Thread: Make Money With PPI \$\$\$ Official PPI Help Thread

Zerofix - January 3, 2014, 12:18 pm

Hello HF, I decided to open at PPI help thread, because a lot of people doesn't know what it is, and don't know how to get started.

In the thread you can ask me question on how to start with PPI. And some other PPI experts can join here and help other people.

FAQ's

What is PPI?

PPI is pay per install.

What the difference between PPI and PPD?

Its almost the same, except in PPI people just need to install the file, and do not need to complete any surveys.

Is it better then PPD?

Yes, and No. Its all depends on your traffic and niche. PPI is better if you have alot of western traffic.

What is easier?

In my opinion PPI is way better since you dont need to convince people to complete surveys.

Is it legal?

Yes.

PPI Networks: media-kings.com: Its a great PPI network where i started to make some good money.

Its trusted, have a really good support.

perinstallbucks.com: Another great network that i just found 3 days ago and its also Trusted, have a good support, and in my opinion its better then media-kings: it have a better rates, and i am earning 2 time more from there.

Payments:

Also i just got payment today of $750.

How To Get Downloads? Best way to start earning with PPI is just to upload video on YouTube of upcoming/cracked/hack games. And just simply put a your link in description. If your videos is on a first page and its a hot niche, you can make around $20 a day. Hard part of it is ranking.

Good sites for ranking :

Fiverr.com

viralsocials.com

Hackforums.net

Basicly with PPI, to my understanding, all you have to do is edit a link with your niche name and the end-user will be prompted with a page saying "NICHE NAME.EXE DOWNLOAD" or something?

Is there a limit that how many conversions a single IP can generate over a certain amount of time?

Do the offers in the download rotate per file?

Do we have filtering tools so we can change what is and what is not included in the files?

Thanks again, hope you can answer these questions.

Yes you understand it right.

media-kings count multiple install from the same IP. Perinstallbucks doent.

What do you mean by rotate per file?

You cant edit what is in the file.

For an example:

SkypeHack2014.exe has different offers than

FreeStuffForever2014.exe .

I have an idea for this that would have the end-user download multiple PPI installations, but it would seem kind of fishy to him if he sees the same offers on both installations.

Thats not what PPI is. Its when you get toolbars added on to installations of programs. Your thinking of link locking(PPD)

Zerofix - January 3, 2014, 4:12 pm

Yes it doesnt have surveys/content lockers.

I am not necessarily thinking of link locking, or Pay Per Download like you said. With Pay Per Download, you actually have content on the other end of a offer.

I have seen downloads where it says "FULLVERSION DOWNLOAD, 2.1.EXE" and it just downloads a clump of adware and nothing else. I assumed this was Pay Per Install and you got paid by how much adware the end-user installed.

If that is not what PPI is, then what is it called because I would rather do as described above.

Zerofix - January 3, 2014, 8:09 pm

I will recommend perinstallbucks over the media-kings.

Xez - January 3, 2014, 8:31 pm

Never heard of PIB, do you have some payment proof?

So for these PPI networks, the action that the users must complete is download from a specific location and install? Or can you distribute the file as you wish, with say, a spreading method of some sort?

You will be given your own advertising link.

To make it count as your install you need to make people to download and install file from the link link provided.

Alright, so it is basically what I was talking about. I do not know why the other person thought I was talking about me talking about content locking.

Has anyone downloaded their own installer and just uploaded it somewhere else? Does it still generate revenue or does the user HAVE to download from that page?

Person needs to download it from this link, thats how they know that you promoted it and you will get money.
