Vouch for Soccer, Aura products are nothing but of the highest quality in my opinion.

Cakeb$$$ - December 29, 2013, 8:29 pm

How do you promise amazing speeds?
Do you have specific mining rdps?

Seems your just selling cracked rdps and throwing a marketing spin on it?

If I am asked to check it, I will.
Let me educate you on mining cause you seem lost. Good Specs = High Mining rates... In other words the CPU and GPU are high quality, and as I said. I will check them if you would like.

Just bought one for testing purposes. Very good, a little on medium speed but fast compared to average speeds.

Vouch for this! I can not thank you enough.

So, if I rent one of these and mine Protoshares, or anything really, will I make any profit, in your opinion?

Yes they are admin, and ports are all random. If you are interested in buying, I will personally check them for you.

Well, I myself mine PTS with some RDP's and I reach well over 75 - 100 collision rate on each.

If you are serious about mining ProtoShares. I recommend you have a look at this -

How long will they last?

I mean, are they just cracked or do you personally own these?

Will there be logs or will what I be doing only seen by me?

I am new to this, so if my questions are a bit... basic, please forgive me.

Thanks soccer I didn't realize that specs matter with mining. ???

I was asking If you check specs on your rdps and then sell the ones with good cpu's to people that request mining rdps.

Ah private cracking method so 1337. There is one way to crack rdps. There is multiple tools that can do it. The only thing that really affects quality of rdps though is your wordlist and ip ranges.

So which one is it "kid"

These are words of wisdom. Specs do matter in mining, well, CPU mining isn't as efficient as GPU mining, but it's still an efficient way. Especially for PTS

kooper87 - December 31, 2013, 5:54 am
