated before somewhat I didnt have any sort of income what so ever, so I was not able to pursue my goal of giving more than taking. After first joining, I became inactive for a while, then I had hopes of making an influence on HF, I started to become active, doing giveaways I had available to me, helping others the best I can.

Once I reached L33T, I believed I could do more with what I had now. I was able to reach my goal of finishing my HF L33T Contributions list which consisted of 2 L33T Upgrade Contests, XBL Giveaways, PP money giveaways, and my product contest. Once I got ub3r, I started to plan my HF UB3R Contribution List, which now led to here today. Support from a member, now a friend, and a new hope.

Also, I've heard that once you turn ub3r, you will be inactive as fuck because you dont need to worry about anything. Well guess what I am going to change that from inactive to active. I plan to do more giveaways on HF so I stay 1000% active as fuck.

Anything else you would like to say:

Well in my spare time in real life, I just LOVE to craft things. Today, I made a successful hidden blade cause Im just that good. Then move onto graphics, then watch the war between The Empire and The Rebellion. The Empire with their star destroyers, and The Rebellion with their X-wings, and astromech droids.

Happy Holidays everyone!

If you need any skype premium vouchers, feel free to PM me cause I am still in stock, like a lot in stock, so I hope this application wasnt to long for you guys. If you need it longer, feel free to PM me cause I will make it longer to read, almost like a dictionary, you must be a genius to read the whole

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are: Well, currently I am a Java, HTML and L.U.A coder, I can do various projects for popular games such as Minecraft, Starbound and Terria (Many more along with that). I'm also to finish various projects in a minuscule amount of time. Finally I can also keep a open mind and a fair mind in discussions, chats and debates.

Which section are you most active in and why? My most active section would be the Minecraft Griefing section. The reason I am most active in it is because it's what I can relate/help others in.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?: I want to be in the group to gain more knowledge in the skills you have to offer and to further myself in my Hack Forums life and my actual life.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?: Why do I feel like I should be accepted? If I didn't care to be in the group or didn't feel like I could contribute/help this group I wouldn't have taken the time out of my day to make a application for it.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you: Well, recently my parents which have been married for 16 years broke up. My mother 'blind sided' me and my father when she asked for a divorce. I remember, it was a Wednesday about a month ago when I came home from school and saw my mom crying on the floor. It's hit me pretty hard, I no longer can come to my house and say hello to both of my parents. My father has recently filed for full custody, if he wins I will be taken away from my mother forever.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you? 1.) My family. 2.) My well being. 3.) My school work.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining? I met a good group of people who took me in and treated me like family, after that I couldn't leave.

Anything else you would like to say: Nothing really, just to thank you for giving me the chance to make a app for this group.

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are: I'd have to say my skills would be two things. Gaming, and or marketing. I could go on for hours about my gaming skills but has this isn't a gaming group I feel the that isn't needed. But to marketing it's something I've always been into but I mean who isn't? Business and marketing as always caught my eye ever since I was a small child. I wish I could link some threads to show but as of right now I don't have any. But with my upcoming plans and future goals I'll have some to show off and be proud of very soon. ?

Which section are you most active in and why? Well I' have to say marketing section but to be more into it the SST section. I've always been "fascinated" with stressers/booters and how they work and the power kept behind them. But anyways just the over all marketing section I'm pretty active in for many reasons such as just wanting to buy stuff to wanting to see how others market there product and maybe get some tips in which could help me out later. Every chance I can get to learn something I try to take it and take advantage of it.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?: I feel like I could learn alot about marketing by joining this group. It would really help me not here on HF but in the future as well.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?: I feel like The Empire would make the perfect group for me. I feel this because of a few reasons. First being as I stated a couple times my high love for marketing. I know this is a "big family" type of group but you can tell it has alot to do with marketing. With that being said I know I can help other members and they could help me. I'm always out here to grow and learn more and better myself in any way possible. I feel like if I become part of this family/group it'll give me that little help that I need.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you: Well I don't have to much to say a part from what I've already said. I pretty much said everything needed about me who I am and who I am as a person. I'm a really great funny a guy who's just looking to have a good time and learn a long the way.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you? What's more important to me, I'd have to see my friends and family.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining? The amazing people. Honestly if it wasn't for all of the amazing people I've met I most likely wouldn't be here today. But not only that I've also learn alot by coming here and reaching out to others for help.

Anything else you would like to say: No sir. ?

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are:

I am a very vastly skilled graphic designer, accepted into graphic masters very early in my hack forums career. I am talented in tagging primarily, and am also very skilled in thread designs. Now exploring into clothing design, hoping to start selling some personal merc.

Which section are you most active in and why?

Lounge, I enjoy reading other peoples problems, calms me. It keeps my mind off a lot of things in real life so I always have fun. Also very active in the fly by night sub section.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?:

The empire is a very reputable group, I feel that if the empire were to have my assets it would greatly improve it's overall quality in the graphic sector.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?:

As previously stated, I feel that my assets would be a great addition to the very reputable Empire crew as it stands at this time.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you:

I am a normal 18 year old guy from Long Island. Having just started my freshman year at college, I have high aspirations for the life in my future down the winding road of reality. It's my pleasure to lay back and hammer down some brews with my buds and simply relax. I have always been laidback and always am down for a game of beer pong. I have a girlfriend of a year who I love oh so much, and was blessed to go to the same college as her, kidding, it sucks a lot but whatever.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

In descending order of importance: School, Family, and then Friends.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

The graphics section and the members of graphic masters, now, as you obviously know, Fly By Night

Anything else you would like to say:

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are:

-Gaming

I have been a gamer since a very young age and have spent almost all of my free time playing games. I am very familiar with most games, genre's, etc. I consider myself to be a decent gamer.

-Social skills

I can get along with most people. I love to talk to people. I am always in a vent channel or talking to people on Skype / VoIP ingame.

Which section are you most active in and why?

Outside of usergroup SF's I am most active in the lounge and the gaming sections.

The reason I love the lounge so much is because there is so much variety in posts every day. There is almost always something interesting. It is an all around fun board.

Now it is obvious why I like the gaming sections. Well... I like games. I like to talk about games, share tips and tricks, etc.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?:

I was in the group earlier on this year and I loved it. It was my favourite group. I have been waiting for the new recruitment since I got removed.

I love that it is so much like a family. It is a really cliché thing to say but no groups I have been in can compare to the atmosphere in The Empire SF. I loved it. Everyone was friendly and happy and it was just an all round good time. I would love to be a part of the group again for that reason. Not for prestige, or a fancy userbar. Just because it is a fun group full of friendly people.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?:

I am a highly active member and an extremely friendly one at that. I will represent the group and reinforce its good name.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you:

My life is not exactly interesting. I am extremely lazy but if I am wanting to do something I will not give up until it is done. The only thing I do is play video games and browse the internet. I am a friendly guy but sometimes I can come across as an asshole. But that is only when I am in a bad mood. That is my personality in a nut shell. Nice, but sometimes an asshole. Lazy but sometimes not.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

The things most important to me is friends, family and my own happiness.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

When I first registered I was really intimidated because I thought everyone was big scary hackers. But after I started posting a little I realised that everyone is pretty friendly. I loved learning about all the various topics there are on the forum. If I did not register here I would not know shit about malware, programming, crypto currencies, GFX, and all that good stuff. I really enjoyed it here and it kept me entertained for hours on end.

Anything else you would like to say:

Good luck to all the other applicants.

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are:

I know a little about a lot of things, a lot of which are computer and technology based. I play sports, video games, go to college, love beer one of my skills is probably beer bonging a beer no lie one time I beer bonged Hornitos, a Coors banquet, and a full monster in like 5 seconds max.. I guess you could say I do a lot of things, I don't really like to say im good at this or that.

Which section are you most active in and why?

I post in whatever section feels right, if I see something that catches my eye I'll post on it regardless of the section.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?:

I was apart of the Wraith and left because I knew I was gonna be inactive for awhile and now that I'm back I guess you could say I'm looking for another group to be apart of.. I really enjoyed being in the Wraith and I think your group would be a great fit.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?:

I don't really think I deserve to, at least anymore then the next person, but I would definitely like to... I know I could bring things to it that not a lot of people could.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you:

Born and raised in Eugene, I have a lot of family from Puerto Rico and I've been there 5 times.. That's definitely been an experience, seeing other places definitely makes you think differently and I can definitely say spending time with family there did exactly that. Also going to Alaska with my dad was pretty memorable I did some fishing there caught a huge 35lb king salmon along with halibut and some Red.

[img]http://imageshack.us/a/img407/2149/halibut.jpg[/img]

Being able to enjoy things like that in life just makes you think differently about it also... Having good parents that raised me right obviously attributed to the being I am today without them I don't know where I'd be, a lot of people aren't fortunate enough to have loving parents.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

As of right now definitely just finishing school and staying on track, in the long run, it's a pretty simple answer for me, to be happy.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

Whatever people say there's always that one place in the forums that's a good atmosphere to be in, I see flashes everyday as to why I joined and it's why I stay.

Anything else you would like to say:

I really hope I can be apart of your guy's group.

Name: Caleb

Gender: Male

Religion: I have my own beliefs.

State/Country: CA/USA

Time Zone: PST

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are:

First off, I mainly focus on my gaming, that is what I hope to one day have a career in. I also specialize in marketing and advertisement. Also, I make music (rap music), I put my everything into my music and when i cannot explain myself in words I put it into my music. I love to sell and just get the word out on multiple things. I also have high communication skills, I love talking to different people and making new friends.

Which section are you most active in and why?

I would say either the lounge, innuendo, or gaming. The reason being is because I LOVE talking to people and I LOVE gaming. I focus on those two aspects in my life.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?:

The empire has been a group that I have always had my eyes on. You are very HQ and the empire name is very prestigious and I believe I would uphold it to such.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?:

I am a very HQ and friendly person that is always open to helping others and loves to assist others in whatever they need help in.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you:

Well, WOW, lets see where I should begin. Im a 17 year old boy that really loves his family and just loves his life and tries to stay down to earth with everything that I do. I used to be depressed in life so now I try to give my advice to people that have gone through and are going through the same thing that I once did and I try to help them to the best of my abilities. I no longer am in school, so I have really focused on my gaming until I am back in school, I was previously suspended for reasons

I do not like to talk about. I now just try to help my family out with our family business and also focus on my hopefully near future of gaming professionally.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

This might sound sappy, but I would say that my family is always my first and main priority in life because I know that no matter what happens at the end of the day, they will always be there for me. After my family it would be my friends and my girlfriend that I have been with for the past 9 months, she has been with me through thick and thin and through my lowest points.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

Well after I first joined, I was inactive for a while, then I really wanted to get back to HF and learn how to hack and be a pro 1337 haxxor 4 lyfe (lol). But seriously, I wanted to get into hacking to be like all about that anonymous stuff that came up, but then I got over it and I was just here to make friends with the community and hopefully learn how to make some money, then I simply fell IN LOVE with the community and have been addicted ever since.

Anything else you would like to say:

As always, thank you for taking your time out in reading my application, I really do hope to be a part of this amazing group! Any questions, feel free to message me and I would be more than happy to answer and help!

Peter - December 18, 2013, 12:34 am

Name: Peter

Religion: Christian

State/Country: NSW, Australia

Time Zone: UTC +10

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are: Online, my main general skills involve Linux server administration, minecraft server development and administration and managing a whole community. This is all shown through my endless efforts into my gaming servers. I currently own and operate a fairly successful minecraft server network which has a healthy and friendly community. I manage the backend work of the servers but also help with the management of the community itself. This was all built from the ground up (a year and a half ago) and we are still going strong. I also consider myself quite an avid businessman and marketer. I haven't really invested my time into many products that are/were placed on here but as I have met some amazing people on here, I have decided to partner up with those I consider my friends and don't currently have a way of making money, to provide them with the funding and support needed to create a product line.

Off site is my bigger emphasis as I have extended myself into far reaches of the Earth for this one. In 2012, while I maintained a part time position in a Law firm as a Paralegal, I was also completing my Diploma of Law (fulltime - 3 days a week) at a private College but also, on weekends I was completing my Advance Diploma of Marketing which took me little over a year and 2 months (no holidays) and this was accelerated but at the time, the Advance Diploma of Marketing course was looking at closing because there was a lack of industry professionals willing to teach. I always wanted to have a qualification in Marketing so I bit the bullet and went for it. It all paid off in the end which I finished with excellent results. I advanced my Diploma of Law to become a Senior Paralegal of the Law firm I currently work at and it also helped me (with multiple interviews and a few letters from respected individuals) to get me into one of the more prestigious Universities within Australia where I have recently completed my first year of my Law degree with great results and moving onto my second year next semester.

I also provide property related services to private clients which include but are not limited to; Transfer of land all the way through to transfer of a deed. I don't provide legal advice but I am qualified to start and complete the process of any property related matter. If it comes to a situation where there is a dispute about the process, land or anything pertaining to the case then that can only be handled by a Lawyer. I was thinking of turning this into a privately owned service, but I have yet to contemplate that as that may take me away from my studies with a higher amount of customers that will be seeking the same thing.

Besides that, there isn't really much else. I do have a high level of interest in sport, more particularly, Rugby League which I currently play and play at a representative level during season but I wouldn't really call it a skill but that's just me.

Which section are you most active in and why? I'm very active in the Marketplace, as I stated in my information above, I am a business type of person who will go out to try and buy a project where as possible or find a partnership for someone who I believe would be extremely committed and devoted to not only the project but customers. Based off where I spend most of my posting though would definitely be within the Complexity Sub-forum. I was accepted not even 2 months and I have spent my time in their helping others, relaxing and having fun in the lounge, but also managing the Marketing/Business sector. I also spend quite a lot of time in the Complexity group chat as I love to have fun with the other members but that's not really a section.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?: Not only would it be an excellent learning curve to develop my skills but also develop new skills as a whole, I believe The Empire have some of the most self-expressed, fun loving members HF have to offer. I would really love to meet some new members and potentially make new friends, having fun in the sub-forum but also showing my commitment and dedication to the group by continuing its journey to becoming one of the most high quality but fun/relaxed groups you can possibly be in.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?: I believe I offer a general edge and uniqueness to The Empire which many of the members possess in their own way. My skills is something that not a great deal of members have extensive knowledge on (mainly Law related and Marketing related *Qualification) but also that throughout my life, I have never isolated anyone out that I have met, whether it be what society deems as a 'nerd' or just a straight out popular person, I have always had the personality and traits to communicate and enjoy my time with all people. I am a fun loving person that has a serious side when it needs to be applied but I also have the side to be which I just want to have fun, be relaxed and enjoy life as it comes. I believe I could provide these exact qualities and more to The Empire.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you: Going off my skills, when I was in grade 8 I worked out what I wanted to do as a career in my life, I knew from then I had a great passion for the Legal Framework, both on a domestic and international scale. I never finished school, I was what everyone calls a 'drop out' this was elected by me, because I felt as though school didn't offer what I needed to achieve my goals. I left at the end of grade 10 and I was accepted into a private college at the age of 16 which I studied with people who had finished school (18 years of age) right through to people who were 32. Not to boast of anything, but I was what I consider one of the more popular people as the course students had their own groups, I was friends with majority of the groups (I wouldn't say all). During this time, I completed my Diploma of Law and my Advance Diploma of Marketing. I achieved excellent results in both courses, but bettering myself in my Diploma of Law.

I used this qualification to help me accelerate myself into not only a part-time position at a Law firm but also into a prestigious Law School in Australia. I recently completed my first year achieving high-end results and will soon be moving into my second year of my Degree.

As a person, I am a fun loving, family orientated person. I love my friends and my family. I spend every moment I can with my girlfriend, as we hope to get engaged soon (I know, a little early, but that is what love does) and spend my time with friends when I can but also my family as much as possible. I never live life with regrets, as I never reminisce on the past but develop for the future. I cherish my time with all the people I can but continue to drive for my goals and ambitions both online and in reality.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you? Family/Girlfriend, Studies then my friends. I would like to note that I consider my studies and friends just as important as my family and girlfriend but that is my forced choice. I consider all three of equal and to some respects, higher valued than another at certain times because I don't base my life around priorities (even though I know it's important) but I value time management and giving everything enough attention to prosper with all 3.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining? I originally came for all the wrong reasons, protect myself and find a way to retaliate as I was being threatened and blackmailed, I came to a realization that I should just block and walk away. I quickly realized that the community itself was infested with hackers but genuine people with the same interests as me. The friends I have today and lost were the reason I stayed. Without them, I wouldn't be the same really, they helped me develop a lot and I quickly built a lot of friendships on here.

Anything else you would like to say: I feel as though there will be people that recommend me, vouch or whatever as I do have friends in The Empire. Please don't let that direct your decision and base your decision off my own merits and if you believe I would be a quality member of The Empire.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?: Another family.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?: I'm cool & loyal.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you: Not much to say about myself. I like gaming, sitting on HF, living on da internetz, watching movies/documentaries/tv series with people on Teamspeak. I like going out and enjoying myself at the weekend.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you? Been better than Pablo Escobar. Idk what I want to do in life yet, but something like that. ? Death before dishonour.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining? Winning L33T contest tbh.

Anything else you would like to say: Thanks for reading & thanks for allowing me to apply! Also, if I do get accepted most likely Sh1eld will kick me for not kissing his ass in the past. I do hope to join.

Having a laugh, being stress-less, learning technology related things and casual gaming.

Which section are you most active in and why?

Mainly lurking Marketplace Discussions and The Lounge.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?:

Because I wish to meet new people and learn new things. I've never really been into groups or anything and now is an opportune time to get involved.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?:

]Being part of The Empire would be a pretty big step for me. I would be able to learn lots and on the way teach a few things here and there. I am very easy-going friendly and always happy to help someone out.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you:

Something memorable? Sadly, nothing in my life has been memorable or notable. Been through depression and all that sad stuff. But now I am changing. Turning it all around.

I love animals and music. Mainly EDM. (Hense the username.) I love talking and playing games with others.

That's who I am.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

I love help others. I'm no longer a self serving person. Keeping everyone together and staying who I now am.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

Learning new things. It may sound cliché but it's true. If I ever have a question I can't answer there is always someone around here to help out. That's what I love about it.

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are: Well,my main skills are: researching,writing,publishing and anything that has to do with social media and communication since my BA degree is journalism and communication.

Which section are you most active in and why? I am mostly active on LOL section.But i roam on every section this forum has, just out of interest of what other people write about.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?: Well,i always wanted to be an Emperor.Joking^^. I heard a lot about your group and i know it's high quality with members that i can have some fun with or do something great.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?: My marketing and communication skills will help a lot the Empire and the members within. Moreover, I am a well respected LOL player and i could help out the members , to learn the game and get better.Lastly, I'd like to add that i am getting very good with computer security.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you:

Hi there, My IRL name is Ion, I have studied Journalism and communication in London for 4years.I am from Greece and I love gaming and anything related to Computing.I came back from London to Greece after my BA, to join the army.I served there for about 1year(its compulsory in Greece). It was a great experience but I wouldn't do it again,since I lost 1year of my life (job wise). The most memorable thing that happened in my life, is that I live with my 'fiance' for 2years now and we are propably going to get married sooner or later.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you? My priorities in life, is my family and my fiance.The most important thing at this point, is the people i love and care about to be healthy and happy.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining? I must admit that i joined this community to learn more about computer security and hacking.Afterwards, it became a habbit and now the first webpage I will visit when i wake up and spend hours on it.I have met some great people here and it makes me love the HF community and stay active.

Marketing- I sell numerous products here on Hackforums with more launching soon. I consider myself quite successful in the marketplace here & have managed to make my products somewhat well known in their microniche communities.

Advertising- Through sites such as AdSense & YouTube I get involved with users with large fanbases in order to find solutions that allow them to get the best monetization they possibly can out of their content.

PPD/CPA- I still dabble in it occasionally but not as much as I used to. With PPD & CPA I used to earn a large income which was what lead to me buying my first car (BMW M3). I have a very popular helpdesk for PPD & CPA. I have also sold a PPD Ebook on HF Before.

Finances- I have a good understanding of Finances as it one of the majors I'm studying in 2014. It allows me to keep a good control over my expenses and income.

Web Development- I don't do so as much anymore But I used to heavily be into Web Development and do it for part time income IRL.

Make sure your applications look clean and catches people's attention. That's why video and voice apps do really well, after those it's the apps with GFX that do well, then those that do nice spacing and fonts to make it easier to read, the wall of text with bad spacing don't usually go well.

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are:

Personally I like to consider myself a thinker and a learner, I've come up with unique methods for just about every challenge I face.

I was once asked by an inexperienced user on how to make money online; Within two days I had a full PDF eBook with pictures and graphics that teach a unique method of exploiting a certain website's monetization system.

Since giving him the method he's made about 50$ a day steadily for the past two months.

I have generated this person over 3000$ in free money, all because I want everyone to have an equal opportunity at life.

I still to this day mentor that user and have continued to share my findings and knowledge with him. I consider more inexperienced users to be an equal to myself; If I've got something to teach you, I'm sure you've got many things to teach me.

Which section are you most active in and why?

I'm most active in The Lounge, but I find myself in the RAT, innuendo, and Crypto Currency sub-forums a lot as well.

I find The Lounge has interesting topics about daily life and I can relate to a lot of the opinions of my fellow peers.

As for the RAT, innuendo and Crypto sub-forums:

I'm interested in how RATs work and how I may one day improve them

I've got plenty of sexual experience and I'm willing to share or guide people if I can Crypto Currencies interest me greatly; I find that de-centralized currencies are what the world needs to allow equal opportunity for everyone, in all walks of life.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?:

I've been enticed by the amount of thought and effort that The Empire has put into the HF community.

The members do a lot for the community and I've never seen them as unjustly disrespectful towards other HF members.

I think the community needs strong leaders and figure-heads for it to thrive more than it already is.
I hope to some day be one of those leaders, even if I only guide people in the right direction I'm making my mark on the community in a positive way.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?:

I don't think anyone should have a personal reason towards wanting to join a group such as The Empire.

I think everything should be taken as seriously as if you're running a business and you're the only person directly fueling it's success.

To directly answer your question I think having more guidance in my education and understanding of the hacking community would be great, along with the networking capabilities I'd gain from having a well respected group attached to my name.

Being able to network and meet more important and guiding people from the HackForums community or elsewhere would be wonderful.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you:

I've always been quite good with technology and it's always given me hope for a great future.
A close family friend works for IBM and has always told me I've got a knack for technology and that I should consider leading my life in that field of work.

Taking that advice I got my first computer at 12 years old, it was a gift from my parents.

Since then I've built two of my own computers because I found that it's far less expensive than buying a high end and overpriced computer from major manufacturers and distributors.

I've even got plans for a custom designed and built laptop with a completely unique case design!

Growing up a gamer I've always loved how virtual worlds can emulate every day life.

I've always wanted to be a game developer but I realized the industry is far too crowded with people who have the same basic education, and not enough jobs.

I've got this great idea for an MMORpg that would revolutionize the standard for MMOG's forever after.

The basic premise for the game is that the society is run by the community itself.

This means quests are posted by players/guilds, cities are run like a government and everyone has their own jobs or businesses that they create.

The rise and fall of kingdoms could be in the power of a single player or a small group of them.

The game would have 100% OPEN PVP in EVERY ZONE except major cities.

But for now that's enough of my brilliant idea ahaha

I come to the world with open ears and open eyes, I only take something serious if it's meant to be serious; but most important of all, I come with an open heart.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

My priorities are in my education and understanding of how this world works and what makes it turn.

It's very important to understand your surroundings because it will give clues to understanding yourself.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

I think the reason I've stayed a part of the Hackforums community is because of the people, I've met some bad ones but many many good people as well.

It's the community that drives the site, and the site that brings us all together.

Anything else you would like to say:

Thank you for your reviewing consideration!

I'm also trying to learn a bit of coding. I have never done it so i'm a beginner.

Which section are you most active in and why?

I'm active in the E-Whoring section, the Giveaway section and The Lounge. E-whoring because i'm giving the things I know about E whoring away and I'm trying to help users that are new to E-Whoring. The Free Services and Giveaway section because I love it to give stuff away. As you can see in my threads I gave alot away. (OG Usernames. Steam Items/Trading Cards, VCW's and a lot more.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?:

I've never been in a group so I don't know how this is gonna be. I would also like to join to to help people that are having problems with Gaming or E-Whoring in particular. I can give them a lot of tips based on those subjects.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?:

I think that I'm a HQ and helpful user. I'm willing to help people with almost all of their problems. Not trying to be cocky but I think that I'm a good addition to The Empire.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you:

Well as you might already know. I'm Tommie, a 17 year old boy from The Netherlands. I'm currently in the second year of college. I'm studying to be a Personal Trainer. I love to go to the gym 4 times a week aswell. Thats all I have to say about myself.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

My college. I really want to work in a Gym/Fitnesscentre. As stated above, my course in college is Personal Trainer. I love to help people and to actually get them to go to the gym or work out a bit more. Another priority is my parents. They are really caring and supportive when it comes to school/college.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

I joined because a friend and I we're trying to RAT people at first. We quit that because when we thought about it and we said: "What if it happened to us, would we like it that someone is watching us?" So we quit RATting. Then I moved on to the E-Whore section to try it. Made around $2,000 with it and I still do it. Now i'm just chilling around the forums giving away things and helping people.

Anything else you would like to say:

I hope that I can join this group, and goodluck to the other user that are trying to join The Empire! Thanks for this recruitment challenge.

Evangelist - December 18, 2013, 8:47 am

I have only seen 5 apps that I like. Good luck.

Wallet - December 18, 2013, 8:52 am

Seen two applications that I liked. One of those are on page 5.

Mahdy - December 18, 2013, 9:24 am

I would apply, but I think I'm still hated by the other members.

Glad to see this group is still going strong though, Tibby.

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are:

Marketing- I sell numerous products here on Hackforums with more launching soon. I consider myself quite successful in the marketplace here & have managed to make my products somewhat well known in their microniche communities.

Advertising- Through sites such as Adsense & YouTube I get involved with users with large fanbases in order to find solutions that allow them to get the best monetization they possibly can out of their content.

PPD/CPA- I still dabble in it occasionally but not as much as I used to. With PPD & CPA I used to earn a large income which was what lead to me buying my first car (BMW M3). I have a very popular helpdesk for PPD & CPA. I have also sold a PPD Ebook on HF Before.

Finances- I have a good understanding of Finances as it one of the majors I'm studying in 2014. It allows me to keep a good control over my expenses and income.

Web Development- I don't do so as much anymore But I used to heavily be into Web Development and do it for part time income IRL.

Which section are you most active in and why?

The Marketplace- Due to the fact that I'm so extremely interested in Commerce & Marketing of sorts. I

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?:

I've was accepted into the empire last recruitment and removed like the large portion of members, from that experience I remember the good times Had & how nice some of the people are. I'd love the chance to rejoin the community.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?:

I'm a nice & generous person who will be willing to go above and beyond to contribute to other members and the group as a whole.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you:

I'm 17 I live in Australia & Im heavily interested in business & Finances. I've always been interested from a young age in all areas of so. I graduated High school in 2013 and Have spent the last 2 months or so just Travelling and I'm currently in Europe. I make most of my income currently online & thanks to HF I'm in a quite comfortable situation.

I try to spend as much time as possible with my girlfriend, Friends & Family while maintaining a constant online presence. I always try to be friendly and love meeting new people. I donate regularly to a charity for depressed males in my country called Beyond Blue.

I previously did a Vocal Application in the last recruitment that you can listen to if you need any more information regarding myself.

I remember you telling me that The Empire sucks and that you were only in it for the UB, good luck with your application.

This group is indeed fantastic, so much activity going on in there.

I was invited to the group, and was there for 5 or 6 days then got kicked by Tibit, as wasn't that active - he said so. Even though on those days, I posted 39 posts.. Not cool, but his decision.

No hate towards Tibit or The Empire, as Tibit is a nice guy, as well is The Empire an amazing group

It would have been due to missing an activity check, we don't kick for inactivity unless the member doesn't post for a couple weeks, at least that's how we've been doing it for the last 5-6 months. You're welcome to re-apply if you want.

Also to note our activity policy now is mainly just 1 activity check per month and for the member to generally be active, no set post requirement.

Most say that said group sucks until they see a recruitment and are given a chance to join. This is why I never make my mind up about a group until I have joined and can form a factual opinion on it.

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are:

LFI- Fair knowledge of Local file inclusion. I can upload a shell and execute basic commands in the url. I know how to evaluate the vulnerability.

RFI- Fair knowledge of Remote file inclusion. I can upload a shell and execute basic commands in the url. I know how to evaluate the vulnerability.

Sqli- I have never been taught how to manually learn sql. It is a key factor in hacking but I have wasted most of my time with other things. I am currently learning sql and php in order to hopefully gain an understanding.

Shell Uploading- I can upload a shell and use Arbitrary File Uploading if necessary

CSRF- I understand how this works and I have carried out the exploit on many Cutenews websites. The HTML queries can be used in the URL bar. Therefore you can make a webpage with the url of the function you want the admin to carry out. For example, you can make a CSRF what executes a change of password.

XSS- I understand how this works and the basics. I know how javascript is used and partly how to maliciously capture cookie data.

Arbitrary File Uploading- Uploading an shell spoofed as an image. I can spoof the extension of a shell in order to bypass filters. I do this by Tamper Data.

Man-in-the-middle attack(MITM)- I normally go to my local Starbucks and run multiple man-in-the-middle-attacks. I understand how to ARP poison.

SSI- I have a Fair knowledge of this like the others. I understand how to execute commands in a .shtml extension.

Direct Dynamic Code Evaluation- I have little knowledge of this. I think it is Basically executing unix commands into the url. what makes this different is it can be amplified with metasploit.

Coding- I am not one to be relied on when it comes to coding. I can do minimum python and virtual basics.

Which section are you most active in and why?

I am active in these three sections.

Innuendo

Website and Forum Hacking

I post in these sections for many reasons. For one, I love helping out people no matter how skilled or committed they are.

Another reason is I want to expand my skill set of hacking everyday so I can have a bigger chance of GCSE's. A nice sustainable job would be nice for my future.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?: I want to join because it will have an impact on my learning hopefully. I think I will be somewhat of help to the community and the members there.

I like talking to other members and getting to know people. The more people you know, the more knowledge you have. I like learning from other people rather than tutorials online.

Getting to talk to a group and them listening to your ideas is a nice feeling.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?: I have contributed fairly well. I have given away a lot of my stuff to good members and I say thank you or give opinions on posts to try and help members.
I have made decent free services for people in penetration testing etc.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you:

I am 14 years of age. I go to a very good high school and I learn a lot everyday. When I was a small kid I always loved technology. Every day I came home and discovered new parts and places on the internet. My dad currently works at a casino and he works with I.T occasionally.

Too me, he is inspiring. I have always looked up to my dad and I am gradually becoming more intelligent than him everyday.

At my school I am smarter than all the other students. I am frequently picked on but that is just a disadvantage of being smart. I work in my schools I.T department. It helps my knowledge of hacking greatly. I work there an hour a day and I am allowed to skip language classes.

My parents are fairly proud but they think I am too stressed. Life is just stress. Without stress we would never get things done. I am not stressed. In fact, I enjoy every last bit on the internet and what I do. When someone tries to sensor me off the internet, they pay the price. My mothers boyfriend tried that.

I try to code as much as I can. People keep telling me that I will never go anywhere without a knowledge of basic coding.

I know this is true but I never have time. My life goes like this..

Wake up at 6am
Leave at 7:45
Go to school
During school do 1-1:30 hours of I.T work.
Go home at 4pm
Do 3 hours of homework
Have dinner
Expand my skillset at 7:30pm
Turn off laptop at 8:30pm
Do some weights for 30 minutes watch tv.
Go to bed at 10pm

Repeat. Everyday. Repeat.

My life is very boring. The hour of learning I get is the best bit of my day. I enjoy working in the I.T department but when you have a teacher watching over you for an hour straight it gets very annoying.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?: My family and my grades in school is most important to me. If I get below what I have now in my grades, I might aswell just give up. I really need to focus everyday and expand my hacking abilities.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining? Whilst I learn I want to help other people who have the same problems. Once I have free time, mostly at the weekends, I help people with things other than hacking. Helping people will come helpful some time in life.

Anything else you would like to say: If I get accepted I will try all I can to help members and I can express my work more.

Rest of Application

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are : Well I personally like to code, but before I went in-depth in to coding I personally liked RAtIng which seemed so 'prohax0r' at the time rather than now we're there are only help services which I find helpful but not really helping the people learn HOW RATs work. But after I got bored of RAtIng I started to learn coding (which I like very much when I was young but I never really learned to code 'well'). The first language I ever got into would be VB6 due to playing 'Clubpenguin', I understand this may be childish but this is how I got into coding (more like c+p) as I coded trainers which allowed you to do certain client-side actions as well as server-side actions. After this I stopped for a while and this is when I got into RAtIng so I essentially mastered the 'way' of RAtIng understanding how RATs work as well as crypters as well as get into coding VB.NET making simple phishers that stole people's account simple as that. And forward fast a few years I am currently learning PHP, Java, JS, jQuery(though it is not counted as a language I really like and may sometimes just use this independently), and some other database languages. Here is one example of my mastery in RAtIng : <https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=3821986> though I didn't finish it quite yet. I also tried to get into marketing which was quite confusing at first but I got in pretty quickly.

Which section are you most active in and why? : Personally I am not active in any 'one' section though I like to 'obtain' knowledge by mostly reading tutorials rather than posting or asking questions before I research.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular? : Simple as a 2 words, acquiring knowledge.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire? : Well first of all why should I get accepted? I have great knowledge on certain things that I can teach to fellow members of 'The Empire'

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you : I am personally considered a 'nerd' in school but I hang with the considered 'cool' people in school, currently I am trying to earn money through my small job. Though I do really enjoy coding so I am taking AP Comp. Sci. which I consider as my fun class due it to being easy yet I obtain knowledge. I don't really like playing video games but I occasionally play Minecraft or Gunbound(an old turn based game) or Garry's Mod. I am considered rich in my neighborhood and have pretty good grades in school.

My personality is over all pretty nice but I like to argue with people if I consider them wrong (a story would be one day I said that the iPhone 5C was made up of plastic and the girl would just not believe me, she would just state that it felt like plastic but it isn't plastic)

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you? : I would like to finish school and find a good job in life that brings atleast 30k annually though personally a priority is to make money.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining? : As I said I joined HF because I got very interested in RATING as I was once infected by a RAT and I talked to the guy who RATED me who was suprisingly very nice.

Anything else you would like to say : Hope I get accepted, and thanks for reading!

Which section are you most active in and why? Pretty much ,the Gaming area, and the Lounge.
Gaming: I enjoy Gaming a lot. I myself have an x box 360. I try to help people as much as I can.
The Lounge: It has good topics to read, It has good threads by people. And I enjoy it.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?: Because, They have a great User-bar. As well as that, They seem to be a respected group. And I want to join ,I will be contributing more to the forum, when i find out what to give, and I'll name it under The Empire, If i get accepted.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?: Because, I'm pretty active on the forum. Also I help people a lot. I help people to the best of my ability. I respect everybody on the forum, (People that respect me).

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you: Well, What made me like computers / use the internet, is my Uncle. He helped me use the computer, when i was around 8 years old. He told me what to do, What to press, and by time, I knew how to fully use a computer, I knew the parts inside the computer, He told me stuff about computers, which got me passed my ICT Assessments. And sadly he passed away.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you? My family is most important to me. They are always supporting me to do well in my education, And they mean a lot to me.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining? Well, I contributed to the forum, a little notepad of accounts, which got deleted, i earned my first 3 rep. As time flew by, I became more active, I got more known around the forum, My reps were going up time to time. And i enjoyed it here, Also, The community here is awesome, and very supporting, Well most of them are. And that's what caused me to stay here.

Anything else you would like to say: I wish i get accepted, and this will be my first group on HF. Thanks for reading and Bye Bye!!

Premise: whatever word except my name, written inside this application, is true.

Name: Marco
Age: 17 (18 in three months)
Gender: Male
Religion: Christian - Catholic
State/Country: Italy
Time Zone: GMT + 1

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are:

Teamspeak administration: i spent around three years playing Darkorbit, and during this time i have been my clan's unique server administrator, i have been one grade below admin's position inside other clan's TS servers too.

Blogging: 4-5 years ago i started a little forum about system security, then i transferred on blogger.com and until last year i ran a blog about computing & security. It is entirely in italian (my native language) but i spent a lot of time on it, and i got 20.000 views monthly (i was growing) but then i lost interest, and once .com domain expired i didn't renew it. The blog is completely abandoned right now.

<http://blog-mymatrix.blogspot.it/>

Teamwork: because i love playing inside a team, and this spurs me to do my best. Also if doesn't happen often to find a group.

Creativity: I love to experiment something new, and this is the reason since i have a lot of experience in various fields. The weak point is that once a certain period of time, if i no longer feel stimulated in doing what i'm doing, i abandon all the experiments.

Which section are you most active in and why?

Checking my profile you'll see that i have a lot of posts inside buyers bay and members contests. Buyers bay is because of i'm usual to give advices. Members contests is because of when i signed up on HF i was usual to enter in tons of contests, just for the pleasure of winning (which didn't happen) so you can find posts of mine for the most idiots contests.

Right now i'm generally active all around forums, i browse coding section because of i'm going to take part in a python course, computing&RANF because i try to help others with their issues (when possible), graphics because i'm usual to ask for tips, Groups & VIP for keeping informed.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?:

I want to join because Empire is a famous and solid group composed by good members, and i admire it (as well as a few other groups). I would love to see if group is suitable to me, considering that i'm looking for a family based on teamwork.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?:

Because of i'm an enough old member and i collected several good reputation points for my activity all around HF. I have never been criticized or acted as a child, instead of a lot of other members i met which now are inside groups. I act maturely and try to be helpful with others, so i think i should get a spot inside a group

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you:

Up to this point, nothing i retain relevant has never happened in my life. 19/22 classmates of mine born and grow in small towns (not the main one, which isn't so much big too) and in a different way from mine, we're mentally different. Once said this, you can better understand why i'm not so much considered by them, as well as by others people i know. The fact is that i'm a guy which love to stay at computer, learning about it (how it works, how is composed and how each component works etc..) and gaming, i love to do whatever thing about computer technology and electronic. This keep me a bit reserved and isolated from other peers.

I have a couple of friends, that's right, but i have been very unlucky about friendship. For this reason i'm usual to spend a good part of my time at computer.

Oh! I love sports motorcycles and i hope to have my own in future. Right now i really like the Benelli BN 600 which is the motorbike that most impressed me when i saw in on a magazine, i would love to find a group of bikers and travel around italy with them. (for fun, not as target of life)

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

My first priority is losing weight; i was 78 KG in 2012 and now i'm 63, but i wanna lose another 5-7 KG and then make body building, which i need to be better during kick boxing's training. Next to this i wanna know other people (possibly in Milan, Rome or other big cities) hoping to find an higher informatization level.

In addition to these, i want to find something that 'll interest me and 'll keep me interested. That 'll probably be the direction i'll take when i'll have to choose a study specialization/work carrier.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

The fact that i love technology, and here i found a big and active community.

Anything else you would like to say:

I made graphics by myself and i'm not expert, so forgive pixel's errors and colors.

Time Zone: EST

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are: As for my skill set, I have excellent debating skills. I've been told this by many friends and family, and friends of the family. A lot of people in my life see me as becoming a lawyer and right now in my life it is a possibility. Along with that I've been graphic designing for about 5 years now. It started in my freshman year of High School, I took a graphic design class that I loved. I pretty much just spent all of class making random logos for fun. After Graphic Design 2 I had to stop taking the classes because there wasn't a third. So It was up to me to continue learning and become better. During the eras of Black ops 1 and Modern Warfare 3, I was an amazing gamer. I had a passion of becoming a top tier player. During my Gamebattles career I made a little under 1,000$ from tournaments. Playing throughout Black Ops 1 to MW3 and a little bit of Black Ops 2, I earned around 11+ Trophies. A #1 Medal for all of Black Ops 1, and was #1 in all of Florida based on xp and rank.

Which section are you most active in and why?: I quit playing call of duty to play League of legends, for about a few months I would only visit the LoL Section. Along with the Lol section my two most visited sections are The Lounge, I love all the positive energy, and the News section. When I first joined the Respawn Group I had around 100 posts in that weekend.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?: It seems like the Empire is a group that members can take pride in in joining and becoming part of a family and I've always wanted that. I've always wanted to be a part of something bigger, and the Empire has always been a group I looked up to.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?: I would be extremely dedicated to improving the empire and representing it in a good way. I am one of those guys that if they get the smallest chance they will never let anybody down. If the Empire gave me this chance I would show them how dedicated I can be to the group.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you: When I was born, I was born with a problem with my left arm. It is shorter than my right and only has 4 fingers. I didn't go through school without friends, I had plenty, but I was always self-conscience with my self. because of this I started playing video games since kindergarten. From Pokemon gameboy games to Xbox Live in 8 years. Xbox live sparked something in my life, I wasn't being judged on how I look but what I can do. This philosophy has stuck with me to this day. That is why I continue to play online games even in college now. This is also why I love to be on Hackforums a lot of the people on here are just like me and want to just have some fun while they are still young and enjoying life.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?: My priorities in life lie, First, with my family. Second, to myself, I will never do something that is against what I believe. Thirdly, just being a good person all around. Lastly, Doing in good in college and continue on with my life.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?: I joined like a lot of people did, wanting to hack. I really wanted to be a liked member and I started doing giveaways. Then Poppins, gave me a +3 that pretty much inspired me to stay. After that I started becoming more active and was determined to be a great member.

Anything else you would like to say: Thanks for the opportunity to join such a great family. ?

Web Hacking

Out of all my skills, this is probably my expertise. I am familiar with all kinds of different techniques for web hacking such as SQLi, CSS, CSRF, Buffer Overflow, PHPi, Input Validation Attacks, URLi, HTTP Session Hijacking, Reverse Engineering HTTP Cookies, and Exploiting ports 80 and 443. I know a lot about NT ipc$ because it caught my interest when I was young in hacking. But it turned out that many firewalls block the attack. The same happened with wu-ftpd. I am constantly improving on my hacking skills and wouldn't mind some help learning techniques that I don't understand.

Social Engineering

This is the only kind of hacking that I use in my daily life outside of the cyber world. In real life I sometimes use this to get secrets out of someone or to get someone to admit to me the truth. But, inside the cyber world, I use it to completely psychologically manipulate people. I can use it as many different techniques in many different situations. For instance, if I call customer support of sony and claim to be the CEO of the company while I ask for confidential information of the company. The customer support would be like "If you are the boss then what is the passcode". I would then use intimidation and say "If you do not get me the fucking information I will fire your ass and kick you out onto the street, Get me the fucking information NOW!". Scared for his/her job, customer support would be forced to put me through, gaining me the confidential information/files.

Coding

I have been coding and programming since I was 12 years old. I am fluent in Visual Basic and Batch. I can understand intermediate HTML and C++. Languages I am just starting out with are python and CSS.

My Work:

<https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=3828726>

<https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=3471938>

Gaming

I am very knowledgable with Call of Duty Modding. I am not sure if this is a skill but it does take a lot of time as the .cfg or .gsc file is compiled into a .ff file. I create my own mod menus for most call of duties. A mod menu is just a mod where a menu pops up on the screen and you can select which mod you would like to load or process into your lobby/game.

Tell us why you would be a valuable asset:

I think I would be a valuable asset to the group because I love to learn and I love to teach what I have learned to others who need it. I know that I would be there at as soon as I could when a member needs help with anything or doesn't understand something. I will stick with The Empire until the end, even through the tuff times. And I can guarantee that I will always be active on the groups sub-forum.

Elaborate on your achievements and future goals:

I have many goals in my life as I am writing this. One of my goals that correlates to HackForums and this group is that I want to learn everything that there is to know about exploitation of all current vulnerabilities on the web, maybe even discover a few. Another goal that is not correlated to HackForums or this group is my basketball career. I want to be the best at the sport in my school. I am pretty good as we speak, but I am an overachiever and want to constantly get better at everything.

Tell us about yourself:

I am a 16 year old that currently lives in the US. My given name is Jake but I go by that or my current username. In real life I am ironically very social and popular even though I am an active HackForums member. As said above, I am an over achieving basketball player who wont stop until he gets to the top. And even when I am at the top I still keep going and improving because there is no way I can give up. My advice that I could give to anyone is to never give up. If you follow that philosophy then you can be the best at anything that you set your mind to.

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are: Webmaster (I've owned a lot of forums and helped manage a lot), ratting (use to RAT, lead a RAT group on different forums, but retired). I have a lot of knowledge with DarkComet. Some rapping (I'm not good or anything, but just like rapping every once in a while).

Which section are you most active in and why? The Lounge, because it's the heart of the forum, and most active place where everyone comes to converse. It's very vivid and has all kinds of topics.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?: So I can stop feeling alone and naked. I want to finally be accepted into a clan/family on Hack Forums. I already dedicate a lot to this forum, and it would be cool to be finally fit into a place where I belong. I want to get to meet new friends (the members) as well, as I am quite friendly and easy to get along with.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?: Because, I have what it takes to stay committed as a good and "HQ" member. I will work my hardest to stay in the group, and what is asked of me to do, I will try my best to do it, no exceptions.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you: I want to say a simple "hello." I go by ZuGgY on Hack Forums (as you can see from my username :)). I have some skills in fields such as forums (being a webmaster and active poster and moderator on forums), I like to rap when I can, I'm an avid music fan of the following genres: rap/hip-hop, dubstep/electronic, and finally, Pop. I hate Old classical music and all that crap Devlish. My favorite music artist would have to be Eminem and my favorite albums of him would have to be The Eminem Show, SSLP, MMLP, and Relapse. Other favorite artists would be Dr. Dre, 50 Cent, Drake, Hopsin, Tech N9ne, and Busta Rhymes. What else can I say? Well, I am also a former ratter, used to RAT computers, just out of boredom, but I have long since stopped. I'm quite friendly to people and would like to get to know practically anyone. I am very approachable with people. I don't mind people sending me PM's with questions or people wanting to get to know me. Believe me, I think that friendship is a powerful tool on both online and IRL, though you should never really trust anyone. I really don't like people who act immature on the forums and think they're the "best" or whatever. I feel that everyone was created, equal, but as you age older, quite acting more like your age, and be more mature. These days, I'm shown to never be immature, but more mature. I like abiding to rules given to me, and every once in a while I'll have some fun. I'm not an old boring grandpa and a party pooper that no one likes. I also believe that work comes first, and then fun. I also am a "Grammar Nazi" at most times, except when I'm on my phone. Back in school, I used to always be good at English and never really got any grammar mistakes. I like correcting people's writings at times, but not piss them off, it's just a habit. Ever since I was a young kid, I loved computers. My father first introduced them to me back in the days, when computers were still round and there no laptops but OS's such as Linux and Windows 95 :P I still remember our first computer, at home, was Dell running Windows 95. Ever since then, I got more and more into computers, starting with games and advancing later on to forums. Lately, I've been wanting to learn how to code in languages such as C#, Java, HTML, and Python, but really haven't had the chance or time to, but I hope to some day start. Currently me and my friend recently had only 1 lesson, but have stopped for the time being until we resume. I eventually also want to start making money online with methods such as PPD, or even something else that I may come up with myself. I feel that working at home and making a really good income is just awesome, but right now, it's very slim for that to happen for me. I look forward to meeting any members in The Empire, if I get accepted, and it would be a great honor. I love making new friends, without a doubt and I'd be willing to do almost anything to stay in the group :)

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you? Behaving correctly, acting mature, be honest, don't lie. I hate lying, especially when it's so obvious for a stupid reason, when someone can just tell the truth and receive possibly less punishment. I believe everyone in life has a chance to become successful but you should not fuck up that opportunity and work your hardest. First comes hard work then "play time"

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining? Basically, the members, content, and friendliness. I love most of the members here. Most are really friendly once you get to know them. The content is amazing, because I constantly am learning something new practically everyday.

Anything else you would like to say: No, thank you for taking the time to read my application. ?

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are:

I am quite skilled in a few things. Now I'm going to avoid/leave out my athletic abilities though I am very athletic. Now I am a great gamer and I enjoy playing some CS: S, TF2, Minecraft, and a large variety of other games.

I am also quite interested in the art of Hacking, pentesting, and exploiting. I am not sure how I would label myself here, though I am definitely a student, though I know quite much. I would consider myself at a somewhat intermediate level in this field. Now I know quite a bit about it, though I still have much to learn and I am willing to share all I know with other members of groups I am part of.

Now something else I'm good at is talking. I can talk to those who are depressed, suicidal, and dealing with other mental illness/instabilities very well.

Which section are you most active in and why?

I am not sure if I could label this. I am active in a variety of sections, some more than others. Though I'm probably the most active in the Hacking sections, the Lounge, the Gaming section, and the Computing section.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?:

I want to join them because ever since I joined this forum I looked up to the members as they helped my skiddish, foolish self. They have always been one of the superior groups in my mind, even before I stumbled onto this thread. Now for me to join them would be awesome, and I can't imagine what I would learn. That is why I want to join. Because knowledge is key, and to gain knowledge you must first have the knowledge to know where to look for and find knowledge, and I think that is The Empire Hack Forums group.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?:

I feel I should because I feel I'd help it. I would share so much, and help others in many ways. From gaming, to Hacking, to saving lives or teaching others how to save lives, I think I would be a wise and helpful addition to The Empire.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you:

I would like to private message you this one, as I have many private things I would not like to throw out there on a thread, though I'd love you to see.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

My priorities are avenging myself, keeping others I care for alive, and love. My family is most important to me, and I'd jump onto a massive 200 degree heated copper plate before I let them die.

Now I just want to show who I am as well. I want to be well known, I want to know how to code, and I want to be smart and make a change in this world.

I just want others to be happy, especially those who are bullied, weak, and depressed.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

I kept active because I loved the community and learning. I wanted to be a hacker, so I kept looking and making friends. That's what kept me active, not much else to say.

Anything else you would like to say:

Thanks. Thanks so much for giving me the opportunity here, thanks for letting me have the chance to join one of my dream groups. Good-bye, I will now send you a PM with any missing questions.

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are: Gaming - I love Gaming. I have been gaming since I was 3-4 years old, and have been trying out games ever since. In my later teen years, I might do competitive gaming to make money. I don't consider myself a professional, but I can definitely say this is my skill & I am competitive when it comes to matching people.

Hacking - Hacking is fun to me when it comes to fun hacking situations. Like RATting, Booting, some people don't consider this real hacking but it's a funny hacking topic. When it comes to whitehat hacking, I used to pentest websites for 3-4 months but grew bored of it. Right now, I am retiring from hacking for a bit, but still happy to give new member's tips and help them set up their RAT.

Earning Money - Yes. This is not a fun thing to do & I only have just started, but it is hard to make money online. I've only made about $2.15 in 1 week. I know, I know, it's pretty stupid, but hey, at least I got some money. I am trying to pursue my career towards earning money further than it is at the moment by receiving tips, better niches, etc..

Which section are you most active in and why?: I am most active in the HF L33T OT Discussions Section because I am always posting in the UML and making new friends. I've only participated in the UML for 2 weeks and already made 300+ posts in that section & made a lot of good friends. I sometimes regularly post in the Innuendo, The Lounge & Beginner Hacking to help guide new members to becoming better hackers than they are at the moment.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?: I want to join The Empire because I have heard it is a good & friendly group as well as that, determined. I want to become apart of those people because I can learn more from them and they can learn a bit from me. I have known this group since I first registered and it would be great to see if I got in from knowing it and it would truly be a dream come true.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?: I personally feel I deserve to be in this group. There are a lot of good members in this group & I would want to become one of those good members. I do consider myself a good member & I respect other people if they respect me. But, if someone disrespects me, I disrespect them, that's just how I am. I haven't seen any of The Empire members disrespect anyone and they haven't disrespected me so if I get into the group I will prove myself respectful & friendly.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you: Well, I haven't told much people about this, but whatever it takes to get in I guess..

It was September 2012. We were driving to the Gold Coast (12 hour drive) and we were 4 hours away. It was cloudy yes, you could tell a storm was heading our way and the sky was a faded-gray. I went for a nap in the car, and didn't wear a seatbelt because it's uncomfortable when sleeping in the car with a seatbelt sinking into your hips.

I was fading away.. slowly.. slowly.. almost in a deep trance, when suddenly, out of no where.. My head was smashing against the car-door. Continuously smashing. I got up and saw, that the car was flipping in the air. Somersaulting, not 2, 3, 4 but 5 times!

I said to myself, Holy Shit, this is the way I die. Cranking medal is the only sound I could hear. I chuckled to myself, and suddenly I landed in the front and my face was smashing the car neck rests, and it hit the metal.

The car stopped flipping, and we were upside down. I was in bloody shock, and was unsure if this was one crazy dream. I wiped my eyes, cautiously, and blinked, and was still there.

The car started smoking inside, and I broke the car window because the door was stuck and I thought the car was going to explode.

People stopped & helped me. I was in shock & was submitted to the hospital. I couldn't believe I was alive. I only suffered a minor nose fracture and nothing more.

We had to stay in a motel for 2 nights, and it turned out my sister's roommate in Uni, her dad owned a car dealership around where we crashed, (That was lucky), and Me & My Mom scanned cars for a few hours and we got some food. 4-5 hours later, all the paperwork was done, and we made our decision and picked this was the car we wanted. We took a little stop 50 mins from our destination and after that, we proceeded the rest of the way.

Yeah, this was a life-changing situation, and I haven't been afraid of anything ever since. This is why, I am my self. This explained to me that life is and you don't have long to do things, so I'm making the most out of life. At first, I didn't know whether I should apply for this group but I made up my mind and did it. If you think that you shouldn't do something, like this for e.x., just do it. Life may be the longest thing you do, but it is short, like I could've died and you wouldn't even know me.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you? Graduating High School, Going to the Army for 4 years, and coming back, and probably study something got to do with computers, better than being a meth-head. ?

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining? Well, I think it was mostly about the community itself. There was so many nice people on HF & I wanted to be like them. I started learning more about hacking and now I always make posts. I bought L33T 5 months ago, and I was approved for Ub3r 2 months ago and I'm still trying to get money for it.

Anything else you would like to say: Nothing in particular. I just want to say I hope I get into this fascinating group, and good luck to everyone else.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you:

Well, my personality in group settings is outgoing funny ya know.. but honestly i love going out with friends or just a chill day watching netflix at home. I Spend about 13 hours a day on my laptop, because im cyber schooled.

i am a very loyay/understanding person.. i try to be the best i can be. Try to be as original but also have my own style. A very memorable experience was getting offered my first job, i was only 12 and they wanted me to work and repair computers at a place next to my house. I listen to all music mostly rap though rappers like logic, chance the rapper, G-eazy, Skizzy mars, 50 cent, Hopsin, Drake ect. but i listen to every genre of music incluing country and Dubstep. MY first laptop was when i was about 10 and it was an HP mini, i played a game called toontown on there all day everyday. I also played millsberry on it.

I really enjoy talking people with common interest's as me.. so i guess im looking for that in Empire too

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you? Number 1 has to go to family and friends. I would easily take a bullet for any of my family or friends. Being honest and loyal would probably come next and then morals..

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining? I just in general love the community, sometimes there loving.. always funny. there's always the occassional retard here and there but it's just a learning experience

I enjoyed it absolutely while in it. It was one hell of a sweet mathafackin ride ?

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are: My skills are as following: I have a good amount of experience with running Minecraft servers, I can do some SQLi, I am starting to learn PPD and earn with it. My goal for 2014 is to earn $1,000 per month every month during 2014 or $10,000 by the end of the year. I enjoy playing games such as League of Legends and Minecraft. I enjoy learning and talking with people.

Which section are you most active in and why? I am the most active currently in the League of Legends section and I browse other sections. I am probably most active in this section because I am trying to get as good as I can possibly get and it's a great place for discussions too.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?: The Empire in my eyes is deemed as a very high quality group. Many of the members seem to do good things around the forums such as helping members who need it or what not. Overall it just seems like a great group with many great members.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?: I personally feel that I should be accepted to The Empire because I could offer to share all my current knowledge with others along with broaden what I already know and learn new things.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you: I can't really think about a ton of stuff that's extremely memorable that I want to post on HF, but I can think of some things that make me who I am today. I have always loved learning and despite my grades not being the best, I had outstanding pSAT scores and stuff. I've always been very enthused with sports and staying active along with computers and friends. Tennis has been my main sport for quite a while now and I practice about 20 or more hours per week and play in multiple tournaments per month. This year has been a major change for me because I've actually dedicated most of my time to Tennis and I'm doing online school which is really different. I'm still able to do most of the things I did before and I enjoy all of what I am doing today. Other than that, the internet has changed my life a ton too. Being scammed for about $1200 has changed my views about everything and money, seeing that now being in debt I have to pay it off. Most people my age don't have to worry about something like this, but I've just figured that if there's nothing that I can do then I might as well not worry. It's really forced me to get motivated with PPD and to start earning and though my earnings aren't great, now I am doing my best to earn.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you? My priorities are probably School, Tennis, friends, family all at the top. Tennis is a really great passion I have and I hope to someday play College tennis.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining? Hackforums was actually probably the first big community I actually joined. I gained a real passion for it as I learned TONS when I first joined and realized how stupid I was before I had joined. The reasons I stayed active was probably because the community is actually pretty nice and there's lots of great members here. Overall it's been a good experience on here.

Anything else you would like to say: Overall I spent a good amount of time on this application. I'm not the greatest at all with graphics or anything like that. I hope to get accepted and then hopefully be come a part of The Empire. Thank you.

Learning PHP

Graphics and Video Editing

I use Photoshop and Cinema 4D mostly for personal desire in having to change my wallpaper background or signatures. I also make YouTube Banners, Signatures, Avatar, and i'm a beginner at making Professional Gifs

Gaming

Who doesn't like playing games, i enjoy gaming especially when playing with friends and having a fun time. I mostly play BF4 and COD on the console, but on the PC i will play League of Legends, Garry Mod, and Counter Strike.

Which section are you most active in and why?

I'm mostly active in the Beginner Section, because there a lot of question that never been answered mainly because many of our members never seem to ease by the question to be able to answer it.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?:

Ever since i joined Hackfourms, i always hear positive things about this group and i want to be apart of it. I always see HQ members that are in the group showing a good example around the community, Joining will also help increase my skills and learn more from other members in the group.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?: Even though i joined Hackfourms this year i am very determined to jump a step higher in become a HQ member, i'm very social and hardworking, i am not afraid to learn something new and to be proven wrong, i just want to be able to prove my self to be able fit properly in the community. I believe i'm at a disadvantage because i wasn't a member long enough or posted a HQ post involving Tutorials or Products that can help a lot of people, but i will eventually reach that point later on. Before i can provide these things, i must learn everything i need to learn in order to take another step forward.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you:

My name is James, i am 16 year old and grew up in New York City, i then moved to Texas when i was 4 years old. My favorite sport is Football and Baseball, i started to lose weight at 9th grade that allowed me to be able to play some sports that made me more active and well rounded.

I'm very social and love making new friends, i'm always in a good mood unless for no reason someone start being disrespectful then i will just walk away or just stay silence. I listen to music almost all the time, especially when no one around me is talking or when i'm not interested in what people have to hear at that moment.

Gaming is like my second life, i hang out with my friends and have fun in variety of games including BF4 and COD because it very competitive and i love having a challenge between teams to get a certain objective. I used to have a DS but my dad decided to give it away with out my consent.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you? In being successful, my goal in life is to be a computer engineer and technology expert because i'm on the computer most time in my life and learning new things everyday also our society is becoming more electronic based and Technology specialist will be needed later on in our life making more jobs available for us to work in. What important to me?

Education, Family, Grades, and God

I will make sure that i will be successful for my parents because they have done many things in my life and a lot of people should feel the same about there own, i will make sure i can be able to buy the things that my mother couldn't buy for herself because of her support for everyone else.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining? Learning something that no school would teach you, Friends that are searching for the money same as i, Excitement to see something that will change the way you see life, and enjoyment to meet many people that have the same thing in common as you.

Anything else you would like to say:

Good Luck to everyone willing to join this group, I hope i get accepted, and this application is officially submitted.

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are:

I have a lot of skills. One of which is graphic work. I currently do not have a portfolio but I normally do graphic work for the greater good. Another skill I have is video editing. I took a college course on basic editing and I really enjoyed it. I also love to game and code.

Which section are you most active in and why?

I am most active in probably the VIP section or the lounge. I also love posting in the VIP lounge. Everyone seems to be really friendly in the VIP lounge. I also enjoy checking out the graphics section to look at other peoples work.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?:

I want to join The Empire because I feel like it is one big family. Everyone is very nice to everyone else and I enjoy that about the group.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?:

I personally feel like I should be accepted because I will bring 110% to helping the group out to the best of my abilities.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you:

So, I was always a loner child when I was growing up. I didn't have many friends. That is what really let me to the computer. My parents separated when I was younger and I rarely ever get to see my dad. In high school I skipped a lot and I started going down the wrong path but over the last two years I've been building it all back and doing what's good. I plan to go to college in September for computer systems tech. I am VERY excited about that. It is one of my dreams to get off to college and on with my life. I joined hackforums this year looking to learn about ratting. I didn't learn to much so I stopped posting for a couple months and returned. Ever since I returned I have enjoyed my stay. I love HF as a community and almost everyone in it.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

The most important things in life to me are my family. My sister is a big part of my life. As much crap as I've put her through she's always there by my side helping me out.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

The first time I joined I didn't seem to stay long. I re logged into my account a couple months later and ever since then I met some great people. I love the community. I look up to some people on here. Jake Miller being one of them. He is a great guy and he really made HF a great experience for me.

Anything else you would like to say:

I would like to say, thanks for taking the time to read through my application. Sorry if I have messed anything up because I am on my phone filling this out because my laptop broke last night. I wish everyone the best on their application and I wish everyone a Merry Christmas.

Gender: I am a male.

Religion: I am a Christain.

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are:

Java - I became interested in the language of Java around the age of 16 and have been using Java for around two years now. In late 2011, my friends and I started my first major project. The project was an independent voxel RPG called Horde. This project continued for around eight months until it completely collapsed. The game was never completed. I then turned my attention to Minecraft. I took on various coding jobs for an abundance of different servers making tons of plugins and to be honest not that much cash. One of the jobs I am most proud of is Bash Craft, a very popular Minecraft server as well as YouTube channel.

Gaming - I've been playing video games for as long as I can remember. I enjoy playing all types of games with all types of people whether it is competitive or casual. My favorite games that I play currently would have to be Minecraft, Team Fortress 2, Grand Theft Auto V, and NCAA Football 2012. I also enjoy playing games such as League of Legends, Starcraft, and DayZ. I consider myself much better than your average Team Fortress 2 player. I already play games with members of The Empire and would gladly play with more if I am accepted.

Team Fortress 2 Montage (Click to View)[Video: <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=6ZqwNLBbqsg>]

Websites - When I joined Hack Forums my intentions were to come an elite hacker. After about one month, my intentions had changed completely. I desperately wanted to run a successful website. I have run four websites. The two most recent being <http://www.assistforums.com> and <http://www.freexbl.biz>.

Communication/People Skills - I have excellent communication skills. I have the ability to get along with almost anyone. I work very well with others, which is something that most groups look for when recruiting. Communication skills are often overlooked by employers/groups, but they shouldn't be. Communication/People skills can be crucial when working on a project with others.

Athletics - I have a life outside of Hack Forums as well. I play football, baseball, and I wrestle. I've competed at a national level in wrestling and hope to be an olympian some day. Here are some pictures of my medals. As odd as this may sound I think the fact that I am an experienced wrestler is another reason I should be accepted into the group. It has been said that wrestlers make the best employees on Forbes.

<http://www.forbes.com/sites/stevecooper/2012/07/31/why-wrestlers-make-the-best-employees/>

Which section are you most active in and why? I am most active in the HF I3t OT Discussions Section. This section is a great gateway to help out users who have contributed to Hack Forums! Members in this section have helped me numerous times.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?: I would like to join The Empire because I've see every member that is a part of the group being not only being extremely nice and well-mannered, but also professional in nearly every situation. I want to join this group because I would love to meet some new people here, definitely get to know more people, and just enjoy the family aspect of a group that you don't get when you're without one. I want to learn from The Empire's userbase as well as spread my knowledge throughout it. I've recently started looking up to The Empire and it's userbase as a sort of a role model for what I should try to be on here. The Empire actually motivates me to become a better member.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?: I'm not going to write you a half of a page on how "high quality" I am. Instead, I am going to briefly discuss with you the amount of work that I can and will put into improving this group if I am accepted into it. I plan to gain and spread knowledge within The Empire sub-fourm and partake in numerous projects that I will give my best effort on. In fact, I already have some ideas!

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you: My name is Garrett Ash and I am 18 years old and a senior at a small high school in Georgia. I am known around here as one of the "athletes" so I keep my computer life rather secretive. As in no one at my school knows that I am on Hack Forums. I have a wonderful girlfriend that I have been dating for 2 months today! I was born in a pretty unique fassion. My father was in the United States Navy and he was in Okanawa, Japan. My mother was with him and pregnant at the time. She just so happened to have me on the military base in Okanawa. So yes, I was actually born in Japan. We lived in Japan for a while until I was two years old. We then moved to Dublin, Georgia! I stayed there until I was four and then I moved to where I live now, Commerce! When I was thirteen my father passed away and we sold his business. Money is tight in my household and I am determined to change that. I'm going to provide a better life for me and my mother!

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you? Family > Friends > Athletics/Academics

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining? I stayed because many of my internet friends pushed me too. I constantly heard from them about how great it was and I was curious to find out for myself. I now stay because of the people, the entertainment, but mostly the unlimited amount of knowledge that Hack Forums can give you.

Anything else you would like to say: Thank you for your consideration! If there is anything that I can change about my application for the better, please let me know!

Woah... Okay, Im a hacker with a couple of jacks in my sleeve, and definitely not something I want to brag about. I always trying to learn new stuff, Today im studying Pentesting

Well i have to show something, right! So one of my hacking passion is WiFi hacking, and the possibility to exploit users on wifi-networks or use the Wifi-router as an extra security buffer between me and the internet when Im doing stupid things ;)

Also Long range Wifi-hacking comes to mind.. This is a "tutoral series" about that subject (nr 1 in the bottom and nr 4 in the top)

Also antennas is somewhat a little hobby.. Here a page about cantennas sadly written in Swedish

<http://www.cantennabygge.nu/>

Which section are you most active in and why?

It used to be the Wifi section, but i got tired of all the endless "Never ending question" on the same things/issues. Nowadays I often get stuck in the Lounge inside the groups, but still provides a helping hand in the other threads inside the groups

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?:

Well, I have some friends who always spoken warmly about The Empire, so i got curious. I have learned a lot about friendship, trust and generosity through HF. I like to contribute with my knowledge, and sees this opportunity to join The Empire as a next step to help the community. The idea is to continue to be a good friend/helper, and slowly but surely becoming the one that others look up to and perhaps to be role model for others

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?:

Well, Thats a hard question to answer. but i will try, I can be an asset to you if I get the chance. Give me a chance and i wont disappoint you

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you:

Well lets call me mad76e, and i live in southern Sweden with my wife and 2 kids. Love to hang out with friends. Used to work 1-st and 2-nd support SIP for a known Internet service provider/telephone company in Sweden. Watching to much tv!

Im 37 years old, got a soft spot for genealogy. Has found ancestors from 1645! The happiest day in my life was when i married my wife 2003, and the sadest day was when we lost our first newborn child, only 50 minutes old. I love to spend time with my friends and drink some cold ones.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

without a doubt my family and my children. The most important thing in life is our children, without them we have no future! Family and friends comes first!!

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

Well There was something about this site, and everybody was friendly. I felt a need to develop my hacking skills. but the thing was that i found a lot of friends that i talk to every day, and it has become somewhat of a poison.. Im too addicted to HF :)

Anything else you would like to say:

well i know a lot of folks in Empire.. They say that Empire are amazing, I just have to look for myself

Name: Jesse Pinkman

Age: 17 years old

Religion: I'm Roman Catholic.

State/Country: New York, United States

Time Zone: Eastern time.

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are:

I have coding skill in the following languages: c#, c++, php, css, and some basic python.

I'm currently applying to colleges for computer science / engineering... so most of my skills are technology based.

I've taken classes in Adobe Photo Shop and Final Cut Pro.

I would also like to think of myself as an experienced peoples person, I like helping people solve their issues no matter what the situation is. (to the best of my ability).

Which section are you most active in and why?

Currently I find myself in the Lounge and Crypto Currency the most. I figure I visit the lounge because I like to see other members opinions on all topics. It's also a nice time killer. Second, I find myself in the Crypto Currency section because I'm currently invested in many virtual currencies and like to stay up to date (and keep others up to date).

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?:

For one, it is a prestigious group. To display the user bar proudly would not only be an honor but a great challenge.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?:

I feel that my willingness to help other members is a key element. I'm proud of the support I can offer and I love doing so. I also think that because of my dedication I could benefit the group as a whole.

In addition, as much as I love the brotherhood... I think its time to make some additions.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you:

I actually have a great answer to this question, it lies in my college essay in which I would gladly share if the empire's recruiter is genuinely interested in accepting me. Just send me a pm :) (Only reason I'm not posting it here is because it's personal).

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?
Growing up in a small Italian family the most important thing to me is my family.
Next to family is my running, I wouldn't be the person I am today without it. My dedication to the sport has taught me more then I could ever have anticipated learning.
I also cherish my relationships with my friends, although they come after family.
Currently a large part of my time is spent searching, and applying to colleges. I want to get the best education possible for myself.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?
At first I was scared of Hack forums because of the name, I decided to join anyway(Obviously).
What really made me want to stay and become a big part of this community was how easy it was to access practically anything. HackForums is a vast center for knowledge, and people willing to share it.

Anything else you would like to say:
Thanks for taking your time to read my application! I'm glad I was able to squeeze this out in between all of my college apps :)
I also apologize that my application isn't "pretty" and consist of nice pictures. I believe the most genuine application is direct and to the point.

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are: I will be completely honest and say that I do not have many skills. Some may find my skills useful to them while others may find me to be useless. I am good at writing, I like to write short stories and I will be sharing some here on the forum soon. Other than that I am a good listener and I like to help people with their problems. I am very computer literate and can do a lot with a computer, not sure how that would benefit The Empire though. I am good with debating and I always try to do my research before a debate, but if I am wrong I will admit it. I would say another skill would be how much I know about smartphones. I worked in a call center doing tech support for smartphones and learned a lot about them while I worked there.

Which section are you most active in and why? I am active in very many sections, some I post in while others I just lurk in the shadows. I have mostly been active in the BSDaCLI section since it was the first section I was ever active in, I generally stuck to that section until about a year ago I started branching out more and becoming more active in other sections.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?: When I first became active on Hack Forums, I looked up to three groups. They were full of the members I respected the most and wanted to strive to become a part of these groups. These groups were Void, The Alliance and The Empire. The Empire i just a group that stood out to me and seemed full of potential, I am always looking to help others and I feel like I can help others from within the group. Essentially helping more than just one person that way.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?: I feel like I would be a great addition, I see many people that are a part of The Empire always helping others some way and I would like to join the ranks of the helping members.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you:

I am 21 years old, I was born in a small city in the southern part of Oklahoma. For the majority of my life I was bullied and beaten, something no one should ever have to go through. I set out to become a great person and be very successful. I see success in a different way than most other people though, I see success as an accomplishment, after helping anyone I can help become better in some way.

I try to be nice but because of a rough past and poor childhood I have some minor anger issues, this has caused some problems for me and I am currently pushing myself to keep from getting angry so easily. This is just something about me I thought I would share.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you? My priorities lie with my family, first and foremost my family comes before anything for me. The most important thing to me is to know they are safe and taken care of.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining? I initially joined after one of my friends told me about the site. I am not sure what made me stay, I just did.

Anything else you would like to say: If you think I would be a good addition to The Empire then add me, if not I would like to know where I could improve.

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are: I am a quite skillful programmer, I have programmed little ddos scripts that use your connection and a very powerful ddos script for putty and web based booters. I mainly program in python and I know enough html to make a fairly decent website I also know a bit of C and am ready to learn any other language. I also play Xbox and am pretty good in Call of Duty and many other games. I am getting into graphic design and am starting to get the hang of it and am having a very good time learning it I think I will be very skillful in it pretty soon.

Which section are you most active in and why?: I am most active I believe on the lounge because it is mostly just talking about anything and a good amount of people ask for help on there and I am always happy to help them with what ever they need.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?: I always wanted to be part of a group on HF and I thought that The Empire is a very good group in my opinion it has some very mature people in it and it is very well managed especially by it's owner.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?: Well I believe that I deserve to join because I am willing to work hard and I am willing to help people with an attitude that is just jolly and happy.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you: Well I am a said by other people a nice person in all. I have had some anger issues before but nothing really serious to where I had to take pills I just have a stress ball. Also I really like to just help people I try to do so every chance I get and I do my best at trying to help them to. I am actually really interested in computer science, hacking, programming, and many other subjects that have to do with computers but I want to join the army when I turn 18 so I think that's a little fun fact about me. I guess that's all really I could say more but I would have to think a bit more deeper.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you? My priorities is making me last and people first. I have had people tell me that that's a problem but I personally don't think it is, I put others needs in front of mine and I have always liked it that way I get respected by them and they get respected by me and me and that person can be friends. But if the person is using that to his or her advantage I will have to get back and I really don't like doing that but when they walk all over me things happen that are bad for the other person.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?: The main thing that caused me to stay active on HackForums is the people. It's so diverse, so different I don't really get that in my school or in a lot of places really. And also the topics on here, basically most of them I like, their topics I enjoy talking about.

Anything else you would like to say: Not much else to say that raps it up I guess, anyways I hope that I get chosen to come into the group thank you for your time in reading my message.

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are:

Monetizing is one of my main skills that I consider useful. I sold over 350$ in e-books sales last month and it was my first full month doing it. I had a picture in bragging rights, but I can't find it and my other selfly account is closed. You can check out my threads to see all of the e-books I have for sale. Another skill I have is determination and I will work until I reach my goals. I am also a pretty friendly guy and I seem to be able to make friends on here easily, so I could work with the members in the group.

Which section are you most active in and why?

Ebook bazaar is one of my most active places, because I make a good amount of money there and I am interested in looking at other people products. The lounge is also another place I like to spend my time, because I see a lot of funny threads and learn something every now and then. Another place I like to spend my time is in hackercraft section, because I am pretty good at the game and will start making money with it soon.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?:

I think it would be cool to be apart of respected group and hopefully learn a thing or two. I think being apart of this group would help me get the most out of this site.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?:

I think that I could benefit others by teaching them what I know about money making and be helpful with everything else from personal life to gaming. I think I should be accepted, because I am very responsible and can keep my word with other people which will help me get the tasks done.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you:

I am currently attending a community college through a program at my high school. I take 3 college classes and 2 high school classes at the same time. I am going for an AA degree in basics, and soon starting a degree in mechanics. Once I am done with schooling I plan to go to a tech school for a few years for mechanics. After tech school I will come back and do a couple more years in mechanics at the college, because I want to make something of myself, and not have all the financial problems my family had as I was a kid. I grew up in a pretty abusive home as a kid, and I think this has made me a stronger person, and allows me to help people with their problems here on and forums, and in real life. Something I really enjoy doing in my spare time is riding bmx bikes, this is something I picked up about 2 years ago. When I first started biking I had a lot of friends who rode with me, but now almost all of them have quite or are not my friends anymore. I still ride as much as I can, and this weekend I will be starting up again after waiting on my pinky finger to heal from being broken in 2 places. I am going to an indoor skate park that has a foam pit, and I plan to start learning back flips on my bike (I know it will take quite a bit of time). Another thing that I enjoy doing is making youtube videos which is something I started doing a little more than a year ago. Youtube has made me so much more confident about myself and I have got so much better with communicating with people. When I first started youtube I got into it from watching a guy named Demonasyum who was making modding videos on borderlands 2, and after that I slowly got more and more into it. I later started to make similar videos for dead island riptide, and they actually put my channel where it is today. Right now I am on a little break from youtube, but I plan to buy a capture card for my super Nintendo, and start doing reviews, and play troughs of the games I have for that which is now over 60 games. Also for my youtube channel I want to get a gopro so I can record my progress on my bike. I do not really want to become rich or famous from youtube, but it has been a big part of my life over the last year, I plan to continue it because it is one of my hobbies. Another thing about myself is I really enjoy old school gaming, and my favorite system is my super Nintendo. As a kid I grew up with not very many things, but I always had my super Nintendo, and I have spent countless hours playing it. I finally got an original Xbox and a PlayStation 1 later, but it was when they were becoming old and the next generations were coming out. I actually just recently got rid of my Xbox 360 because I don't find it as entertaining anymore, but I am still expanding my super Nintendo collection today.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

Right now school is very important to me and I also spend a lot of my time biking and making money online. School is very important to me, because I want to have good job when I am older.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

The people I meet on here have taught me so much and got me earning online. If I would not have joined here I would not have a good pass time and be able to make money so I don't have to get a job yet and I can focus on my schooling.

Anything else you would like to say:

Thanks for the opportunity to join empire I hope to hear from you guys soon! If you wanted to see my youtube you can go here <http://www.youtube.com/user/featuredbmX>

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are:

Web Designing and Programming is something I enjoy. In my short tenure of being a HF Member, I've helped multiple users with MyBB, as well with advice. Coming to MyBB, I have a very decent knowledge of coding in MyBB. Some of my works can be found below. In addition that, I've experience in Coding with phpBB, SMF & IPB. I'm good at fixing and patching vulns. I have experience with server management as well other coding languages like SQL and css.

1. <https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=3893914>
2. <https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=3902322>

My hacking skills are related to Website Hacking. I started learning how to exploit SMF 1.0 Boards via old, unpatched bugs and the first SMF Website I had defaced was a Gaming Forum. Shortly after that, I learned to use vuln scanner to add with SQL Injection which I used with vBulletin 0day exploits. It was fun to run scripts to make Admin accounts. And, I had some experience in defacing MyBB sites via Template Vulns which allowed to execute php scripts. I did it for non-harmful uses.

Coming to Graphics, I've to say that I'm not an expert but I like learning. The only thing I'm good is with making signatures. I started with making of Gaming sigs. I usually use Photoshop CS. I've learnt a few things like Abstract Art, Vectors, Air Brush Art, Doping and Transparent background making. Some GTA Sigs I made below:

Spoiler (Click to View)

Computing and Hardware are another of my favorite subject. I like knowing more about Hardware, Setups, Programs, Builds and Interior. I used to dismantle my CPU and take a look at things and fix them back. I've even modded Windows XP, tweaking shells and patches with self extracting I386 Components

Which section are you most active in and why?

I post in the L33T OT section, Group Subforums, Webmaster Section & Lounge Sections frequently because I enjoy talking to people in the Upgraded Members Lounge. I find the people in that section very friendly and willing to help out.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?:

I would like to join for numerous reasons, one being, Empire is one of the largest, most high quality groups on Hackforums, if not one of them, and then it's the most high quality. Empire is very appealing to me. The group is very well organized and I see you guys only let in very few members and those few members are very high quality. The output of this group is amazing, I see such good quality posts and contributions coming from the group, I have seen discussions around the forum from Empire members and it's mostly meaningful, high quality, or serious posts, none of the garbage that other users post.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?:

I think I would be a valuable asset to the group simply because I'd like to learn and share. The Empire is a great group and accepts potential candidates. I think I'm potential as I try at my best to help and learn at the same time. I've vast experience and I think I could help with my above skillset and get to know people by representing The Empire.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you:

I'm an average 16 Year old guy, just like most students of my age. I'm passionate about Computing, Movies, Soccer, Cars, Military Planes, Thermodynamics and Advanced Wave Communication Technology. I spend time browsing Hack Forums & listening to Last.fm.

Who doesn't play games? I have a PS3, PS2 and Xbox. I not only game, but mod games on consoles. Cheating is the best part about gaming.

My games:

Forza Motorsports 2,3
GTA San Andreas/SA:MP
GTA IV (Episodes Disk)
GTA V/GTA Online
Call of Duty BO2
Modern Warfare 3
Black OPS
Call of Duty 4
Halo 4
Halo 3
Counter Strike GO
Midnight Club Los Angeles
Need for Speed The Run
NFS Most Wanted
Need for Speed Carbon Team Fortress
World of Warcraft

And, I hope to be a Tele-communication Expert in future and work under the wing of a good company.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

Priorities? My real life comes first for me. What everyone wants is a degree from a good university to pursue a career. I want the same. I hope to be a Tele-communication Expert in future and work under the wing of a good company. Besides that, I'd like to purchase my own dream car which I always aspire of. Moving out of the city is my first step to it.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

The community is great as a whole and most people I've met on HF are friendly and willing to help.

The day I joined, I got a warm welcome and everyone pointed me to the right way. Unlike most forums, HF has an active community which participates in discussions and the best places to lurk for me are the Lounges and SRPP section. I was tempted to upgrade, so I did upgrade to L33t. I enjoyed each and every feature L33t had to offer, although I got denied for Ub3r weeks back. I mostly spend my time in Webmaster and Upgraded Sections.

Anything else you would like to say:

I would like to be apart of The Empire. I feel like I could learn a lot from the members and hopefully teach them some of the things I know. I would love to be able to talk in the sub-forum. Thanks for taking your time to review my application.

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are:

My skills are mainly hardware based. This will include the repairs of all consoles, mobile phones and other electronic devices. My job is an RMA Technician so I get taught lots within the job. I am going to be learning Software soon which will include Android, iOS and Windows. This a great deal for me as I have not done this before.

Hardware: I am great with hardware side of things, I am able to fix most things with ease. I am able to provide help in any way shape or form to help members with their hardware problems, except physically :P

Software: I am learning my software at the moment, this is with Android. So far I am able to unlock, root and flash files. I have only been learning a matter of weeks and think I am doing great. This is all self taught!

Devices: I am great with devices all round, especially the Nexus line having the Nexus 5 myself. I am able to tell you information about any phone you have queries about, do not hesitate to ask me.

Which section are you most active in and why?

Android Operating System

I am very active in this section, in fact only within the last couple of months this has become my most active section as my interest and love grows for Android. I have the biggest thread in the Android section with over 700 replies and continues to grow everyday! I am planning to redesign my thread with lots of useful information, accessories. Your more then welcome to check it out.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?:

It may sound creepy, but I have been looking around The Empire for a little while now and have got to know a few members. The group seems great for me. I will be able to share my knowledge with all members who ask for it. The group members seem to be very loyal with one another which is a key fact within any successful group and I plan to be very loyal myself. I have heard from various members that The Empire is like a family and I would like to be a sibling within the family and grow up within it too.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?:

I personally feel that I can offer a lot of expertise in electronics and with this market only growing, what more can I offer! The members of not only The Empire but HF will benefit from it in one way or another!

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you:

Me, I am 21 currently living in the UK and with a full time job as an RMA Technician. I am very handy in any departments, mostly electronic. I am a whiz when it comes to this. The worst part is everyone I know asks me to fix there gadgets, which in a way is a privilege they ask me. I am scared of heights but overcome that this year when my girlfriend sent me on a bungee jump! I thought I couldn't do it, but I damn well did.

Here is a few photos:

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

Priorities. My main are family and girlfriend. Where would you be in the world without these people to give you a nudge now and again in a bad patch. They mean everything to me and nothing will make that change for me.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

After joining I quickly adapted to the community and liked it. Been here since 2009 and been active for 90% of it. I will continue to stay because of the community and members. The other members are what make the forum, without active and loyal members there would be no forum. Period. I used to be part of the Red Lions but unfortunately due to a couple of months being inactive I got removed from the group.

Anything else you would like to say:

I have never put this much effort in to an application, but The Empire is definitely worth my time. If my images are to big, please let me know so I can amend.

Hey guys, Yoan AKA Aura here ! ?

So I decided to make a video application, as it would be "easier" then typing another whole application. My native language isn't English, so obviously there's parts in the video where I'm trying to find my words and where I'm stuttering, but I hope you guys will still enjoy watch it. I know about 33 minutes long. I tried to make it shorter, but I couldn't manage to do it, I'm sorry. If it's too long and you guys would like a shorter video, I'll do my best to do another one as short as possible. If you don't understand certain on my answers or things I say in my video because of my accent or any other reason, feel free to send me a PM to ask more details or ask me to repeat my answer for a question. If you didn't understand a whole answer for a question, I'll do another video on that question.

Thank you for giving me and other members to opportunity to join The Empire, one of the most HQ group on HackForums that is composed with unique and impressive people.

Enjoy !

Why Do You Personally Feel you Deserve To and Should Be Accepted into The Empire?: I personally feel the i should be accepted to the group due to my intelligence level and the help i provide to other users on the forums as i stated before i would help out the group in many threads as i have a lot of free time since im out of school to the end of January and it is snowing a lot in Canada so i have enough time to code many things for this group and or make a new user bar even though it is to good and i can probably not do better then that but it is still worth a good try. I also feel like i deserve to be in the group cause i help a lot of people over forums and i could make the group's name spread a little more as i am always in the innuendo section i could possibly make a empire help thread for all of the people who are looking for help but do not know who to look to for very good advice.

Tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you: Well something very memorable in my life which makes me give other people advice over the forums is when i first met my girlfriend cause i realized that i have found the right girl as she made me change over the past cause before i was one of those type of people who dates all of the girls and plays many sports also who was not that intelligent in school just on the computer until i met her and now i talk better, type better and am also getting very good marks in my real life and still happy at the same time with my wonderful girlfriend who i would do anything for to make her feel the same way about me.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you? Well there is many things that are important to me but one of the biggest things in my life that is very important is knowing where i will be in the future as i have many plans but one of my biggest plans is to be a computer programmers for apple and or Microsoft whatever gets me very big and brings in the cash, over the years i have been looking over one of the richest men in the world who is known as bill gates, he is a very smart man and i have been looking up to him since i first started a few years ago and i have been wishing one day i want to be just like him as everyone knows about his existence.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining? Well i would just have to say i use to think hack forums was not really a good place and i would think that everyone was like skiddies but then once i made my account i realized how intelligent everyone was on the forum and every time i see a new post it keeps me motivated to keep making new threads and comments just as i am trying to join this group, I feel that everyone on the forum is so nice and helpful at times so not only would it make me stay active it would make other people who feel the same way stay active in this big community of hacktivists and coders also designers.

Anything else you would like to say: I would really just like to say that i hope to get picked in the group and if i do it would be a great Christmas present this year as i feel i have enough skill to join the group and or just represent the group by making a help thread would be a better present but that would not happen at all i do not think. But also thanks for reading this application if you guys have read it and i hope you all have a very good Christmas if you celebrate it and if you do not then just have a great week-end and i hope to those who applied make it to this high quality and professional group, well for now goodbye.

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are:

Gaming is one of my skills, i mostly game in my free time with friends or i just play solo, i mostly play for a rank or achievement but also just like to play games for the fun.

Another skill of mine is eWhoring don't know if you can call that a skill but my social engineering is very effective on people as you can see in my payments here.

<https://i.imgur.com/2vn9Yx4.png>

<https://i.imgur.com/hkB32jU.png>

<https://i.imgur.com/lwNLtln.png>

I am also trying to get in to different things like coding, and script for game servers.

Which section are you most active in and why?

I am the most active in the eWhore and in the Ub3r section, I do give aways in the Ub3r section and in the normal give away section but mostly in the Ub3r section.

And i am pretty active in the eWhoring section to help out some guys with eWhoring or share packs plus i am also getting active in the Currency Exchange section i am doing lots of exchanges now.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?:

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?:

I wanted to join the Empire since the beginning, It got my first interest when i joined the Hack forums it had some originality that other groups didn't have, and i want to be a part of that.

I should get accepted into The Empire because of me sharing things with the community doing lots of giveaways here are some threads of my giveaways:

<https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=3929754>

<https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=3862729>

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you:

I always am positive about things, I always love to create new projects like gaming projects and booters, and talking with my friends.

My family is the first thing that comes up in my mind if it's about important the second thing are my friends, you can just easily catch up with me never i really had any troubles here with the people on the Hackforums. I am very patience when it comes to waiting i am almost never in a hurry when it comes to projects i just want the project to be good and not to be finished fast.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

Family is the important's thing in my life without them, I wouldn't be on the earth so are friends. Health and wealth, health is a very important thing i don't want me or my family to be sick and same about them not having enough money to take care of them selfs.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

I came here to learn about hacking and ended up in the eWhoring section it picked up my interest on making easy money.

Then i started to browse more around the forums and bought my self l33t from the money i eWhored and started to gain some reputation on the forums and after buying l33t one month later i applied for Ub3r and got accepted and i am now more active in other sections to.

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are: I mainly do giveaways, honestly. But I'm always looking to get into coding.

Which section are you most active in and why? I'm most active in the Member Contest section, I host various types of giveaways. Sometimes I host riddles and whoever finds it out gets the prize. But mainly it's just Post here to be entered type of contest.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular? I have always really respected the members in empire. I'd like to get more into marketing, coding, etc. I think this group would be an amazing opportunity for me.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire? I feel I should be accepted into the empire because I have contributed to the community quite a bit. And look forward to doing it a lot more.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you: I'm 13 years old, nothing has quite made me who I am today. I've just been myself. I'm the kind of person who will help you out when you need it. I sort of keep to myself a lot. One experience that I had was my first break up, it crushed me for months. But now I'm back on track, Excited, waiting.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you? My main priorities are my future, I think joining Empire would give me a chance to make a future off of the computer, coding, etc.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining? Giveaways. Giveaways. Giveaways. When I do giveaways I get this feeling of happiness that surges through me, it's amazing. I then bought I33t. Did a few more, got ub3r. Now I'm here. Trying to join The Empire. Another reason I stay on the forum is for the community. I've made tons of friend and I'm excited to progress further!

Anything else you would like to say: Good luck to everyone who applies! It's the last day!

Hey guys, Yoan AKA Aura here ! ?

So I decided to make a video application, as it would be "easier" then typing another whole application. My native language isn't English, so obviously there's parts in the video where I'm trying to find my words and where I'm stuttering, but I hope you guys will still enjoy watch it. I know about 33 minutes long. I tried to make it shorter, but I couldn't manage to do it, I'm sorry. If it's too long and you guys would like a shorter video, I'll do my best to do another one as short as possible. If you don't understand certain on my answers or things I say in my video because of my accent or any other reason, feel free to send me a PM to ask more details or ask me to repeat my answer for a question. If you didn't understand a whole answer for a question, I'll do another video on that question.

Thank you for giving me and other members to opportunity to join The Empire, one of the most HQ group on HackForums that is composed with unique and impressive people.

Enjoy !

Thank you mate ?

To be honest I didn't though I would make it that far. I'm still really far from the level of a lot of people on this forum. But it only motivates me more to learn and to one day get on their level (I have to get on your GNU/Linux skills level, one day, or at least get good enough to have a normal conversation with you about it haha !). I've gone far in what I'm good and I intend to keep it that way, but to also go far in other domains where I'm learning more about at the moment ! Well, I hope you're not the only one to believe that too !

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are:

One of my main skills is Gaming, In my spare time when I'm not at work I like to play FPS games, I recently started looking for a new game and found Urban Terror, I am still currently looking for another competitive game. Other then that I don't really have any skills since google gives me the answers to what I need. Although I do offer my time & friendliness.[/color]

Which section are you most active in and why?

Well I'm not really active in any sections, I just sign in have a quick browse and leave. Its not to often I post on the forums.I'm finding it hard to be more involved with HF, I just don't want to post rubbish. As much as I want to get involved in HF again I just can't seem to find a good way to give back to the community.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?:

After having a conversation with Tibit I found out he is a great guy, I would like to be more involved and I believe I will meet a bunch of great people to communicate with.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?:

Personally I just want to make some close friends so I can provide my time to the group and in the future help out HF in some way.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you:

I work in the industry of Metal Fabrication where I have been for 3+ years. I have been so determined to improve my skillset and becoming a recognized worker.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

Most important to me is my family and work, I believe work is what will make my future and I determined for it to be successful.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on HF after first joining?

I joined HF some years ago, 11-16-2007. Basically I had some time away and just observed the forums. Since I have been back I have found it so hard to be involved in the community. I don't know why I just have. But seeing the forums back then and now is completely different.

Anything else you would like to say:

Thanks for taking the time to read my application if you have any questions personal or not please do send me a message I am willing to answer anything. If anyone is ever up for a chat so am I just shoot us a PM.

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are:

Skills in coding (Python, C/C#/C++, batch, VB.NET, HTML, etc.), I write batch files on a daily basis due to my current job, I have intro level VB from the classroom but learning more to help with my current job. Other computer skills, hardware, along with doing software and programming I also work with actual hardware from building computers to setting up workstations, networking, and very limited helpdesk support. I hold several certifications from Comptia, working on Cisco certs, starting on some certs from Sans, and a cert for CEH

Which section are you most active in and why?

Beginner Hacking, While trying to put some "act right" in the new users trying to get free Facebook accounts hacked all the time, I also try and assist new or experienced users in solving problems by sharing my knowledge.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?:

From what I've seen, you've got legit members, a good rep, and so far nothing but HQ stuff on the daily.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?:

While I'm new here on HF, I still feel I can be a valuable asset to have and a good resource of information.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you:

My first computer experience was on a 286 and ever since then I've been hooked. I'm a traditionalist when it comes to computers and hacking per-say. While I use programs in pentesting I also use self made tools and scripts. I am a student of all forms I strive to learn something new everyday no matter the subject.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

First off I am striving for education, while working full time I am working on college courses for a bachelors degree in computer technology. So college and work is the first priority in life.

Second is my family life I have quite a large family, and an awesome girlfriend whom I strive to to make both a high priority in life.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

While I am a new member here I see potential in many of the new members here that I'd love to mentor.

Anything else you would like to say:

Nothing fancy, I feel that my experience speaks for its self. Not trying to be cocky but giving this a shot seeing where it gets me. Furthermore I'm still learning about your group and what it stands for, and what you do.

Thanks for your time!

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are:

Most prominently I am skilled with graphic design. I am not saying that I am anywhere near the best designer, or even up there, here on HF. Regardless, I do have prevalent skills and I believe I am a good designer. I really enjoy it. I have been accepted to Complexity as a Graphic student, Graphic Masters Student program, and FBN Project B. I have learned a great deal from my experiences in those groups, in addition to all my time here. I believe am very skilled in this area. I also have a considerable amount of skill in front-end web design and various other forms of computer graphics.

Most of my skill is in no particular area of graphic design, but I lean towards forum art more often. I do have some knowledge and understanding of a good logo and believe that I am able to pull off a decent one. I really enjoy web development because of the interactive experience a user is able to have. I feel my designs can go a lot farther when they become something the observer can interact with. I love doing things together also, so anyone else in the group who likes creating graphics can join in with the fun. We can make tags, sites possibly, anything really! I think it would be a fun thing to do if I got accepted to the group. Or even if I don't!

Like I mentioned above, I am reasonably skilled in web design. You are able to take a peek at what I do below. I usually just make sites for my own enjoyment, and don't usually host them. That is why I have such limited examples to share with you. I am proud of those designs though. I'm not saying

I'm the most efficient web designer, because it can take me a while to do some php, but I know my way around html, css, and js pretty well. I am able to offer my services to anyone who would want them in the group. I am at your disposal!

I do know a sufficient amount about blackhat hacking, mostly RATs. I have had my fair share of paid RATs and Crypters. I also have a few good Botnet sources. I generally like to stay away from these kinds of things. I feel it is immoral to do this stuff to people. I don't care if others do it, but I don't want to participate really. I don't really have any proof of this, but I am not saying that this is a prominent skill of mine, just that I know about them :)

I am not by any means a skilled gamer, but it is a great pastime. I love playing with friends of course. Except for Skyrim, I can play that game alone just because it is so fun! My favourite games right now: GTAV, Far Cry 3, Skyrim, Garrys Mod. Those are so much fun to play. Obviously gotta add up everyone of you guys if I get accepted ;)

I use PPD as my main source of cash. I never spend the money I make from my job, I need that for university possible. I also use Youtube ad revenue as a good source of income. I am able to educate people in the group. I can share my experiences and give a few tips. Maybe help people create a few niches if possible. Anything that can get me more involved! I have a bunch of time to chill with you guys over the Christmas break which is sweet. Look at dat cash. Christmas gifts anyone? :p

I can play the musical instruments. If anyone wants to collab on a song. Note I have never made a song before, not saying that I have. But I think it would be fun to create something with other musically talented users of Empire. :)I would love trying something new!

I enjoy being involved in the community along with lending a helping hand to anyone in need. It is fun to see other people's designs for inspiration, technique, and just plain fun! The Lounge is a place where many topics are discussed, so it's hard to stay away from that one. I usually like to browse the RATting section regularly, just to hopefully pick up on a few tricks. I believe you can never stop learning! I've really not posted that much, but I have lurked for a while. I don't always post just to post, if I have something worth saying, by all means, I will say it. I see people post the most pointless shit sometimes. But also, I want to keep my

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?:

I mainly want to join this beautiful group for a few reasons:

Very respected, and I would love to be a part of it.

It can enable me to branch out and meet new people here

I can learn new things and teach others!

Make awesome friends and do fun stuff together!

Gain the ability to access the awesome discussions in The Empire subforum, aswell as contribute to them.

Ok that's more than a few, but whatever. It is a dope group, there is a lot of good things about it. I want to be a part of a group again, I had to leave Complexity for school and FBN Programs got shut down. I've always loved the group aspect of forums. It makes it much more personable. It would be an honour to be a part of this amazing one. Obviously meet and make new friends, that is a given. I want to do shit with you guys. Game, code, design, chat, rap battles :p whatever. Just chilling with the best of the best would be awesome.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?:

I really just want to be a part of this amazing group. Albeit, I am new here, I have so much to offer this group. I just want to come and chill, hang out, get to meet new people and in the process maybe learn a few things and teach a few. I actually don't think I deserve to be in this incredibly prestigious group. I understand how wonderful this group is and will most definitely step up to the plate if I get accepted. I know my profile doesn't show it all, especially compared to the heavy hitters that you already have onboard. I am Ub3r though and hopefully I have proven myself to be an all around chill guy with a lot of potential. I hope to grow exponentially if you accepted me into The Empire. :)

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you:

I am pretty shy. I mean I don't think that I am an introvert, but a shy extrovert. I really like HF because I don't feel like I'm being judged when I'm here. I can just be myself. I'm kind of like your average suburban white kid. I've followed the system ever since I was young. I really want to breakout and do something different. My parents expect me to go to university, but I honestly don't know what I want to do. I just know I want it to be different. I'm not going to lie, nothing really pops out to me as memorable. Maybe I'm not thinking hard enough about it, or maybe my memories have been slurred. I think my parents have had the most influence on my life, just because of their expectations. I get along with them great though, as well as my two brothers. What makes me who I am really is my personality. I am usually really outgoing and fun around people who I know. People say that I am full of energy and always smiling and having a good time. I like that it is something that defines me :)

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

I really enjoy music, friends, family, and probably near the bottom of the list is grades. I've always had good grades. They are important to me, but not always on my mind. I don't stress out about school like some people do. I'm usually pretty chill about it. I believe that grades don't show potential. There are many things that grades cannot measure. Such as social skills, one of the most important skills in the real world. It's not even graded. I don't know what I am doing after high school, so my grades aren't my focus in life. My friends are important to me. Relationships have been on my mind a lot recently. Just keeping them together, and not "burning bridges". Like my real friends then my network friends. In art and design especially. It is important to have a good network of other artists. Sharing work and talking with other artists is something I think about a lot. Freelance work is ~%35 word of mouth (So I've heard) so I really need to stay connected. I forgot to list gaming at the beginning of this, but nonetheless I will append it here. Gaming is fun, I like to play games with friends obviously. I've been liking GTAV lately. It's really fun to play with 2 or three other people. I have PS3 and Xbox 360, I will tell you my GT's if you want to play whenever, that would be sweet! I've recently gotten a gaming PC, so I can play some other games that are going to be extra cheap on the Steam Winter Sale. I've been thinking about Skyrim Legendary edition, just because I hear mods are awesome with it. Usually a high priority is my music. Not that I create it, but recently I've been looking into it. My family is pretty musically inclined, we usually have someone playing something in the house at all times. I usually play the guitar. I've been playing since I was like 3. I'm not the best, but am pretty good. I like rap mostly, but also some pop and obviously Taylor Swift! Woo! Acid rap is so chill right now, it just speaks to me. Love the production on that LP. So good :) I like Drake's new album, he's from my country, so I gotta rep the team :P I'm still undecided about Childish Gambino. His newest Album or LP dropped like a week ago, and I am getting into it a little. Music is a huge priority, I love writing about it too lol! :p If you have time, check this out http://youtu.be/QRv2_zAPrhc?t=6m45. Even if you don't like rap, it is so chill. Love that song. :)

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

I wanted to build up. This place has a great sense of community, even if there are some negative people, I always seem to meet the best guys. Sure I've gotten my fair share of scamming and raging pulled against me, but it does not tarnish this wonderful community that has been built for everyone. HF has taught me so much about Hacking, and Graphics and also myself. I guess I stayed for the amazing amount of knowledge that is here. I'm still relatively new here, but I have been on many forums before. I understand how most things work around here, and I am already Ub3r which is awesome. Now that I am on Christmas break, I have a bunch of time to become really active and start posting some really HQ stuff.

Anything else you would like to say:

Thank you for this opportunity, it would be an honor to be accepted to such a prestigious group. Looking forward to your reply.

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are:

Most prominently I am skilled with graphic design. I am not saying that I am anywhere near the best designer, or even up there, here on HF. Regardless, I do have prevalent skills and I believe I am a good designer. I really enjoy it. I have been accepted to Complexity as a Graphic student, Graphic Masters Student program, and FBN Project B. I have learned a great deal from my experiences in those groups, in addition to all my time here. I believe am very skilled in this area. I also have a considerable amount of skill in front-end web design and various other forms of computer graphics.

Most of my skill is in no particular area of graphic design, but I lean towards forum art more often. I do have some knowledge and understanding of a good logo and believe that I am able to pull off a decent one. I really enjoy web development because of the interactive experience a user is able to have. I feel my designs can go a lot farther when they become something the observer can interact with. I love doing things together also, so anyone else in the group who likes creating graphics can join in with the fun. We can make tags, sites possibly, anything really! I think it would be a fun thing to do if I got accepted to the group. Or even if I don't!

Like I mentioned above, I am reasonably skilled in web design. You are able to take a peek at what I do below. I usually just make sites for my own enjoyment, and don't usually host them. That is why I have such limited examples to share with you. I am proud of those designs though. I'm not saying I'm the most efficient web designer, because it can take me a while to do some php, but I know my way around html, css, and js pretty well. I am able to offer my services to anyone who would want them in the group. I am at your disposal!

I do know a sufficient amount about blackhat hacking, mostly RATs. I have had my fair share of paid RATs and Crypters. I also have a few good Botnet sources. I generally like to stay away from these kinds of things. I feel it is immoral to do this stuff to people. I don't care if others do it, but I don't want to participate really. I don't really have any proof of this, but I am not saying that this is a prominent skill of mine, just that I know about them :)

I am not by any means a skilled gamer, but it is a great pastime. I love playing with friends of course. Except for Skyrim, I can play that game alone just because it is so fun! My favourite games right now: GTAV, Far Cry 3, Skyrim, Garrys Mod. Those are so much fun to play. Obviously gotta add up everyone of you guys if I get accepted ;)

I use PPD as my main source of cash. I never spend the money I make from my job, I need that form university possible. I also use Youtube ad revenue as a good source of income. I am able to educate people in the group. I can share my experiences and give a few tips. Maybe help people create a few niches if possible. Anything that can get me more involved! I have a bunch of time to chill with you guys over the Christmas break which is sweet. Look at dat cash. Christmas gifts anyone? :p

I can play the musical instruments. If anyone wants to collab on a song. Note I have never made a song before, not saying that I have. But I think it would be fun to create something with other musically talented users of Empire. :)I would love trying something new!

I usually post in the graphic related sections for obvious reasons. I really enjoy Rate My Graphic I will usually go there after I check my pms each day. I enjoy being involved in the community along with lending a helping hand to anyone in need. It is fun to see other people's designs for inspiration, technique, and just plain fun! The Lounge is a place where many topics are discussed, so it's hard to stay away from that one. I usually like to browse the RATting section regularly, just to hopefully pick up on a few tricks. I believe you can never stop learning! I've really not posted that much, but I have lurked for a while. I don't always post just to post, if I have something worth saying, by all means, I will say it. I see people post the most pointless shit sometimes. But also, I want to keep my posts HQ. Just because I don't have a lot, doesn't mean they aren't worth nothing.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?:

I mainly want to join this beautiful group for a few reasons:

Very respected, and I would love to be a part of it.

It can enable me to branch out and meet new people here

I can learn new things and teach others!

Make awesome friends and do fun stuff together!

Gain the ability to access the awesome discussions in The Empire subforum, aswell as contribute to them.

Ok that's more than a few, but whatever. It is a dope group, there is a lot of good things about it. I want to be a part of a group again, I had to leave Complexity for school and FBN Programs got shut down. I've always loved the group aspect of forums. It makes it much more personable. It would be an honour to be a part of this amazing one. Obviously meet and make new friends, that is a given. I want to do shit with you guys. Game, code, design, chat, rap battles :p whatever. Just chilling with the best of the best would be awesome.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?:

I really just want to be a part of this amazing group. Albeit, I am new here, I have so much to offer this group. I just want to come and chill, hang out, get to meet new people and in the process maybe learn a few things and teach a few. I actually don't think I deserve to be in this incredibly prestigious group. I understand how wonderful this group is and will most definitely step up to the plate if I get accepted. I know my profile doesn't show it all, especially compared to the heavy hitters that you already have onboard. I am Ub3r though and hopefully I have proven myself to be an all around chill guy with a lot of potential. I hope to grow exponentially if you accepted me into The Empire. :)

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you:

I am pretty shy. I mean I don't think that I am an introvert, but a shy extrovert. I really like HF because I don't feel like I'm being judged when I'm here. I can just be myself. I'm kind of like your average suburban white kid. I've followed the system ever since I was young. I really want to breakout and do something different. My parents expect me to go to university, but I honestly don't know what I want to do. I just know I want it to be different. I'm not going to lie, nothing really pops out to me as memorable. Maybe I'm not thinking hard enough about it, or maybe my memories have been slurred. I think my parents have had the most influence on my life, just because of their expectations. I get along with them great though, as well as my two brothers. What makes me who I am really is my personality. I am usually really outgoing and fun around people who I know. People say that I am full of energy and always smiling and having a good time. I like that it is something that defines me :)

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

I really enjoy music, friends, family, and probably near the bottom of the list is grades. I've always had good grades. They are important to me, but not always on my mind. I don't stress out about school like some people do. I'm usually pretty chill about it. I believe that grades don't show potential. There are many things that grades cannot measure. Such as social skills, one of the most important skills in the real world. It's not even graded. I don't know what I am doing after high school, so my grades aren't my focus in life. Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are:

Well I have various skills, I am at college doing website development but that also has other courses in it such as programming.

Website Development

Well I have been interested in website development since I was around 11. I started using free website creators just so I could get a feel of what it was like to actually create a website, after some time I became aware that html was not as easy as I thought it was so I set my goal out to learn that and after I was able to code in html I began making sites and once done I would have 3 people review it and make suggestions. Once I received my feedback I would create a new site for them to compare. I believe that website development is my strongest skill as I have been doing it for so long.

Programming

I started programming when I was about 14 making basic things like calculators and random number generators. I then began to look on the web to find tutorials on how to make harder and more useful programs which I then started on. On my college course I take a programming class once per week meaning I get to advance my skills in that area while not in my own time which is great as I love to learn new things.

Graphics

I would not say that graphics is my strongest point but I have been learning for a few months and had some friends who teach me new things about Photoshop and generally help me when ever they have free time. I have spent some good time in the graphics sections here just reading tutorials and getting better at doing graphics, I would not say I am good but at a standard level.

Gaming

I am not sure if you would call it a skill but I have been gaming since I was about 4 years old and have played so many games on the Xbox 360 (I have over 150 games) and I can help anyone who needs help on games may it be a singleplayer or a multiplayer. Just to say how sad I am, on Fallout 3 I can tell you where every raider will spawn, what he/she will say, look like and what weapon they will have.

Learning

I would say this is a skill and its one I am very good at, I spend endless hours learning new things, when someone is teaching me something new I can't contain but ask questions and I just love to be able to further my skills in what ever way I can. Learning something I have never seen or heard of is amazing and I put my full attention on that new subject until it is complete or I have a good understanding in it.

Which section are you most active in and why?

The three I am active the most in is The Lounge, Beginner Hacking and HF l33t OT Discussions.

The Lounge

I am active the most in the lounge as its a general area to meet and greet members, there is always discussions that catch my attention as they seem to have great thread titles. I enjoy to read peoples stories in there and if its a real life issue I am more than happy to assist that user by giving advice or having a look on the web regarding their issue and trying to point them to a solution.

Beginner Hacking

Well on a daily basis I see a lot of people joining the forums and asking questions like "how do I kick people off xbox live" and "how do I hack Facebook accounts". Reading these threads I am more than happy to point them to the correct programs/sales threads in the hope that they meet their final desire.

HF L33T OT Discussions

I post a lot in here as there is many good threads and as you make know the lounge where we can all chat away and help each other. I love this section as you always meet people who just upgraded their accounts and its nice to meet new donors to the site.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?:

Well I would like to join The Empire as I would have the ability to meet new people and I would also like to participate in group projects and/or discussions and I like the look of the group, it is very High Quality and its one of the main groups I look up to due to the activity level and dedication the members have put into it.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?:

Well currently I am working on a few threads in notepad for both Programming and Website Development, I believe that it would be good for The Empire to be popping up in more and more sections. Within the sub section I would produce atleast one high quality thread per week/every second week and I would attempt to help users when I can.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you:

Currently I am a 16 year old boy who is at College studying Website Development, I enjoy to use forums on a daily basis (spend about 4 hours per day on HF) and I enjoy to game. I am keen to learn new skills and I spend a lot of time reading eBooks in the tutorial section to further my knowledge in the hacking world.

I would say I am a nice easy person to speak to, if you have a question or dislike a comment I made/make I would be happy to hear why you dislike it and I would attempt to change it to seem more reasonable and not be disrespectful. I always treat people with the same respect I want to be treated with.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

My main priority in life is my Family as they have stood by me when I have been in some hard positions. I do the best I can to help my family when they are in need of it. Second to that would come education and learning, as you may have read I am a keen learner. Then it would be my friends who are the third main priority in my life currently.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

When I joined Hack Forums I left the community, no idea why. I returned in February of this year (2013) and began to look into the hacking scene, since then I have made 2000+ posts and I have become more aware of how hackers work and I have learned all the different threats on the web that can be used to ultimately hack people. I also love the fact that Hack Forums is a community that will not die out any time soon meaning this will remain my home for a long long time.

Anything else you would like to say:

I am currently working on a few threads I plan to post sometime before/after Christmas, I have other threads made that I plan to post, some of these I put 2+ hours into just as I did for this application.

Long Live The Empire!

Hey guys, Yoan AKA Aura here ! ?

So I decided to make a video application, as it would be "easier" then typing another whole application. My native language isn't English, so obviously there's parts in the video where I'm trying to find my words and where I'm stuttering, but I hope you guys will still enjoy watch it. I know about 33 minutes long. I tried to make it shorter, but I couldn't manage to do it, I'm sorry. If it's too long and you guys would like a shorter video, I'll do my best to do another one as short as possible. If you don't understand certain on my answers or things I say in my video because of my accent or any other reason, feel free to send me a PM to ask more details or ask me to repeat my answer for a question. If you didn't understand a whole answer for a question, I'll do another video on that question.

Thank you for giving me and other members to opportunity to join The Empire, one of the most HQ group on HackForums that is composed with unique and impressive people.

Enjoy !

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are: Mainly, outside Hack Forums, I am a student. I am trying to complete high school, but also make a difference in the world around me. I am smart and well rounded. I can help with RAT, Whitehat issues, BlackHat, Social Media, and Homework help. I work very well with younger kids who are struggling.

Which section are you most active in and why? I am most active in the lounges because I love talking and responding to topics of all kinds. I personally love meeting new people and talking with them. Life would be boring if you talked to the same people all the time. But, I do not just place my time in this one section. I enjoy scrolling through the new posts and seeing where I can help.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?: I want to join The Empire because of the community it has that I always hear about. I always hear positive things about the group, and I feel I could help keep that positive vibe flowing. My goal is to make the world a better place to live for all humans, and I think The Empire will help me accomplish my goal within the HF community. Empire has been the group I have wanted to join since day one on Hack Forum, and now I am trying to complete my goal. Empire seems like an awesome community with people willing to accept my lifestyle. Thanks for being who you are.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?: I know I am not the most vouched or repped member on HF, but I feel as if I am trust worthy. You can probably tell by my personality what I value, so stealing, scamming, and lying is not me. You can think what you want. I feel as if everyone deserves a fighting chance, so this could be my chance.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you: Personally, outside video games and Hack Forums, I absolutely love helping people, and helping the community around me. As stated above, I especially love helping the inner city, where the help is most needed. During the summer, I volunteer at a hospital nearby. I also love wakeboarding, water skiing, and spending time with my friends. I am a junior at high school in Chattanooga, Tennessee. After high school, I plan to attend the University of Vanderbilt, and major in Medicine.

On Fall Break, I travel to a Homeless shelter in Asheville, NC to learn more about the reality of life. The life in which we live in is filled with an abundant amount of blessing. I try to get a grip of life and help out with the people who are falling on hard times. While there, I attend AA and Narcotics Anonymous meetings to learn what it is like for people with addictive diseases controlling their lives. Life is crazy, so I am trying to view all walks of it.

This spring, I am headed to orphanages in Kingston, Jamaica to see what life is like in an almost third world country. But, while I am on HF, I try and keep my humanitarian personality in tact. I love helping people, answering questions, leaving vouches with people that deserve them, and just hanging out.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you? First off, I am a humanitarian. The most important thing to me, bottom line, is equality for all. I treat everyone with upmost respect. Everyone deserves a fighting chance, and I am a firm believer in that. Many of the children I work with on a daily basis in the inner city are told that their lives are nothing, and they will be nothing. Everyday I am trying to prove to them that life has so much instore for them, and to not fall down. I do not party, drink, or smoke. At school, I am the prude.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining? I joining Hack Forums I wanted to stay active because of the people here. While some are not my type, I overall enjoy the community here very much. Then, I purchased L33T at 50 posts to insure that I would stay active. I tend to post 10 to 20 times a day, helping others, and this keeps me active. I get this sense of enjoyment in helping others, so why not continue it on the Internet. Hack Forums is an awesome place, how can you not stay active.

Anything else you would like to say: Lastly, Thank you so much for your time in reading my Application to The Empire! Feel free to PM me if you have any questions!

Most of my skill is in no particular area of graphic design, but I lean towards forum art more often. I do have some knowledge and understanding of a good logo and believe that I am able to pull off a decent one. I really enjoy web development because of the interactive experience a user is able to have. I feel my designs can go a lot farther when they become something the observer can interact with. I love doing things together also, so anyone else in the group who likes creating graphics can join in with the fun. We can make tags, sites possibly, anything really! I think it would be a fun thing to do if I got accepted to the group. Or even if I don't!

Like I mentioned above, I am reasonably skilled in web design. You are able to take a peek at what I do below. I usually just make sites for my own enjoyment, and don't usually host them. That is why I have such limited examples to share with you. I am proud of those designs though. I'm not saying I'm the most efficient web designer, because it can take me a while to do some php, but I know my way around html, css, and js pretty well. I am able to offer my services to anyone who would want them in the group. I am at your disposal!

I do know a sufficient amount about blackhat hacking, mostly RATs. I have had my fair share of paid RATs and Crypters. I also have a few good Botnet sources. I generally like to stay away from these kinds of things. I feel it is immoral to do this stuff to people. I don't care if others do it, but I don't want to participate really. I don't really have any proof of this, but I am not saying that this is a prominent skill of mine, just that I know about them :)

I am not by any means a skilled gamer, but it is a great pastime. I love playing with friends of course. Except for Skyrim, I can play that game alone just because it is so fun! My favourite games right now: GTAV, Far Cry 3, Skyrim, Garrys Mod. Those are so much fun to play. Obviously gotta add up everyone of you guys if I get accepted ;)

I use PPD as my main source of cash. I never spend the money I make from my job, I need that for university possible. I also use Youtube ad revenue as a good source of income. I am able to educate people in the group. I can share my experiences and give a few tips. Maybe help people create a few niches if possible. Anything that can get me more involved! I have a bunch of time to chill with you guys over the Christmas break which is sweet. Look at dat cash. Christmas gifts anyone? :p

I can play the musical instruments. If anyone wants to collab on a song. Note I have never made a song before, not saying that I have. But I think it would be fun to create something with other musically talented users of Empire. :)I would love trying something new!

I usually post in the graphic related sections for obvious reasons. I really enjoy Rate My Graphic I will usually go there after I check my pms each day. I enjoy being involved in the community along with lending a helping hand to anyone in need. It is fun to see other people's designs for inspiration, technique, and just plain fun! The Lounge is a place where many topics are discussed, so it's hard to stay away from that one. I usually like to browse the RATting section regularly, just to hopefully pick up on a few tricks. I believe you can never stop learning! I've really not posted that much, but I have lurked for a while. I don't always post just to post, if I have something worth saying, by all means, I will say it. I see people post the most pointless shit sometimes. But also, I want to keep my posts HQ. Just because I don't have a lot, doesn't mean they aren't worth nothing.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?:

I mainly want to join this beautiful group for a few reasons:

Very respected, and I would love to be a part of it.

It can enable me to branch out and meet new people here

I can learn new things and teach others!

Make awesome friends and do fun stuff together!

Gain the ability to access the awesome discussions in The Empire subforum, aswell as contribute to them.

Ok that's more than a few, but whatever. It is a dope group, there is a lot of good things about it. I want to be a part of a group again, I had to leave Complexity for school and FBN Programs got shut down. I've always loved the group aspect of forums. It makes it much more personable. It would be an honour to be a part of this amazing one. Obviously meet and make new friends, that is a given. I want to do shit with you guys. Game, code, design, chat, rap battles :p whatever. Just chilling with the best of the best would be awesome.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?:

I really just want to be a part of this amazing group. Albeit, I am new here, I have so much to offer this group. I just want to come and chill, hang out, get to meet new people and in the process maybe learn a few things and teach a few. I actually don't think I deserve to be in this incredibly prestigious group. I understand how wonderful this group is and will most definitely step up to the plate if I get accepted. I know my profile doesn't show it all, especially compared to the heavy hitters that you already have onboard. I am Ub3r though and hopefully I have proven myself to be an all around chill guy with a lot of potential. I hope to grow exponentially if you accepted me into The Empire. :)

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you:

I am pretty shy. I mean I don't think that I am an introvert, but a shy extrovert. I really like HF because I don't feel like I'm being judged when I'm here. I can just be myself. I'm kind of like your average suburban white kid. I've followed the system ever since I was young. I really want to breakout and do something different. My parents expect me to go to university, but I honestly don't know what I want to do. I just know I want it to be different. I'm not going to lie, nothing really pops out to me as memorable. Maybe I'm not thinking hard enough about it, or maybe my memories have been slurred. I think my parents have had the most influence on my life, just because of their expectations. I get along with them great though, as well as my two brothers. What makes me who I am really is my personality. I am usually really outgoing and fun around people who I know. People say that I am full of energy and always smiling and having a good time. I like that it is something that defines me :)

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

I really enjoy music, friends, family, and probably near the bottom of the list is grades. I've always had good grades. They are important to me, but not always on my mind. I don't stress out about school like some people do. I'm usually pretty chill about it. I believe that grades don't show potential. There are many things that grades cannot measure. Such as social skills, one of the most important skills in the real world. It's not even graded. I don't know what I am doing after high school, so my grades aren't my focus in life. My friends are important to me. Relationships have been on my mind a lot recently. Just keeping them together, and not "burning bridges". Like my real friends then my network friends. In art and design especially. It is important to have a good network of other artists. Sharing work and talking with other artists is something I think about a lot. Freelance work is ~%35 word of mouth (So I've heard) so I really need to stay connected. I forgot to list gaming at the beginning of this, but nonetheless I will append it here. Gaming is fun, I like to play games with friends obviously. I've been liking GTAV lately. It's really fun to play with 2 or three other people. I have PS3 and Xbox 360, I will tell you my GT's if you want to play whenever, that would be sweet! I've recently gotten a gaming PC, so I can play some other games that are going to be extra cheap on the Steam Winter Sale. I've been thinking about Skyrim Legendary edition, just because I hear mods are awesome with it. Usually a high priority is my music. Not that I create it, but recently I've been looking into it. My family is pretty musically inclined, we usually have someone playing something in the house at all times. I usually play the guitar. I've been playing since I was like 3. I'm not the best, but am pretty good. I like rap mostly, but also some pop and obviously Taylor Swift! Woo! Acid rap is so chill right now, it just speaks to me. Love the production on that LP. So good :) I like Drake's new album, he's from my country, so I gotta rep the team :P I'm still undecided about Childish Gambino. His newest Album or LP dropped like a week ago, and I am getting into it a little. Music is a huge priority, I love writing about it too lol! :p If you have time, check this out http://youtu.be/QRv2_zAPrhc?t=6m45. Even if you don't like rap, it is so chill. Love that song. :)

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

I wanted to build up. This place has a great sense of community, even if there are some negative people, I always seem to meet the best guys. Sure I've gotten my fair share of scamming and raging pulled against me, but it does not tarnish this wonderful community that has been built for everyone. HF has taught me so much about Hacking, and Graphics and also myself. I guess I stayed for the amazing amount of knowledge that is here. I'm still relatively new here, but I have been on many forums before. I understand how most things work around here, and I am already Ub3r which is awesome. Now that I am on Christmas break, I have a bunch of time to become really active and start posting some really HQ stuff.

Anything else you would like to say:

Thank you for this opportunity, it would be an honor to be accepted to such a prestigious group. Looking forward to your reply.

This is probably my favorite application.
Only flaw I see is that you don't seem to post very much! ?

But eh, post count isn't everything, just a gesture of activeness.

Cleveland Brown - December 21, 2013, 6:14 pm

I'm looking at everyone's applications and i'm starting to doubt mine :(hopefully I still get picked.

Programming:

I've been into programming for a long time actually. It started when I was 9 years old. I downloaded Visual Studio to my netbook, and starting hacking away viciously at tutorials on VB.NET. I soon made a web browser, mp3 player and some other programs. I lost them all, I corrupted the install of Windows when I was messing around and we reset my netbook. I now use a custom built gaming desktop.

Graphic Design:

I started out with Photoshop v7.0. I used it about as advanced as someone could use paint. I was a noob. A flat out, noob. After about three years of real practice starting in sixth grade, and a graphic art course in middle school my seventh grade year, I started to pick up on what Graphic Design really was. This year, I've been challenging myself, looking at tutorials, different styles, etc. By no means am I the best, but I guess I know some stuff.

Photography:

I'm getting a new camera, a Nikon D3100 or D3200, but I've been using a D3000 for a long time, and have loved taking photos of... everything. When I go on a hike, vacation or anywhere practically, I try to get a nice shot, and I've been working for a while, and soon I'll be able to start taking some nice photos with my new camera.

Debating:

I've always been a debater. Ever since I was in seventh grade and joined the school's speech and debate team, I've been able to do public speaking, and debate topics very well. No, I don't debate politics, I find it boring, but morals, religion and a lot of other stuff, I love to debate. Anything except for politics. Every now and then I will debate a politician, law or something of the sort, but it's not a normal thing to be debating over for me. I'm trying to get into the Science & Religion section now that I have more time. You'll see me debating there soon.

Writing:

I'm a picky guy, so obviously I re-write a lot of things. Between speeches, creative writing, letters, articles, editorials, persuasive writing, etc. I'm into it. If I sit down, and truly write, I can do a pretty good job. I've always been the guy to get an A in English, and on any writing assignment. I'm even working on a horror story right now.

Gaming:

I've played a lot of games like Call of Duty, Minecraft and more. I love FPS games. I've also played a lot of NES games, and 2D games of the sort. Anyway game for the most part, I like. I'm pretty good with them, and I love the Portal series and those kind of games. I don't have an Xbox at the moment though. I do PC.

Which section are you most active in and why?

The Lounge:

I love laid back discussion. I swear, the lounge is a lot like my family conversation, or it's like speaking with my friends. It's laid back, and very easy subjects to talk about.

Graphics Section (As a whole):

I'm into Photography, Graphic Design and I love to see/rate other's work. That's about it for that.

Groups and Crew General Discussions:

I love this section. It's fun to hang out in, although my post count is a little low in here, I like this section.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?:

I find The Empire to be one of the most respectable and nicest groups on HF. I know a few people in it, and they're awesome. It seems like an awesome community, with a lot of attributes and things I'd love. It sounds like a great group to be in, and I can't think of one I'd rather be in.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?:

I'm a mature and experienced member of HF. I know a lot about computers, debating and programming. I'm knowledgeable about a lot of academic subjects as-well, and strive to stay HQ as I can. I'm not here to post worthless garbage in my application to be accepted, I'm being 100% honest, and I feel like it's a group for me to be in. It's a respectable group run by respectable people. I've done my best to give back, and am hoping to do a contest soon. Maybe an upgrade contest? If I'm going to do anything great for the forum, I'd love to do it in the name of The Empire.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you:

For starters, I'm 14, go by Storm or Fox™ online and I love education. I love to learn new things, and teach others. I've been enjoying my web development courses, and Java course. I've got a good amount of skills, but they all came from how I grew up. When I was little, I was obsessed with computers, cameras and anything electronic. I was playing with circuits by age three.

There's not a ton to say other than that, but I can say that I also grew up in a wonderful house-hold. I've got a family and parents that love me. I've got a sister as-well; we're twins. I've got three cats (two inside, one outside) and a dog, I will make a thread in Pet Peeves showing pictures of her soon

C;.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

My priorities for the most part can be considered straight. I've done a lot of community service, and charity work, but right now, my priorities lie in my studies and programming. I'm working towards a scholarship, and am doing my best to get straight A's. I'm looking to go into an IT field, or Education.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

Well, I first joined HF because a friend of mine, AnxZiety sent me his referral link and asked if I wanted to join HF. I joined, and forgot about it for a while. About eight months later I ran into HF again, and got active. I was soon upgraded to L33t in a contest, and a few months later, I applied for Ub3r, and bought it the day of my approval.

Anything else you would like to say:

I'd like to thank The Empire for hosting this recruitment. I've only been in Skill so far, and I'd love to be in this prestigious group. I'm very mature, and almost a Straight-A student. I love what I do, and take passion in it. I do my best to be trustworthy, and... Long live The Empire!

Regards,

~ Fox™ ?

I'd love to be accepted, and wish all applicants good luck, and a pre-congrats to anyone who is accepted!

Note: I'd love to be able to add a nice design but I'm on a different PC, and don't have a GPU that can handle Photoshop PNG rendering to that scale, or for the matter, have Photoshop.

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are:

My Skills Vary. I mainly enjoy to code. I know 9 coding languages, including: Java, HTML, CSS, Javascript, jQuery, Ajax, PHP, Ruby on Rails, and Python. Among my programming skills, I know to find and exploit an array vulnerabilities in web applications. In school the other day I got $540 worth of content (that I actually wanted) for reporting a reflected XSS vulnerability.

Which section are you most active in and why?

I am most active in the RAT section, as I find it easy and I enjoy helping other members in the art.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?:

I have always seen the group posting HQ content, and I want to extend the high standard of the group

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?:

I actively contribute to my current groups and of course, always stay HQ.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you:

I started on the internet when I was about 10 years old and I started to code when I was 12. I have always been a business man, throughout my life. In middle school I made several hundred dollars selling Rubix cubes and Pencils to people. When I was in the 7th grade, I started my own business on Ebay and made $2k with a month.

I have personally always been interested in modding/hacking. When I was 10 years old I jailbroke my iPod and created custom applications and themes for it. I even replaced the digitizer myself once I broke the screen. I have a modded Wii, and I also use to mod in Call of Duty.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

My priorities in life are simple. I simply want to be Successful. I work hard to get good grades, even being 2 years ahead in academics as I am.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

Learning. I have simply learnt so much among my activity on the site. I just see it as a massive recourse for knowledge from other members.

Anything else you would like to say:

I think I would be a great addition to your group and I will do my best to make the group better with my arrival and contributions.

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are: I am an avid coder of C++ and used to script batch. I also play euphonium in my band. I can talk people to get around their problems.

Which section are you most active in and why? C++ & CLI because that's where all my buddies are.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?: I'd like to be legitimately accepted into a real group for once.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?: I'd like to converse with other Empire members about C/C++ and such.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you: When I was (around) 8 years old, I started to script VBScript and Batch. Of course back then I was somewhat a skid. Skipping seven years of bullshit here. In June of 2013, I wrote a really nasty letter to "express my feelings", which my psychiatrist told me to do. My parents read it and got worried, and sent me to a metal hospital, you know, the ones where the doors are electromagnetically locked, and the windows are bolted down to the sill, they take away everything that you could hurt/kill yourself with (including your shoelaces, obviously). Yea, that shithouse. Well anyways, so I was in there for ten days and had a 6'5" roommate (I thought he was going to kill me in my sleep) for half the time. I knew how to get out of there, so I played the game. I told my "doctor" that I was better and feel fucking awesome and all that shit, and got out, finally. During that incident, I started to take 10mg Abilify, which just zombied me out for the whole day. I'd sleep like 10+ hours in the daytime. Skipping another half a month of bullshit here. I went to a day hospital (one where you actually go home after the day) called New Dimensions. There I played the game further and "graduated" out of the hospital after seven weeks of bullshitting my way through all their "therapy" (which is totally worthless). After that, I stopped attending the groups and went on with my life. (HackForums was really the only thing keeping me going then.) Eventually my parents divorced and

I moved with my mother to a town way, way off from where my father lives now. My mother got me to meet with another psychotherapist located about six miles from my house. I bullshitted my way through again and told my mother there was never going to be a treatment/cure for me. There's no "happy pill" to make you elated all the fucking time. After a month of not going to therapy, she found me yet another therapist about 26 miles from my house. I've been going there ever since that, and to this day I regret writing that damn letter.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you? School mostly. HackForums comes second. Social comes in dead last.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining? The nice members and helpful tutorials.

Anything else you would like to say: Yes, I made an 8-minute-long YouTube application, but my shitty-ass laptop can't handle a decent upload rate, so I just decided to post this. Thanks for opening the recruitment, Tibit.

Age: 18

Gender: Male

Religion: Atheist

State/Country: Australia

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are:

My skillset is more academically based than the majority of HF, I have little/no coding ability at the present time, however I have a passion for Astronomy, Law, Philosophy at times and for quickly picking new skillsets. I would also consider myself quite a capable gamer, and I get along with others easily for the most part.

I'm proficient in English, including proper use of grammar, spelling and punctuation. I'm also able to quickly adapt to new situations and to think on my feet. I would also say that one of my strengths is aiding others when in need during a personal or private crisis, as a few of my friends have had real-life emergencies and conflicts crop up that they didn't feel they could handle alone. I'd go further into depth, but I would rather not do so publicly, to protect their privacy.

Which section are you most active in and why?

I was most active in my previous group, Skill, whilst it was around (now I have 937 Junk Posts), however now I am most active in the Gamertags area due to the fact that I used to keep up to date daily on the Gamertags market. That is, however, not reflective of my current interests. I'm looking to get more active across the board in the Lounge and Gaming areas, and possibly pick up some Webmastery, Hacking and Coding tips along the way. The only Marketplace area I frequent regularly these days is the Domain area.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?:

I feel like the Empire is a family moreso than a group, and it seems to maintain a high standard that I would love to be a part of. I'm not after the userbar, or to be in a group for the sake of being in a group, but I want to be a part of the family that is the members of The Empire.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?:

During my time in Skill, around 60-70% of my posts were contributing to the sub-forum (without spamming), and I feel that such a feat demonstrates my ability to give myself to, and remain loyal to whichever group(s) I am a part of. I feel that throughout my tenure on HackForums, I've remained a relatively approachable user who is able to help resolve disputes or help give advice as needed. I therefore feel that I deserve to join The Empire, and that I would be an asset to the group.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you:

I would consider myself a fairly cautious person in all aspects of my life. I'm not sure where it comes from, but from triple checking my timetable before going to my next class in high school to being a really cautious driver, I'm always double-checking my work and surroundings. That's not to say I don't miss things or am perfect, because I do, and I'm not. My passions, as stated above, are Law, Astronomy, PC Hardware (didn't mention that above) and Philosophy at times. I thoroughly enjoy an intelligent debate also.

I'm generally a happy person, however I often stress out in high-importance situations. I don't necessarily perform badly in them, but I have low self-confidence when it comes to self-assessments about how I may have done in any such situation. Self-reports are something I loathe due to the fact that I'm always hesitant when treading the fine line between saying how you honestly feel you went and not wanting to appear overly cocky or displaying a significant lack of self-confidence.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

The most important thing to me is to succeed whilst enjoying myself. If that means sacrificing opportunities that might further me financially, then in many cases I will. Enjoyment is paramount within reason. There isn't any point in my eyes in being rich or successful if you've hated getting there.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

I stayed on HackForums after my initial joining due to the immense activity - it ensured that there was always a new thread, a new post, a new message to read. Constantly something new to discover. These days I stay due to the fact that it's almost a home for me - somewhere to check in on what everybody else is up to and share my thoughts from time to time. It doesn't hurt that the marketplace is booming compared to many other forum sites, and that there are an abundance of tutorials. I also like how the owner of HackForums is so dedicated to his website.

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are: I have numerous skills and it would take way too long to list them all but here are some prime examples. Marketing, writing, gaming, debating, malware, programming and web design.

Marketing is something I am passionate about and I sell countless products, specializing in E-Book specifically. A crypter and Turbo program will be launched within a week or two though. I currently study business and hope to go on to get a degree in the subject too.

Writing is obviously a key asset in the current world so I have taken the time to hone my skills and produce quality when I write. There's not a lot I can say as writing is writing at the end of the day, I could use this to write guides and tutorials for Empire though.

Gaming is a section I'm passionate about and is my most active tab as it were on HF. I'm a PC gamer at heart and have been brought up as a PC gamer. I also use consoles, mainly the 360. I think I'm one of the only people to actually buy a WiiU too, which is cool I guess?

Debating I guess could be classed as a skill as it takes knowledge to be able to have a sensible and rational discussion. I can keep my cool and have a real debate with just about anyone without losing my temper etc.

A great friend of mine has taught me a lot about malware and thus, know quite a bit. By no means, everything but still quite a lot. I understand how R.A.T's work and also keyloggers.

Programming is similar to web development in the sense it's something I'm looking into and interested in. I'm learning Python and PHP at the moment and have been taking online courses for Python.

Web design would be a skill too I suppose although I'm not particularly amazing at it. If you recall I actually did a web application last time. I spent a week on it. I would have done the same for this application but as today is the last day and I was banned all week, I don't have time.

Which section are you most active in and why?: Ironically my most active section is Empire with close to a thousand posts in it. I was in the group as you may recall until the recent purge. I PM'd multiple leaders if I could be added back and I was just referred to each leader which ended up in being ignored. Kind of mean. Other than that my most active section would be the gaming tab in general. I'm an avid PC gamer and will play just about anything. The main games I play are CSS, BF4 and CoD.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?:

Seeing as though I've been in it for almost a year I know better than anyone how amazing of a group it is. It has the warm energy of a family hence why I would like to rejoin. I know I can get a long with the members in the group and I miss the discussions.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?:

As you can see from almost 1000 posts in the group I was active in it and loved my time in Empire. I've developed as a member thanks to the Empire and feel it could still benefit me greatly as well as vice versa. I can offer the group, knowledge, help and support.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you:

Well my real name is Michael. When I was young my father passed away so for the first four years of my childhood I had no father figure. At this age, it didn't really bother me as I wasn't old enough to grasp the concept of needing one. Then, when I was four and a bit my mother remarried and I gained the amazing father I have today. He's works in IT the same as my mother so as you can guess from a young age computers were kind of forced upon me. By age six I was already into gaming on the PC. I remember my dad showing me Unreal Tournament 2004 and since then, I've always been into PC gaming. Anyway, I'm getting off topic.

My father is the kind of guy to stick by his morals. He also really helps me out with pretty much everything. When he was at school, he used to bunk off class a lot and failed most of his exams, because of this it was hard for him to get to where he is now so he's always on to me about needing to get what I need to achieve further in life as he doesn't want the same for me.

I know it's pretty hard to understand and poorly written but I guess it kind of sums up why I am how I am and why I always strive to do the best. I'd go into more detail but some stuff is a bit too private.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

It's all about family for me. A few may say I'm driven by money but the money I do earn is saved for supporting myself and my family. That is why I do what I do on here. To save to support myself and family. Career would be next as I was told from a young age that it's vital to life so I do focus a lot on how I can improve myself as a human being.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

It was mostly because of how easy it is to post and be active in a discussion. Other forums you might have to jump through 50 hoops, here, you post and wait for a reply. I just loved how easy it all was. After a few friends of mine, Shocking and UKF, joined I decided to stay. It was around this time I purchased L33t which was the point of no return, and ever since I've been active.

Anything else you would like to say:

No other than I hope to see you all again in the sub-forum and hopefully some new face. Thanks for reading my application.

Which section are you most active in and why?

Begginer Hacking (Because I love helping the begginers, even though I'm not that experienced myself, haha.)
But, I'm mostly in the Graphics Zone. Free or Paid Graphic Requests.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?:

Empire is one of the best groups on Hack Forums and all of its members are HQ, therefore I want to be one of them.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?:

I might not be one of the best candidates, but I always try to contibute to the community and help my fellow members.

My name is Alex and I come from Macedonia, a small but a beautiful contry in Europe. I'm someone who has high expectations for my results. I am confident in my ability to produce, and while I prepare for the worst, I do the work necessary to tilt the odds so that the best will happen. I want to be judged by individual performance and rewarded for my efforts based on my ability. I want to join your group, because I want to expand my knowledge and grow even more. I'm a hard working guy and I always aim to keep a great communication between me and the other members. Unlike some other members, I'm always positive and I'm willing to execute different tasks, no matter the difficulty. I always take full responsibility for my actions, whether they are right or wrong. I would rather look at what I can improve upon the next time around.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

My priorities in life .. I want to be a successful and happy person. Not just in a selfish way (And I do separate Happiness from pleasure), but in a universal way.

Personally, Making other people happy makes me happy, observing nature, falling in love..

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are:

Marketing/Monetizing

I first joined HackForums with the intention of making money, back in November of 2013. I was lost, didn't know how to make a single penny online. But, I was relentless. I tried countless numbers of methods, eBooks, and ideas given to me by other members, either for free or by purchase. After spending hundreds of dollars on non-working methods, I decided to try my hand at Pay-Per-Download. I started off small, but worked my way up to $10, $25, and eventually up to my peak of $75 a day. I have made a total of $3,500 off PPD/CPA in the past, but have since retired from it to try my hand at eBooks. Truth be told, I was always interested in creating a product here on HF that people would love. I wanted to be that eBook seller that had pages and pages of replies, filled with positive reviews and happy customers. And so, on the 4th of July, 2013, I posted my very first eBook, The Ultimate PPD Crash Course. I included everything (and I mean everything) I knew about PPD inside the package, to get as many happy customers as possible. I only got around $100 in sales, but the positive reviews I got from the large majority of my customers has since made me want to create eBooks of the highest quality. To this date I have made around $2,000 with my eBooks sales, across various eBooks.

Coding/Programming:

Although I do not have a large amount of experience, in the past I have learned a decent amount of HTML/CSS, Python, and VB.NET. Not going to lie, my main reason to learn to code was to learn how to code some form or program, such as a RAT or a crypter, and sell it here on HF for a profit.

However, I soon learned that this would take months of learning, and instead of simply doing it for the money, I soon began to love coding just for the fun of it. While I do dedicate the majority of my time to marketing and monetizing, I do enjoy programming every now and then just for fun.

Gaming:

I think every single application in this thread has this category, so why not? I wouldn't consider myself a dedicated or "hardcore" gamer, as of right now gaming is meant for me to stay in touch with friends. I currently host a small 25 slot Teamspeak server for my friends, those I know in real life and not, where we play various games such as League of Legends, Minecraft, Trials Evolution, and more. Many nights we stay up into the wee hours of the morning, gaming together and having a great time. While it is not something I spend a lot of my time on, gaming is something that has allowed me to gain new friendships and maintain current ones.

Which section are you most active in and why?

When I was involved with PPD/CPA I was most active in that respective section as I loved learning from more experienced members, as well as teaching newcomers. I now spend most of my time in the Monetizing Techniques section as well as the Marketplace, as I enjoy making money, and learning new ways to do it. I also spend a decent amount of time in The Lounge, as it is a good place to relax and just talk to other people without any drama.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?:

Truth be told, I first recognized The Empire when I saw Peter L (Now L Marketing) selling The Proxy Project. I soon saw the high-quality content The Empire was putting out on a regular basis, and I strived to achieve this level of dedication and committed to HackForums. Everything about this group, the members, the content they put out, the userbar, even the name seemed high-quality, something I've always wanted to become.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?:

I feel that I deserve to join The Empire is that I have a lot to give and nothing to lose. I am young, naive, and hungry for success. I dedicate anywhere between 1 and 8 hours to HackForums everyday, while still trying to maintain my quality in the content I contribute. I listen to every persons opinion and am always looking for knowledge. I feel that by joining The Empire I can not only learn from other members that focus in the fields I do, but also share my knowledge, and possibly expand my skills beyond those that I already have.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you:

I'm going to use this space to tell the story as to why I joined HackForums, and why I love to make money.

I joined HackForums in the November of 2013. At the time, I was playing an online game called DarkOrbit, a space-themed MMORPG. This was the type of game where the more money you spent, the better you could stomp your opponents. At the time, I spent much of time out of school playing this game. I would often do yard work for my parents to try and earn more money to spend on the game, but I soon found that making money online would be much more efficient.

When I discovered HackForums I immediately signed up for an account and headed over to the monetizing techniques section. For the first few days, I did not post. Admittedly, I was scared. the community seemed so large, so full of knowledge, and I was just a kid who knew next to nothing. As I said earlier in my application, I spent a lot of money and time on eBooks, that were (to put it bluntly) complete shit. I asked for help from other members, and many referred me to something known as PPD. I checked out the PPD/CPA sub-forum and was immediately intrigued. Seeing people posting earnings of $200+ a day on autopilot motivated me to sign up for File.Ice account right away and set up my very first PPD niche. When I woke up one day to find that I had earned $10 doing nothing more than sitting at my computer, I was ecstatic. That day I spent my time perfecting my niche and setting up a new one. My first payout of $83.35 went towards my DarkOrbit addiction, however, I soon quit the game and dedicated the time it freed up to PPD.

The rest is history. While I started out as a noob, I was soon earning more than many other HackForums members. I tried my best to share my knowledge and tips to other members of the HackForums community. I soon created my eBook to share my knowledge of PPD with other members of the community, and have since been creating eBooks to share methods, techniques, and tips on monetizing I have picked up on my journey.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

At the current point in my life I feel that the most important things are my family, my friends, and my overall well-being. My father has always supported me throughout everything I've done in life, including my monetizing, always picking me up when I was down and congratulating me on my achievements. I would not be where I am right now if it wasn't for my family.

My friends in life are what keep life interesting, adding variation and keeping it fun. Whether it be discussing gossip at school or just hanging out together on a Friday night, my close friends could be considered my family, cheering me up when I'm sad and making me laugh when I need it most.

Finally, last but not least, I try to keep my overall health and well being as one of my top priorities in life. I do my best to keep both my physical and mental health at top potential, by working out daily and playing Squash, and studying hard in school.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

For this I'm going to refer back to one of my oldest threads, which can be found here: <https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=3056075> At the time, I was a lowly PPD noob who was barely earning anything. I asked for some inspiration to keep my head up, and the members of HF responded. To think that there are people, all over the world, willing to help me move forward in life as well as help me succeed, motivated me to stay active on HF. Looking back on my older threads, you can see I had a lot of questions, but the members of HF were always there with a solution or response. This, is what made me want to participate and stay active in the HackForums community.

Anything else you would like to say:

I want to thank anyone who is reading this for taking the time to read through my application. Although mine isn't as fancy as some of the others who have created entire websites for their applications, I hope you take mine into consideration. Best of luck to other applicants!

Sadly I don't have enough time to go in depth but mostly networking, making cat sounds. I'm a huge computer fag so yeah, anything that involves a PC.

Which section are you most active in and why?

Group sub forums mainly tbh, other than that, the gaming section such as LoL, HackerCraft, Xbox, BF4 and I'm fairly active in the marketplace discussions and deal disputes now.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?:

To get to know Tibbers better. The Empire is the life for me. ?

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?:

Because I'm a high quality member of Hackforums and to socialize with the members. I'm very active, very.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you:

I'm sorry, I really don't have the time to do this and I suck at ass kissing myself, nor do I have the time to because I'm going out to my pre 21st birthday party in the next 15 minutes and I'm still yet to get dressed.

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are:

My skills are that I have experience with EWhoring and successfully acquired $10 which I used to donate to a community and giveaway just recently in my Christmas contest. I have a few dollars left over which I will either giveaway in another contest or put towards my Ub3r funds.

An example of my success with EWhoring: <https://imgur.com/54DOhLb>

Which section are you most active in and why?

I am most active in the Lounge section because I can easily express my opinion throughout threads with other members and discuss / interact with them.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?:

I want to be part of The Empire because my referrer (Operate) is part of The Empire. I have seen the Empire's logo and user-bar before because of him and have always liked its professionalism.

The members part of The Empire are also very high quality posters. I see them all around the forum and look-up to them as an idol of where I would like to be one day here on Hack-Forums.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?:

I feel I should be accepted into The Empire because I have contributed everything I can. My contributions consist of donating money to other members so they can afford L33T, free services, graphics, tutorials and a recent contest.

I plan to repeat doing these contributions to help and please the community with what I bring.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you:

If I were to describe myself I would say I am a chill person who likes to play games and is interested in the virtual world, mostly the mechanics behind the games we play and the software we use. I know I like gaming because my dad played thirty years of counter-strike, I use to sit on his lap and play, although I wasn't very good, I enjoyed it. My dad even has some clips of me against bots with a AK-47 where I got about five-six head-shots in one spray of the AK-47.

I picked up interests of coding, etc by myself. It's just an awesome thought knowing a language and using it to produce something useful to the world or just yourself.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

Disregarding my gaming side, if I can acquire the motivation to learn new things within school, I enjoy it. I think my lack of motivation is because I am too interested in the virtual world, therefore school tasks get boring in my opinion. Learning new things in the virtual world is much more interesting which makes me confident and eager to start learning, maybe hopefully I'll learn a few things if I were to be accepted.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

I liked how the forum was insanely activate and had multiple areas regarding different subjects, this gave me the opportunity to post with the people who had the same opinions and views as me but as the same time I had the chance to see other people's opinions and views.

Anything else you would like to say:

Thank you for this opportunity and have a merry Christmas.

I'll close the thread around 1-2am Eastern time. Several people have asked if they can edit their applications, yes, we will review all of the applications once the thread is closed, so you may continue to edit them until that point. If you have any questions feel free to PM a leader or post them on this thread.

We expect to send out the invites by Christmas Eve at the latest, but most likely by Monday evening.

As promised:

Spoiler (Click to View)

As a child, the gaunt, pale face would watch the other children of his village merrily playing in the sun day after day. They often looked up at him and laughed, or shouted insults. He was forbidden to join them or rebuke their abuse, for he was son of a great wizard, and studied magic at the most famed academy in the land. His father was a proud man, who wanted his son to follow in his mighty footsteps, and become a famed wizard like his forebears. However, his son took to haunting the corridors by night, eating alone and avoiding all human contact. Despite the efforts of his father to rekindle his son's interest in socialising and magic, the boy's condition worsened.

Eventually, incandescent with rage, the father banished his son to a remote temple high in the hills, that he may rediscover the value of human contact. However, the son still loved his father and his magic, and, in a twisted attempt to right his wrongs, began practicing the dark arts at his temple. It started small, with rodents and animals, but madness had planted its seed in his mind; his experiments grew and grew. He raided nearby villages for corpses, and became a blight on the land.

He fed off their power, becoming more powerful with each day that passed. Over a decade into his exile, the son decided to return to his father, and show him all that he had learned. But his father had heard about his foul deeds, and could not stand the sight of him any longer.

Driven mad by rage and sadness, the fledgling necromancer attacked his father's academy. For days torrid armies of the dead poured out of the torn and broken earth, assaulting the battlements. Many apprentice wizards were enslaved or killed by the armies of undead and on the thirteenth day, the academy was taken. The son searched fruitlessly for his father for 3 days and nights, but he was nowhere to be found, having escaped under cover of darkness with a magical white cloak, taken from the fearful sprite dimension during his adventuring days.

It is here that Stheno the Snake Queen enters the tale. The attack of the academy had caught her eye, and she saw an opportunity for fun and tricks. On the night of the crescent moon, she came to the necromancer. In one hand, she held a letter containing the whereabouts of his father; in the other, she held a mighty skull, which she claimed would allow him to rule over the entire kingdom for eternity. In return for one of these favours, she hissed silkily, he must prove his worth to her by putting on a magical band which would allow her to contact him at any time. But the necromancer was clever, and realised the band was a trap to bind him into slavery for eternity. The son knew how to outmanoeuvre Stheno, but there was a more pressing issue: which gift to take. He sat on the top of a hill for many nights, in turmoil over whether his father or the empire was more important. Eventually, racked by indecision, he flipped a coin. Glinting wickedly as it flew into the moonlight, it gave him his answer.

He returned to Stheno and asked for the skull. She granted his request, and gave him the corrupt cranium of a fallen hero. But as she tried to attach the magic band to his wrist to fulfill the deal, he whipped up a mighty storm, and in the confusion, used the twisted skull to trap Stheno in his servitude. But Stheno, who was cunning, realised she still had a bargaining point. She whispered to him that if he released her, she would tell him the location of his father for free. The necromancer initially refused, knowing Stheno to be tricksome, but the idea of finally reconciling himself with his father had planted itself in his mind and refused to let go. After many days, he finally gave in to the voices in his head demanding to make up with his father, and met Stheno in his ethereal prison. He fixed his poisoned dagger to her throat and demanded the location of his father, his voice ringing out hoarsely into the cold emptiness of the void. She smiled a cruel smile, and told him softly. Such a scream of pure malice has never been heard to this day, and he forever banished Stheno to a pit far from civilization to languish for eternity. For you see, the skull of unstoppable power she had granted him was the defiled skull of his father. With eyes driven mad by guilt for his greed and loneliness, and stained yellow by the practice of forbidden arts, he forever stalks the land, searching for vengeance on those who deceived him.

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are: This is usually what I say when I am asked this question, I've used it before on applications but this is a more updated version you could say. I have a range of skills, a skillset that I'm proud of but I'm far from my goal. I'm yet to master my hobbies and skills but I'm glad with what I have so far. I haven't focused on becoming the master of my trades but keeping a range of knowledge in different subjects so without further ado, my skillset. NOTE: My examples identify me to where I work, I can provide them on request - throw me a PM.

Computing: I've been involved with this since I've first had my computer, obviously. Technology means a lot to me. I can remember my first computer a while ago, a Packard Bell. That is where my journey began. This section will be split up in a few sub-categories.

- Operating Systems: Like many users my first computer was running on Windows. I messed around with the operating system a lot. I discovered a lot of things about it I didn't know and while this sounds basic, for someone with my knowledge of computing back then it was a big achievement. I grew that knowledge and began to develop programs for Windows, but we'll come to that in another category. I began wanting money, just like a lot of people so I started working on configuration of MC servers, also another category. Somewhere in this procedure I had a few questions about why so many people used this operating system for their servers, what was so special about it? What was it? Somewhere in the process of finding answers I ended up using Linux Mint as my primary operating system. It went uphill from there. I don't think you're interested in a life story so I'll skip to the point. I have lots of years of experience with Linux now. I work as a technician over at a host and the choice to look into Linux them years back was a wise decision and a valuable skill to help me get that job.

- Programming: I learnt my first language before I learnt what Linux was. The language was VB. It's pretty simple. MSGBOX and all of that, I can hardly remember it now. Then I went onto getting a copy of Visual Studio to start programming in C#. I didn't learn that much before ending up moving to web development.

- Money: I made a lot of money off my skills. Most of it isn't on HF but I've worked at multiple servers and hosts. Sometimes as one-off salaries and sometimes as recurring salaries, it was rather fun for a job. I made websites, setup servers and managed boxes. I like jobs, not selling products. Though I want to be the boss for once, though I don't like investing at times. It's too risky. I wouldn't see a worker richer than the boss, unless the boss went into debt. This isn't a skill, but rather the outcome.

- Webmaster: I've been making websites for a long time now. Name a forum, a website, a piece of software. I can create websites from scratch that look nice and setup forums to how they should be. I'm rather experienced for something I don't want to do as a permanent job, ever. I don't get bored doing the job it's just... I don't even know why I don't want to do it as a job. Owning a forum seems cool and I'd do a job like Omniscient but I wouldn't manage an actual site like whoever manages and controls Microsoft.com for example.

- I don't want to go on and on about skills so I'll throw down some more in a list and a brief description on some.

- Networking

- Graphics: I'm going to briefly talk about this, or sum it up. I absolutely hate art but love making things in PhotoShop- call a doctor when you see this, perhaps I need help. I don't want to rush my design and the writing as well. On that note, I'd love to show examples of my graphics and my web work. Not to mention the places I work at.

- Sports: I like sports, I mainly enjoy Basketball. I'm good at it and I'm tall so I guess that sums it up.

- Gaming: It's more of a hobby, but I suppose the other things were hobbies too as well as part of my curriculum and skillset. I like gaming, I'm decent at it and I hate COD.

- Mathematics: I hate it, it bores me but I'm really good at maths.

Which section are you most active in and why? I'm most active in the HackerCraft section according to my statistics, I enjoy the server quite a lot and have been playing it through thick times and soft times. It's been a fun ride and I've been posting in it for a bit of a while but now as activity is starting to die down I have four or five sections I'm mainly INTERESTED in:

The Lounge: Usually I have a brief idea of what's going on there and the conversations that happen. I can participate in discussions and give my honest opinion on them, a place where I have knowledge. I can't specifically describe what as conversations there vary quite a lot.

Science, Religion, Philosophy and Politics: Jesus christ that's a long name, it fascinates me. The conversations that go on there really hit me in the brain and I love replying to them in my own style. I usually include long answers here and keep checking back to stay in the discussion/debate. I like the kind of threads that are made and I like sharing my opinion. I learn lots of new things from there, I see things I know nothing about and if it interests me I gather some information on it. I haven't made any threads there yet but I have quite a nice amount of posts there for the time I've been in it which isn't too recent.

Infamous: It's been about four days since I joined Infamous and it's like no other group I've been in before (I've only been in two other custom groups to be fair). The discussions that go on, I just love the feel of what happens. I'm not going to say what happens inside there but the discussions are quite nice. I like a majority of the members there and they are quite mature. The group leaders didn't lie when they said it was a once in a lifetime opportunity. There are some members that joined and I'm sure I will never hear from in the SF but I like a majority of them. It's going to be a nice group, I just know it.

Innuendo: I'm not the best at condoms and sex, but that's not always what the forum is about. There are discussions going on that are really relevant and good and I love to participate in them. I think I give nice advice to those who are serious and I've been approached before with user appreciation for my help.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?: Users in The Empire are quite active in the SRPP section and I'm hoping that discussions about that kind of stuff goes on in the SF. I'm extremely interested in getting to know these members on a more personal level and knowing more about their thoughts and beliefs. I see this group around the forum quite a lot, seems like they have knowledge in a lot of areas so I believe I fit the description.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?: Will the group continue on without me? Yes it will. This means I need the group, the group does not need me. Should I be accepted into the group is a question for you. I do participate in a range of discussions and believe if the topic is fully serious then my response will be a serious and informative one. I don't deserve anything though.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you: If you ever wondered where my name came from, here is the story. My friend was called a name quite similar to this and he was gifting me some games which required Steam. I didn't have an account at the time so he said, "How about call yourself themadman300" which has 3 different letters from his name. I didn't care too much about my name at the time so I stuck with that and that's been my identity since. Plus I like how it's four sets of 3 characters- the mad man 300. I played Steam games for a while and ended up seeing a friend on Steam who said if I played Minecraft. Later on my friend gifted me a code for the game on my birthday and I began playing then, I believe this was back in 2010 in late Alpha but I can't remember exactly. I played for about a year and then went into making money off it. That is how my story online began, my story into business, my story into gaming and my story into communities. I learned a lot that will help me in real life from this forum and the journey up to this point.

I learned from a few valuable mistakes that I'd like to leave covered in my past. Somewhere in this path I was interested in Griefing and why people did it, I joined this site back then and it was a decent forum back then (This is 2012 now), now it has kind of turned into a troll house.

As far as personal life goes, I live in North East England near a city called Newcastle. I live right below Scotland. Hell is the weather great, rain in the summer and more rain in the winter. I'm currently taking IT and some other things for further education. My future matters a lot to me, I don't want to simply be someone who works at a decent salary. I want to take some field in either technology or law, not that sure yet. Law interests me a lot too, I'd say I'm a good speaker. As I said though, I want to advance on my work and become something much more than what I expect of myself.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you? My priorities lie in my future, as I said I don't want to simply just be a programmer for DICE, why not own DICE? Someone had high hopes and he achieved his goal. It's a risk but it's definitely something I'm considering. I want to make the most of the one life I have, I don't believe in an afterlife. My priorities are my education and my career. After that it's entertainment.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining? I joined for the Griefing section and that place turned into a shithole. I was considering leaving but this forum board was much more than just that forum. I went around and met a lot of cool people and took part in general Minecraft discussions. I met Vinnie and got myself into Instinct after some hard work and that wasn't the end. There is simply so much to do here. I have some high goals for the future here and I'm sure you'll see what they were if I achieve them. I like the discussions and there is just so much to learn off some people on this forum, especially in the SRPP forum.

Anything else you would like to say: Nothing really, best of luck to everyone who has applied. As I said before, minor parts of this application are off a base template I used for one other application but I've only applied for two groups recently and only a minor text plan was followed, there will be similarities so I'm just pointing that out. Most of it was written from scratch and a nice amount of time was spent on the application. I'd spend more if I wasn't in a rush due to the closing time approaching soon.

Raitz - December 22, 2013, 12:19 pm

Good luck to everyone who's applying! I had a great time in this group.

Coding (HTML, VB, C#), Social Engineering, i also have experience with Remote Administration Tools

Which section are you most active in and why?

Im most active in the Jtag/RGH And the coding section because i have a modding service and i like coding.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?:

I have always wanted to be in a group on Hackforums and i think the time is right for me to attempt to join one.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?:
Because well its an Empire and i like giving away stuff to the HackForums community and i would like to represent the Empire while doing that./b]

[b]In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you:

Well my name is Reece but i get called: XeReece & Activision, i like modding Xbox Live and PS3, i like designing and coding programs for my friends to use and to share. I will never forget when i nearly died from an asthma attack on my brothers birthday but thankfully i survived.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?
My family are most important to me.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?
I just started to get addicted to the forum and now im on it 24/7 i just like seeing what people are up and whats happening in their life.

Anything else you would like to say:

I hope i get accepted ?

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are:
Rating (not really a skill), Anything to do with computers, Decent at Networking, Social Engineering.

Which section are you most active in and why?
RATs, League of legends, and networking. I'm not the person to post my opion on everything and anything. I have browsed these sections for hours without posting because sometimes I dont see the point in posting unless it's to help others.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?:
It's a cool group and I think it's one of those "upper" groups that have good members in it and a good community.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?:
I think I would be a great addition to the group and help others while having a good time. Also, I'm a lot of fun to be around. ?

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you:

Well, I have had a lot of obsticales in my life. I have been in martial arts and wrestling since I was 5. A few years ago I got my tonsils removed but something went wrong so a week later I was throwing up blood and I fainted and the ambulance came and it was awful. I also got hit by a car and was brought to the hospital a few months ago. My parents have always been on me about my goals and priorities so when I set a goal I wont stop untill I get it. I have been to the Hospital so many times for different things from Car accidents to Falling off of a fishing dock and breaking my leg?. I think all these obsticales have made me mentally and physcially tough and taught me not to give up.

I would always consider myself as a jokester but if I'm doing something I can still be serious at the same time. I like to have a good time and make people laugh. I'm all about having fun and laughing. I can have a good time and get stuff done at the same time.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

My priorities in life are probaly School, Family, and Friends. I set Family and School first. Being a Doctor is my future job and I know I will have to work hard in school to achieve it.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining? Knowledge, I think there is so much on this fourm it's hard to not browse it for hours.

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are:

A skill of mine is computer hardware and software. I find it easy to retain knowledge and information on these subjects, and that they are fun to learn about. I became A+ certified within my first attempts at taking the tests. I enjoy working with computers physically. I enjoy putting computers together, and working with the parts. Sometimes I time myself to see how fast I can put a computer together. I help family and friends with their computer problems, and help them with making computers.

I also enjoy the software side of computers. I started learning about keyloggers when I joined, then made my way to the RAT section. I've enjoyed working with the many different RATs, functions, and software over the year. I've been able to increase my skill with RATs greatly, and help bring my knowledge of RATs to others. I opened a RAT help desk with a friend, and set-up RATs for any and all users. RATs are how I've made almost all of my money on Hackforums.

I'm a hardworking and dedicated person. If I start a job or project, I will give it my all, and I wont stop until it is finished. Things that I'm working on have to be perfect to me. It takes time to make something perfect, but in the long-run it's 100% worth it. If you work hard and give your all now, you'll be rewarded and won't have to work as hard in the future

Which section are you most active in and why?

I'm most active in the RAT, Beginner Hacking, Computer Hardware, and Lounge sections.

I first joined Hackforums looking to learn about keyloggers. From there, I started learning about RATs. RATs always seemed so interesting, almost forbidden. Being able to view someone's webcam, audio, keystrokes, it was all too cool. I didn't want to just stop at learning how to set-up a RAT, I wanted to learn more. I went on to learn about how to spread my RAT, reverse engineer a RAT, make money with my RAT, and help others set up their RATs. There are many people who don't know how to set-up a RAT, or how to fix an error, which is why I wanted to help. I co-created a RAT helpdesk, which can be found here. I worked with many different routers, RATs, and crypters and have learned how to use them all. I hope to restart that helpdesk sometime soon.

The Beginner Hacking section is full of new members who are looking for guidance into the world of Hackforums. I enjoy browsing this section and helping new members by answering any questions they have. I often see threads asking where they should get started, or how to do something. I try to help every member to the best of my ability, so that they can go on to enjoy Hackforums, just like I have.

Computers are a big part of my life, and I enjoy working with them. I seek and share knowledge in the computer hardware section. There are so many aspects of computers, that there is always something new to learn. I've recently finished my CompTIA A+ 700 certification, and hope to eventually work on my 800 certification. I enjoy posting in [BUILD] threads, and creating computer builds for other users within their budget. You should always get the best computer for your budget. While I know my fair share of computer hardware, I'd like to sharpen my knowledge of Operating Systems and software.

The community of Hackforums is great, one of the best I've ever seen. All of the users are so friendly, and I enjoy talking with them. The lounge gives me a great chance to connect with the many users of our community. The lounge is almost like the main hub of Hackforums. You may be here for something certain, but you will always make your way to the lounge. You will find that one thread that catches your eye. There are interesting stories posted here on a daily basis. It's just a great section for users to talk and socialize. If I'm bored and have nothing to do, I'll just head over to The Lounge, and I'm instantly absorbed.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?:

The Empire has always been one of my favorite groups. I hope to share my knowledge in the RAT and Computer Hardware section in the name of the Empire. The group consists of intelligent and friendly users who share their knowledge to others, and I want to contribute to that. I was in The Empire in the past, from the September recruitments, and was kicked when Tibit removed almost all of the group. I can say that during the time I was in the group, it was extremely enjoyable. There were many great members to talk to, and it was just an enjoyable experience, that I would love to be apart of again.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?:

I feel that I could be a valuable asset to The Empire. I was accepted into The Empire during the September recruitment. I'm a hardworking person, who shows true dedication and work ethic. I'm looking to widen my knowledge of topics, while also sharing the knowledge that I already know. The group has great discussions and debates on various topics, that I would love to give my input on again. I'm just someone that anyone can feel free to open up to and have a conversation with, or ask any question or advice. I enjoy the presence of others, and The Empire is a great group to express that in.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you:

I'm a junior in high school who hopes to pursue a career in technology one day. I spend a lot of my time on my computer, and on Hackforums. I'm always looking to learn new things off and on hackforums. I've been hanging around the computer hardware section looking to someday master my knowledge of computer hardware. I'll be going for my CompTIA A+ 800 certification some time this year. I had a part-time job working at Staples in their computer section. I enjoyed it greatly, and it helped me get some real world experience. I dream of majoring in computer engineering in a college like Caltech or NYU. I first got into computer hardware, because I enjoy computer gaming. Rather than buying a pre-built computer, I wanted to make my own computer. Also, my two favorite colors are purple and blue. Something quite memorable in my life is the day I got my first gaming custom built computer. It was Christmas of 2010 I believe, and for Christmas my Dad got me all the parts to build a computer. I had asked for a gaming computer for Christmas, but I thought this was so much cooler since I got to put it together with him. It was really a lot of fun, and it was a great chance for me to bond with my Father while doing it. It was while building that computer that I knew I wanted to continue doing this, and that it would be the center of my future. I still have and am using that same gaming computer today, but with upgraded parts, I'm using the original case.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

My priorities in life are family, friends, education, and technology. My family and friends are important in my life, and I cherish their presence everyday. I would never do anything that would let my family or friends down. Education and learning has always been important to me. After high school, I hope to go to college, specifically Caltech or NYU, and major in Computer Engineering or Networking. I've been working hard to raise my grades, and maintain a high GPA so that I can go to one of these colleges. In the Spring I'll be taking my SATs, and so I hope to get a good score. Technology is an important part of my life. I hope to pursue a career in technology some day. I enjoy working with computer hardware and software on a day to day basis. It would be a dream to develop something that could turn into a technology break-through.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

When I joined Hackforums, I realized there was a lot more to it than just "hacking". There is a lot of things to learn here. Many of the topics discussed here met my interests. You may come to Hackforums to learn about one specific thing, but you stay to learn about all the other vast topics. Another reason, is the amazing community. I've met some great people here on Hackforums, people that I hope to remain in contact with for a while. When I joined, the community was so welcoming. I was inexperienced, and asking a lot of questions about what I should do, and the community just continued to answer all of my questions. My goal is to be just as helpful, if not more, to users just like they were to me.

Anything else you would like to say:

I realize that there will be a lot of people applying, and I want to say good luck to all of you. The Empire has always caught my eye. I was very lucky to be accepted to the group the first time, and it would be an honor to be accepted again. It's on the top of my list for groups I've always wanted to join. The Empire is full of friendly users, who enjoy to share their knowledge in the subjects they know best. Hanging around the RAT section often, I'd usually always see posts by Lakai, and see that Empire userbar. When I was active in the Runescape section, I'd always see The Plague Doctor posting with The Empire userbar. Once again, good luck to everyone applying. And thank you for taking the time to read my application.

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are:

Networking:

I know a lot about the IOS software running on Cisco Switches, Routers, Hubs and other Cisco Networking Equipment.

I have been learning this while taking High School classes at my technical high school. I am a two time student of the year and am in my senior year at this school. I have learned how to implement

VLAN's and use routing protocols such as RIP, RIP Version 2, OSPF, EIGRP and other protocols. I am looking into being certified with some of the CCNA certifications in the upcoming months.

Computers and Servers:

Along with Networking, I have taken classes about troubleshooting hardware and software while taking regular high school classes. What I've learned has been tested when we go around the school fixing any issues a computer (running Windows XP or 7, most computers we have run Windows 7 thought. may have, whether it be hardware or software and it gets fixed. I also help manage the servers we run that have Windows Server 2003 and 2008 which have network drives and active directory for teachers and students accounts.

I'm looking to get my CompTIA A+ Certification sometime in the next year.

I have started a Computer Sector in The Brotherhood just a few weeks ago.

iOS and iDevices

This should be self explanatory as xadamxk sees me post all the time in this forum. I guess you could call me an iWizard or iExpert because I am so knowledgeable when it comes to iOS and iDevices.

I'm apart of a little group called iSupport, if you are in the group it shows you know what you are talking about when it comes to iOS and the devices that run the software. I know much about jailbreaks, applications, the iDevices themselves and troubleshooting the issues someone may have with any of those.

Which section are you most active in and why?

I'd have to say that I am most active in the Computing Section,

I have stated my experience with servers, computers, hardware, software and pretty much most if not all of the things the Sub-Forums are about.

Also, I run the Computing Sector in The Brotherhood so I have to be up-to-date with what the sector members and what they are up to.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?:

I would like to join The Empire because I was in there before and miss the experiences I had with most of the users, messing with each other and while still having a good time and being somewhat productive. I also miss that one noob, Tibit, gotta love bullying him. ?

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?:

I deserve to become part of The Empire because I was in it before and left before I could show my full potential. I feel that I should be given a second chance to show myself, something I was told by a leader shortly after I was kicked out under one condition that I had to fulfill and I did and never received the response about it.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you:

I'm a 17 year old Senior in high school who has a desire to help others with their issues with technology, devices, and computers. I am knowledgeable in Computers, iDevices, Networking, and Video Games. I'm an active member on Hack Forums where I can make up to 100 posts on a good day and as low as 10 posts on a bad day. I listen to classic rock music but I can listen to rap if I really needed to.

I'm a big fan of the band Pink Floyd, if you couldn't tell by my username :D. I am currently in The Brotherhood usergroups and am a l33t member on Hack Forums who was just recently approved for ub3r.

*#@?&%!, and Complexity

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

My priorities in life are friends and family, to be healthy and educated to the fullest. One day I'd like to have a big house, a business and a big family who is happy and healthy along with me and support me no matter what the situation is. The most important thing to me is family:
Bros before hoes, family comes first.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

The reason I have stayed active for all of this time is probably because I had other members to kinda mentor me through the few years I've been on here. There has been a few for every section I've been active in. I've started becoming more active after being in groups and being upgraded to l33t,

I was in Logic for a while because Hexicidal gave me a chance to be in there when I had low rep and little amount of posts which boosted my confidence by so much on here. Also being in Legacy and Respawn helped me because I fit in there because I gamed a lot. Becoming apart of The Brotherhood, The Empire, Complexity, and Instinct will help me because I think I fit in great with these members who I look up to today.

Anything else you would like to say:

I would appreciate it if I could be added back into The Empire,
I miss the people in the group and the fun time I had in it.
I will be grateful if I can join my friends again. Also:
Adam is a noob and Tibit is a bully. ?

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are: My skills range from a number of different things. I am fairly good with graphics, business (marketing), hacking and have recently been involved with Crypto Currency which i am starting to make a bit of money out off.

Which section are you most active in and why? Free Services and Giveaways and Member Contests lol. This is mainly because i like entering competitions and even like hosting them for the community. I am also fairly active in The Lounge as i like to post and read up on random things.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?: Too be truly honest, the fact that it has great members, an awesome name and the user bar looks amazing :D

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?: I deserve to be accepted into The Empire because i am an active member on Hack Forums and if i get accepted i will host many giveaways (as explained earlier, i like to do giveaways) and will try and be as active and supportive as possible to other members in The Empire. One of my biggest achievements on Hack Forums was getting 60+ referrals. This did take a while and most of them had their accounts deleted but i still managed to refer a shit load of people.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you: A bit about myself... well i am 18 years old, live at home obviously and have a few siblings. I like to or should i say, am addicted to going on the computer and doing all sorts of things. I usually sell things on eBay and like to game. My favorite games are Need for Speed, Battlefield and GTA as 1st. I like to mod GTA on the computer and sometimes make Youtube video's about my mods. You can view my Youtube channel here: <http://www.youtube.com/user/chaoticplunder>. Nothing is bottd and it's all legit.

I also like watching tv shows, eg. Family Guy (although it's got really boring recently), American Dad and my favorite show of all time, Breaking Bad <3

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you? Most important to me is getting good results in school and getting a good job.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining? The general atmosphere of the community is very warm and giving/supportive. You can ask any question and usually always get an answer. I like the randomness of The Lounge and the fact that Hack Forums literally have almost everything to discuss about in different sections. Eg. Gaming, Hacking, Crypto Currency, News..

Anything else you would like to say: If i get accepted into this group it would be greatly appreciated and i always admired this group since starting seeing it around. I hope that this submission isn't and i wish everyone the best of luck :)

Explain, with detailed examples, what your skills are:

My skills include but are not limited to. . .

RATs:

As many, I came upon HackForums sitting around looking up how to "RAT" after a Minecraft server owner had said he had several thousand slaves. I started learning from there and sadly never got too far into it. Thus, I know how to set one up and use it properly without problems. Spreading was another technique that I've decided to leave under RATs. I'm pretty well rounded in spreading, in many different ways as possible, including Youtube, Forums, Chatting-sites, through Steam and more.

Marketing:

In my opinion, I flourish in this skill. I've learned and mastered simple merching techniques(buy low, sell high). I usually do work in the currency exchange, and I am a small, semi-trusted member in the currency exchange section. I've spent a good amount of time in the Marketplace, and I'm not a newb when it comes to buying or selling an item, online and off. Deals from Xbox's, to renting out games, to even buying an ebook online, I'm always hunting for an extra dollar.

eWhoring:

As an individual, I hadn't known what "eWhoring" had been until late after the kickstart of it. After several weeks of try and fail, I've successfully mastered the "sweet talk" to men that reel them in for VCW's, and more. I've probably whored around 400$ in profits, from only 2 months of whoring 6 hours a week. That's around 48 hours/400$. I don't personally share methods of whoring as I believe that the Whorer can't base their campaign off of what works on only a certain personality of men.

Common Security Knowledge:

As a member of Hackforums, where users learn to RAT, keylog, spread, and more, I know basic safety for just browsing, when dealing with other users, program safety, and more. This isn't much of a skill compared to some of the other users, but with me, I am not careless as to what's around here. It's still the internet, no matter how good it seems to be.

Gaming:

Eek, a topic I love to express. Gaming came to me back from November 15, 2005, the official release of CoD: 2. I remember back playing these games, as just a young boy because my dad's love for the fanbase. This is where I have taken up the "FPS" part in life and playing many games such as Halo, Combat Arms, and much more. I'm not a GameBattles user, but I'm aware and familiar with the layout of GameBattles and I would be ready to hop in at any time.

Designing / Map Creation:

To tag along with gaming, I have created several "Custom" maps for COD: WaW Zombies, Multiplayer, and more. This skill isn't an easy one, for without creativity, basic programming knowledge, and a theme, maps will turn out ugly and n0-good.

Graphics:

I'm not an avid graphics creator. I can't do anything special in Photoshop except some decently-basic things, but I've got a pretty good grasp on what the tools can do. I'm able to make things such as thread designs, small logos, and more.

Web Construction:

As a small skill, I have set up several websites in the past for PPD/CPA and more. I don't run into trouble with creating websites, basic organization, and basic PHP and HTML. My recent niches had been taken down and trashed by Google, but I own the domain: freebitcoingenerator.com

Writing:

To complete off this long list of my broad skills from Hackforums, I'd like to announce writing as one of my gracious skills. Unlike some members, I'm based from the United States, and I've gotten a great education the past couple of years in English class, to above a 12th grade writer. I ensure every post I make at Hackforums has complete grammar and is readily read. I use my skill to write professionally, as a private service and other uses.

Which section are you most active in and why?

I'd have to say my most active section is the marketplace. Always trying to find a quick dollar, and the most frequent is definitely the Currency Exchange section. I used to have my own currency exchange service.

Why do you want to join The Empire in particular?:

The Empire seems like a really friendly and supportive group, and I'd love to be around those kinds of people.

Why do you personally feel you deserve to and should be accepted into The Empire?:

I believe I should be accepted into The Empire because I am a very high quality member. Ever since joining, I hadn't really any other goal then to be someone known, someone that can be looked up to, or just someone that could be trusted. I feel like I've got a pretty good foundation of these materials and I'm hoping the community of The Empire would be able to not only benefit off of me, but vice versa.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are and who are you:

I'm Ethan. I'm a young, active, and fun guy. I'm 14 years old and was born on August 14th. I have many hobbies such as computer work, to gaming, and even my very own unique sport, gymnastics.

I dedicate a lot of time to my hobbies, but I don't forget to leave out the people around me. I work hard to attain success, without half-assing things that I do. I've never had many challenges throughout my education, and I still don't to this day. I find that with effort and time, you can achieve anything.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?Work at Google

I'm not sure if it's just me, but, a job at Google sounds ridiculously sweet. If you've ever seen what the place even looks like, you couldn't imagine not wanting to visit. It's colorful, welcoming, and awesome. It'd be the perfect place where people with the same-level computer knowledge workers would actually understand what you're saying, and, c'mon, who doesn't like cracking a 127.0.0.1 joke? ?Graduate high school with an outstanding GPA

Well, this is probably one of the tougher goals. A lot of people slack through freshman year, maybe it is or isn't you, but, a lot of people do. I don't want to be one of those people. I want to be able to balance fun, but still be able to get the greatest possible grades I can get.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining? Hackforums is soooo addicting. I find myself always checking, always coming back to see new threads, new ideas, new deals. There's something about this site that just keeps pulling me back.

Anything else you would like to say:

I'd really like to thank you and the many other members that make this community such an amazing place to be. I hope you take to time to consider me for a spot in The Empire, and I thank you with all my heart for your time.
