Thread: The Slugs Mindset is Key... real way to make money

The Slug - December 28, 2013, 7:33 pm

hi there fellow HF'ers heh

You can call me the slug... yes, I like to take things slow. I tend to be an overperfectionist. I try to look at everything from way to many angles to make sure something runs perfect before I run it. And something always goes wrong! lol

I'm one of those people that learns 100 ways not to do something before finding the right way to do something. I personally don't think it's a bad thing. In fact, knowing 100 ways not to do something is gold, especially when it's about making money online.

The past 3+ years I have done everything and anything to make money online. CPA, PPV, emailing, sms, RAT's, porn, chat, seo, building ppl sites, selling ebooks, blackhat, whitehat, etc... you get the point. That's just scratching the surface of the things i've tried the past few years.

It really wasn't one single thing that made me a ton of money. Everyone told me I jump around too much between testing different things. But I was never really looking to get super deep into any one topic. I liked to spend about a week on each thing. For example, 1 week I spend on setting up emailing with an auto responder system run it for a few days. If it does well i'll spend another week on it or so. Then the next week I'll move onto creating a ppv campaign in the adult niche, or maybe in diet pill niche. and so on.

I'm an extremely fast learner. I've been putting computers together since I was like 10. My dad was a software developer, so maybe that explains it. I would suggest 1-2 weeks per thing ya wanna do. Spend at least 3 hours a day if you really have any sort of expectations to be making money online.

If you want to do this full time, you have to put the effort into it.

When I first started I didn't make much at all, sometimes was even at a loss. But today I can easily have xxxx profit in a single day.

My best advice is to keep trying new things. After a while you will start getting creative with your methods. I apply many methods at a single time when I am trying to put something together...

I promise anyone that spends over 3 years to actually trying to make money online they will not fail. If your actually really trying to make money online and you are a sponge absorbing and applying everything you read, you WILL make money.

There is no way not to make money after you have played around with different methods. I will tell you to test at least 12 different methods to making money. There are some great methods here on this forum. Get out of your comfort zone and spend a week learning some codeing such as some hacking methods used for monetization.

I'm not telling you to go out there and commit fraud. Do things that will teach you something even if it makes you no money.

I am going to make you a list of all the skills I think you should learn in order to know how to easily make money online. If you spend 1-2 weeks learning each of these things I guarantee you that in 4-5 months from now you will be making $200+ daily and will only keep scaling.

Do this and get mansion:

1. HTML
2. how DNS works
3. CSS
4. wordpress
5. smtp, pop3
6. hosting (cpanel)
7. ubot
8. ppv
9. cpa
10. VPN
11. php
12. social media
13. adult
14. outsourcing
15. seo

There are a ton more, but after you spend a good amount of time on each of those you will start coming up with good ideas. You will also keep stumbling up many many methods as you research.

If you come across a tutorial or something on making money "ex. a youtube method to make $100/day." I say you should try it out. Maybe it works, maybe it doesn't

But either way you will have learned something that maybe one day you can use.

I'm not going to go into details on what I do. Some things work for certain people and some things don't. It all depends on the angle you take on it and if you can think more outside the box than the other guy trying to monetize that same method.

If you can think of something that currently no one is doing then jump into it and milk it to the very last drop before it gets saturated.

But be warned! Unless you really have good knowledge in many fields it will be MUCH more difficult to think of your own unique ideas. Keep learning and ideas will come to you.

Sometimes it takes days or even weeks, but if you keep learning and testing new things and researching good ideas will come to you. Unless you really are computer illiterate or something there is no reason that you can't make money

That is the mindset I have kept through the good times and the bad times and I'm at a pretty damn good level in my life. I can do the things I want and it's awesome.

I hope this helps someone, if not then ????. I'm waiting for the Epic Java site to get back online so I thought I'd write out this thread lol

When I first started a few years ago I read someones motivational thread and it really has given me a good mindset that I've perfected.

Nice thread & I think it explains why I'm making $0+ a month, I really don't put the time in, I used to thing iv tried it all, but to be honest iv probably uploaded 1 "Free Game Hacker" shit to youtube with my PPD link and waited like 3-4 hours with no SEO and if it made no money I would call it a day o.0

Think it's high time I stop being lazy and put some research into things, lol.

If you put the effort into it and keep trying you will eventually be rewarded heavily...

There is no such thing as a money button, but I guarantee you that if you learn long and hard enough you'll be able to come up with things that are extremely close to a money button...

I collect a bunch of monthly checks from things i've set up in the past now running 95% on autopilot =>

Very nice post indeed, I guess when looking at the big picture and not looking for same day profit you can see the truth in your post, it was inspiring to be honest and something to ponder on Very insightful post. Definitely going to learn things in some of the areas you suggested.

Yea making serious money online isn't an overnight thing...

But it is not impossible at all.

I believe that whitehat methods make way more money in the long run. But blackhat is probably better for someone who needs to make money fast (1-2 months)

Personally I like to mix whitehat/blackhat. Believe it or not, but blackhat can be used for good. Just think outside of the box and apply everything you learn

I am in the process of launching my first physical product. Will be applying everything I have learned the past few years to promote the shit outta it. Will be the only product of it's kind on the market. (It's in the Pet Industry) ?
