It's a known bug. Thread glitches if people post right when the server lags, and there's nothing to do. After a few pages of posts, it should be normal again.

Not the first and probably not the last, just be patient, usually fixes itself through additional member posting.

Happens to big threads that often have 100+ posts within them, just continue by posting again, it'll appear.

According to positive

Quote: Only a new post (by a different user) will unmask the post that is not showing. It happens; nothing can be done about it.
