Thread: Deface Websites \(TUT\)

-[ZeroThunder Hacker]- - December 17, 2008, 11:20 am

Deface a Website

There are couple of ways that we can deface a website

- 1.SQL
- 2.XSS
- 3.Shell upload
- 4.RFI
- 5.LFI

like that .. so but today Im going to show you .. how can you deface a website using a shell so lets start it before you upload a shell you need to know about shells

Shells

you can use shell as a tool .. Its more easy to use .. when you upload shell it will give you every detail about the site .. you write , delete , upload ... or what ever you want to do .. so

How can we find a shell

you can google for that www.google.com , or this are some sites that you can find shells

<http://www.shellci.biz/>

<http://www.evillc0der.com/>

<http://r57.gen.tr/>

<http://rinotrans.com/rino/>

ok .. now we know about shells

How to upload a shell to a website

there are many ways you can upload a shell to a website but Im going to use upload option to upload the shell .. its up to you how to find a way to upload a shell coz there are many ways ...

so lets see at this picture

[img][http://i44.\[censored\].com/2psjd6s.jpg](http://i44.[censored].com/2psjd6s.jpg)[/img]

and here we have our shell

[img]http://i40.[censored].com/1rswu1.jpg[/img]

now you have the controle of the site .. you can do anything .. delete , upload write anything you want ohhh thanks, I just got confused because of that orange box that looked like a program. Can I just ask with shells like XSS RFI and LFI do you copy and paste the script to notepad and what do you save it as?

Then just go to the website, register then upload avatar or signature. then select your saved shell?

I learned, today, one of the ways you attack a website. For sharing your knowledge has made me a smarter person.

Great piece of work. I'm looking forward to seeing a video tutorial!

has he browsed to his shell or something`? .. .From what I see;

He has uploaded the shell, and then viewed the directory for the shell (In this case, it's an image file, so naturally it'll be located in an image folder where similar images are found.)

The shell code appears to create a new Directory Listing template in which allows him to do basically everything that he'd like to do. What I'm unsure of, is;

If Zer0 Thunder browses to the shell, then clicks or redirects to the link manually to activated it;

Ex;

1. Upload Shell.
2. <http://www.targetsite.com/images/c99shell.php>
3. <http://www.targetsite.com/images/>

Step one being uploading the shell.

Step two being opening the PHP file manually (to possibly activate the code?)

Step three being able to view the directories now with the modified commands.

It is either by doing it this way, or by uploading the script (It's being uploaded as an image) and waiting for the image to be called like it usually would (For a recipe website, the image would show on the recipe's respective page. Perhaps calling the 'image' in that manner would activate the code?)

Again, I'm unsure of the workings of this, but I'm pretty sure if you ask the almighty Google-Machine some questions, you'll figure some more out.

nevets04 - December 20, 2008, 4:59 pm

Looks like a good tutorial, only problem is, I cant find a site i can upload php files to.

Well, you rename the file with an asp extension, and then once you've found a website vulnerable to RFI, you simply upload the file. When you open it, you should have the shell sitting on your screen awaiting your humble command.

xlrax0r - January 12, 2009, 2:54 am

I've already tried that. But it didn't work. Now I read through the code of some of the asp shells and it seems that some of them need the cmd.exe to be uploaded too. Well I'm going to try it now with one that hopefully doesn't need the cmd.exe. Otherwise I will upload a cmd.exe too. I've already hacked the ftp server so I don't need a RFI vulnerability anymore :)

Olzi - January 12, 2009, 3:02 am just to add if a site has an upload section but is not vunerable to pulic shells which could be most sites if they have a half decent admin the way around it is to add a null byte to the file

eg. shell.php%00.jpg

so the server side reads the .jpg upon uplaod if its a image upload so it scans to make sure common image files are uploaded not viruses and shells

but when you goto the url

eg www.lol.com/images/shell.php

the null byte is not needed as its not actually there the "%00.jpg" is not read on the server side after upload so it goes back to shell.php

Question: i am done uploading the c99.php in a my targeted website but nothing happened... after uploading the php file.. whats the next thing to do?...

-[ZeroThunder Hacker]- - January 13, 2009, 6:14 am

goto the shell ! and open the shell

TrojanHorse - January 14, 2009, 3:45 am

So, when you have uploaded the Shell, how do you then gain control of the website?

shells are like cpanals ..but more fun than a cpanal...

AcidRainZ - January 14, 2009, 5:52 am can u explain more further?

-[ZeroThunder Hacker]- - January 14, 2009, 6:19 am

umm ! welll

shell is a .php file and hards thing is to upload it to a site and after u upload it to a website you have the all access to the site ..

I mean u can delete , edit what every u want

Thrash - January 14, 2009, 1:54 pm

Thanks for putting effort into this - it will help people to understand the concept behind shells.

Well done.

Hay dude fromwhere I can get Shell c99?

doomster - March 9, 2009, 11:31 pm

i have found the shell but my question is do we have to copy all the parts of the texts to notepad and save it as php..?

One More Question..

I Have R57shell.php..But When I Tried It to Upload To A Website As An Avatar..Some Error Message Occured..Can Anyone Tell Me Why It Happened?..

Thanks In Advance and Thanks For the Tutorial..Keep It Up..

oraK - March 10, 2009, 3:15 am doomster, 90% of sites won't allow php format to be uploaded into the avatar area, that's most likely why..

Usually avatars are restricted to, gif, jpg, png etc.

Very nice.
Stop the war ;D

Random_Hero - April 14, 2009, 8:23 pm
^^ To upload it, just put it in any section where they ask you to Browse for a file to upload and host. If they allow the file type, and have weak security, it would work.

I'm not suggesting this and they have good security anyway but an example of a place where you upload is Photobucket - they ask to upload a pic, instead you use your shell.

varvaxy - April 14, 2009, 8:39 pm

>>>>><>>>>>>>

Schizoid™ - May 13, 2009, 2:35 am

I think I can use this.

But here is a little issue. Here the website that Zero Thunder Hacker tried was one that allowed uploading images to the site. And furthermore it allowed uploading of files that had .php extension. The website that I want to bring down does not allow images to be uploaded to the main site. Well, you CAN display images but that is by the [img] tag and the image has to remain outside the website. We can only LINK to that image. Also even if I do persuade the admins to allow uploading the images, they are not going to allow the uploading of .php files in images. Only the standard image files.

Can I call the shells even in picture format or will they not work when I upload them in .jpg or .bmp or .png etc formats? Do they HAVE to be .php files to be executed?

I hope someone will answer this. Thanks.

If not, then plain and simple

You do not permission to access this file and without root you can't fix tha ;o .

I wouldn't trust any PHP shell that you haven't created yourself or heavily audited. It's ridiculously easy to trojan/backdoor a shell. All someone has to do is add a line so that when you access the shell, it sends an email or sends a link of the uploaded shell to whoever edited the code. Only skids use c99.

wayback - September 6, 2009, 4:14 am

all sites are patached with common vunerabilitiess

XSS, SQL, RFI/LFI..

try HTTP parameter polluting which sends arbitrary commands to server and execute it :)) you are correct, I kno for certain that some versions of the r57 shell by rst contain backdoors, so they get to hijack whatever host you compromise.

all pictures links are dead..

re-upload dead links and pictures ..

404NameNotFound - June 5, 2011, 6:01 pm

Sorry, this really didn't make sense to me. Maybe it's just the lack of images, but it seems to lack a bit of information too..

somerandomhacker21 - June 5, 2011, 7:51 pm

This is very nice I will be sure to use it thanks!

Chalk - November 8, 2011, 3:55 pm

thanks a lot, really helpful information. :)

soeasy - February 12, 2012, 11:42 am

Disparity - December 29, 2014, 4:21 pm

What an utterly useless tutorial. OP didn't teach people shit about doing the main part of the process.

TheWholeWorldExplodes - December 29, 2014, 4:26 pm

thanks guys.
