Thread: Make Xmas Banner

Omniscient - December 20, 2013, 11:27 am

Those are the 2 banners for the modern themes.

If anyone wants to try to make some Xmas ones go for it. Size limit is 50k and they must be transparent gif.

Enjoy.

Might try my hand at this and see what I get.

I actually care about the size. I have it 14k. For a banner that's going to be there for less than a week I don't see why it matters. To compare the original was 43k.

I was referring to the outer border of the logo. See how the old school theme's lime green border is tight and crisp? You can really see it on the "o" and the "k", but the borders are jagged. You can probably cut the matting down with a little defringe, or better yet, just fill in all the color and stroke it again.

Hey monsterhawt, I saw your thread before they closed it. I was going to post, but decided I don't feel like typing, since I was eating pizza at the time. Can't get my keyboard greasy. I digress; I believe they were referring to custom submissions.

For example, if you installed a font in which was meant for commercial use, yet you didn't have permissions to it, it could fuck him over. If you added a layer style to a font and sent it as a submission, it could fuck him over. If you downloaded a texture without the owner's permission, it could fuck him over. You can think of the possible outcomes.

Edit: BUT, if you already have HackForum's logo and you're simply adding to it, he/you will be fine.

It's good to see a banner in the modern theme again. I'm sure some liked it without though. You can't please everybody though, right? I'm personally happy.

For example, if you installed a font in which was meant for commercial use, yet you didn't have permissions to it, it could fuck him over. If you added a layer style to a font and sent it as a submission, it could fuck him over. If you downloaded a texture without the owner's permission, it could fuck him over. You can think of the possible outcomes.

Edit: BUT, if you already have HackForum's logo and you're simply adding to it, he/you will be fine. While I'm sure that's one reason, IP law is quite irritating.

I do not want to go in depth on it as I am not a lawyer but it's a pit of shit.

I must be the only person using the old theme :P

You're the only person willing to admit it! ?

If it did get picked I'd make it under the size limit and change it to a transparent gif. This is a showcase version.

I really like this one. I personally think it's the best.

14.4k just how you like it. Would you like a blue version or will we be using a different one for each theme?

yus, yus, yus! Omni change it! inkbyte you should make a blue one aswell!

I like it!
It's better than the one that's currently on.

Worth the try.

Society Girl - December 21, 2013, 4:09 pm
I think it would look better as "Presents punks and posts". Would that not sound better?

(Dec 20, 2013 05:16 PM)+mK Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I was referring to the outer border of the logo. See how the old school theme's lime green border is tight and crisp? You can really see it on the "o" and the "k", but the borders are jagged. You can probably cut the matting down with a little defringe, or better yet, just fill in all the color and stroke it again.

Jesus, that second sentence sounds bad.

Edit: Here is an image in reference to what I'm talking about.

There is blue sticking outside the gray area.
This is caused by the GIF format

Use PNG, GIF sucks at transparency

Diabolic - December 26, 2013, 6:40 am
Personally feel the forum looks cleaner without a banner, for seasonal occasions it's fine.

A known myBB forum at that. Why would nobody get fucked over for ripping someone graphics and using it as their own logo, exactly?

I'm well aware of that. Fuck bitmaps.
