Thread: Twitter Follower Bot?

AndreeU17 - January 5, 2014, 4:14 pm

I wasn't sure where to post this. If anyone can help me I'd appreciate it a lot. I want to have followers in my twitter. I'm not looking for a bot that follows random user that have no tweets. I want a bot if possible that searches for a set of random user. Those users will follow me. Now it gives the user a chance to see my twitter account and after that if they still want to follow then they should otherwise they can unfollow. I'm just looking for them to notice my account. I know there are other ways of advertisements but I really want something like this. Is it possible and if so where or how can I come across something like that!

I'm also looking one for Instagram !

Thanks

You can try TweetAttacksPro6 for mass following. It can use keywords to search for users then follow them automatically. Once you follow them, they will get a notification. As long as your name, profile and content are attractive enough, they will follow you back.
