Thread: [Follow Me On My Neobux Journey \[3 Months\]\[5 Weeks Done + Thread Update\]](#)

proXace™ - January 3, 2014, 9:32 pm

Thread Version 3.0

I decided to start back up on neobux. Used it back in 2011, but didn't have the time nor money to properly manage it.

This is going to be a 3 month run. In the 3 months I plan to see if it is really worth it in the long run. A few notes I'm not going to be using any popular neobux strategy

Minor investments from my pocket will be made

I don't actually plan to sit on neobux all day refreshing ads trying to catch as many ads as possible

For reference all times used will be in UTC/GMT +10 hours +1(DST). Geographically, Australia / Melbourne

Money Invested - $39

Rented Referrals - 300

Direct Referrals - 5

Money Withdrawn - $6.12

On the 04 Jan 2014 - 16.09, I deposited $5 into my Neobux account.

On the same day at 16.10 I made my first purchase of Rented Referrals, using the $5 I had just put into my account.

The reason behind me depositing and renting referrals a day after I registered is because I knew you could only rent referrals once a week. Saturday is a much more comfortable day for me to rent referrals. If in the near future I need to fight rental queues or what'not I'll be readily available to do so in the weekend.

Day's 4 - 5Spoiler (Click to View)

During these 2 days I started having a quick look at the referrals I had previously rented. I noticed I had a few '0 clickers'.

This is where I decided what to do with '0 clickers' or 'below average' referrals. In other words slowly started devising how I would look at my referrals. Devising the most suitable 'Strategy' for myself.

Mini Jobs - $0.320

On this day I had 4 referrals with 0 clicks credited. It was then that I had decided to recycle out referrals who had not clicked within a 4 day period

During my 5th day with Neobux I recycled 2 referrals. I had 4 referrals the previous day who hadn't clicked for 4 days. 2 got back into routine again.

Instead of using any money I recycled these 2 referrals using points. For those not sure what points are, its just a bonus neobux incentive. You get 1 point for every ad viewed.

Total Points for 2 Recycled Referrals: 186

On this same day I needed to work out how I would manage the referrals I currently have. Decided to turn on Autopay until I can afford to manually afford to renew my Rented Referrals. Preferably 90+ days

Monchie - January 3, 2014, 10:51 pm

This will be interesting, i'm on probux at the moment and I'm wondering if neobux is a more viable option.

Do you have a referral strategy?

Zerofix - January 3, 2014, 11:00 pm

You won't get rich, but you can earn some money to start with something else, like ppd/cpa, or ppi.

Herbo - January 3, 2014, 11:01 pm

I know there are some bots for neobux, might want to invest in one.

MiracleWater - January 3, 2014, 11:02 pm

Good luck with Neobux. I got banned on Probux because they felt like it. I didn't use any scripts or programs, I clicked everyday by hand and one day "Banned". :/ Anyway I don't know how Neobux is about that kind of stuff.

proXace™ - January 3, 2014, 11:18 pm

I'm not using neobux as a sole source of income. I do have a full time job, so this is just to see exactly how feasible it is and to also help out those that may be uneasy about starting on neobux.

I know from past experience how hard it is to actually earn anything using PTC. Tried before I actually got a job.

I did think of investing in a bot at first, but decided against it since I am planning to put some coin into it. Also because the bot I did plan to buy, has just ended up being mass sold. Eventually the bot will be detected and/or accounts banned.

No strategy at the moment. Just winging things at the moment. Will wait to see how these rented referrals are being I start to devise anything.

Strategy wise, probably gonna be either the same or slightly different to what is mostly being used on a day to day basis by others.

Excuse any typos. Written from an iPhone.

GuJJu - January 4, 2014, 4:55 am

Keep up with your journey, i left ptc sites 3 years back.

ShadowForge - January 4, 2014, 6:33 am

PTC is shit way to earn money unless u have over 100 direct referalls

Sautéed - January 4, 2014, 7:41 am

Will keep this book marked ;) Seems interesting.

Holydays - January 4, 2014, 8:11 pm

Doing the same thing here. Im using probux and got 6 referals. Not a good start since I don't have money to put into it as a kickstarter but people on there seems legit with their fancy earning confirms.

sevenjah - January 4, 2014, 11:07 pm

I tried PTC before but I quit. You have to click before you get your rented ref earnings. Most of the rented ref are not active.

I recommend that you try CPA/PPD/PPI. :)

Anyway, GoodLuck with your journey mate.

I agree. Not the best way to earn, but could be something for someone that has never done it before.

I've never checked out probux. Seems like it is where the hype is at the moment. Only reason why I chose Neobux over anything else is because I have previously had experience with Neobux, so I know they are legit.

Thanks. CPA might be next on the list. Depending on how much time I can spare. PTC was an option due to the fact that I really don't have to do much. Work start back up in a week so after that time will be strictly limited.

I tried neobux ages ago, I had over 2000 refs, and a gold account. In my opinion its not worth it, I lost more than I made and they recycle your refs with bots that will click for a few days and then not at all. Good luck though!

Its the current amount of money I have in my Neobux account at the time. Over the days it accumulates, unless I use it for referrals etc.

(Jan 16, 2014 08:04 PM)poohkaine Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) question, what the hell are coins and points for?

Coins: Coins are your NeoBux currency which can be converted to money directly into your Main Balance.

Points can be used for:

Golden Membership: 30000 Points = 1 year Golden Membership

Recycle and/or extend your rented referrals

Increase your direct referrals limit: 500 Points = Increase the limit by 1 direct referral have which offer you $0.01.

For a short term monetary gain, yes any PTC isn't the greatest for making money online.

Hopefully within this 3 month period everything works out.

With an hour and a half left till it hits midnight (local time) 90 or my RR have made clicks today.
An average of 1.42 for a total of 347 clicks.

When I first started, I had 25 RR. On average they would click approx. 55 - 60 ads a day.
Roughly 15 RR would click daily.

My totals could be abit off due to me taking stats at all sorts of times. Still trying to get my stat times down to a point. At the moment, over the last 3 - 4 day, i've been using a manager designed by a neobux member to keep a proper track on my RR. Hopefully should give me better recycling insights

I'm also on neobux with 146 rr and 2 very active dr. I does not pay off if you do no have a golden. All money you earn will be spent on recyglying and extending your ref, maybe there will be some money for you yet on Neobux reffs are really bad, let's face it. I now have better ptc site where refferals are really great. Usually AVG is around 2.0. If you want to know about it pm me.

I've been thinking of adding it, just not sure exactly how I am going to do it. I know I could do day to day earnings from my RR, but would have to be updated after I post my daily stats.

Reason being is because I take down my stats usually about 30 minutes after my clicks reset (7.50PM Local Time). I can't see a full earning report till it hits midnight (local time).

Then there is also trying to calculate my personal clicks, which isn't static. Some days I will click more ads then other days.

If anything in the next few days, most likely the weekend when I have more time, I will go over and add the earnings from my RR. At the moment, i'm going to only be able to log the last 10 days earnings.

(Jan 27, 2014 07:38 AM)Crusher Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I'm also on neobux with 146 rr and 2 very active dr. I does not pay off if you do no have a golden. I'm assuming you me "It does not pay off...?"

If so then you are most likely correct. If one does not invest anything whatsoever (it is possible just takes a long time) then anything earned, even if it's a cent is still pure profit.

Yes, most money made on Neobux goes into renting more, and managing your referrals, but that is a personal preference. Of course about 98% of people that actually stick it out will put all money made back into Neobux hoping to hit a point where one can make a fair amount on a daily basis, but just like with anything, that's what is best to do. Each RR one purchases is a small stepping stone to something higher.

Currently about 60% give or take of my RR are active on a daily basis. Roughly 15% click just not on a daily basis. Might miss a day or 2. The rest i'm still trying to work on.

For reference here is a snapshot of my first page of RR (Ordered by average) 100 RRSpoiler (Click to View)

I currently have about 200 RR who meet higher then the BEP or 1.33. Just to prove that not all Neobux RR are bad, its just how you manage them.

(Jan 27, 2014 07:39 AM)Buddha Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) This is very detailed and nice of you to do for the community may solve the golden question is it even work the time and money.

Thanks for the comment. Yes the golden question. This was the main reason I started doing this. At the time there was a lot of questions going around the monetizing forum regarding PTC sites.

Someone asked me on Skype in regards to my recent rental day.

I was asked "Why did you only purchase 90 RR instead of going for 100, which I could've grabbed no problem" In theory, the more the better right?

Of course there had to be a reason behind why I did this, and I am glad someone asked, clearly I forgot to state what my plan was. I knew that within the next few days (just after renting which was if memory serves me right was Day 22) I would need to renew a few RR who had fallen below Autopay status (20+ Day remaining till expiry).

Being a standard member, having more then 250 RR increases renewal prices. It only increases by 1 cent, but with what I am trying to achieve, every cent counts.

You could make a simple Blogger blog or another simple website to just list all your stats and stuff. I might do it as well, I love looking at statistics and all that :D.
It would look pretty nice.

I will think about doing that next. Will just mean a bit more work I will have to do. I'm quite the lazy person when it comes to these kinds of things.

I do plan to, in the future, work an autoblog to try and promote my direct link. That's still to come tho, hopefully when I reach golden, if I even can.

Seems good to me if you are manually renewing your RR. Reason I chose to use autopay, and still do is to reduce the amount of work I have to worry about. Unless you renew for more then 90 days per RR, then its best to keep autopay on. Discount received is the same as renewing for 60 days.

There are a bunch of different renewal options within the autorenew section. Including when to start autorenew (so many days before expiry)

Recycling using points?

Tick the RR you want to recycle, and scroll to the bottom of the page, select recycle and if you have enough points there will be to options to recycle with.

How many RR you want to purchase is completely up to you. Of course the more the better, but if you can't manage many RR then its a waste of time.

according to your strategy :).

(Feb 15, 2014 07:09 PM)phackman Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) should i turn on autopay AND recycle 15#10 friend

according to your strategy :).

Yes turn autopay on, if you aren't renewing your RR manually for more than 90 days+ a time. Just have to remember that autopay doesn't kick in for RR who have less then 20 days til expiry, hence why I am renewing for 15 days a time. This puts all RR who fall below autopay status back into it.

As for your recycling, don't quite understand what you mean. Gotta take a quick guess and mean you want to recycle 10 - 15?

If so then I suggest recycling no more then 2 - 3% of your total RR.

IE: You have 10 RR, recycle no more then 2 RR per day. This should be able to keep your profit margin higher then if you recycle more. As long as you meet the BEP (Break Even Point) or 1.33 you will be in profit.

The strategy I am using was made on the fly. There are probably much better strategies to follow. You might want to check out the neobux forums regarding strategies.

What ever it says in my sig is the current up to date amount I have made. Approx. $62.

Withdrawn $6 so far.

Currently have 300 RR.

Account isn't upgraded. Still undecided as to whether or not I will upgrade before this journey is over.

To be honest, I'm dead set AGAINST autorenew. There are to many variables for it to be reliable. Your better off, if following what I am currently doing, waiting till any RR falls to 10 days til expiry then manually renewing them for 15 days. This will put them to 25 days til expiry also pushing them back into autopay boundaries.
