neil5050 - January 18, 2014, 7:32 pm

Using chrome browser for this

1. go to your main profile
2. type in any site

For example -> I am going to do www.google.com

3. Right click the status and hit inspect element -> must be on chrome browser

4. go to where it says user

5. change url to whatever. for example changing it to myspace

6. hit post

7. Should go to myspace.com when someone clicks it

RKO - January 18, 2014, 7:58 pm

Great share mate :-) This trick will be useful for many other websites too like twitter, etc.

neil5050 - January 19, 2014, 1:42 am

yup -> this is a big share and I saw no one else posted it anywhere

Huskar - January 19, 2014, 1:43 am

Wow this is cool I will try it later.

Thanks op. ?

neil5050 - January 19, 2014, 1:44 am

Its very simple, and I recommend to abuse till its patched.

DarK-D3v!L - January 19, 2014, 1:45 am great trick bro , thanks for sharing that with us , it might be very usefull !

Best regards

Huskar - January 19, 2014, 1:46 am

Did you find this out yourself?

and I don't think they can patch this haha :p

neil5050 - January 19, 2014, 1:51 am

Feel free to test it -> it should work if you attempt it right now. And you can do a lot with this trick.

Sexy Devil - January 19, 2014, 1:58 am

Thank you for sharing...

this is cool~

neil5050 - January 19, 2014, 2:00 am

I am hoping this becomes a hot topic pretty soon. And your welcome sexy.

jax2011 - January 19, 2014, 2:29 am

it say:"The message cannot be post in this board"

Edit: now it work, i had no put initial https :)

BlackHack00 - January 19, 2014, 3:11 am

Greate share...It would be very useful :)

AJFKing - January 19, 2014, 3:23 am

Amazing trick, I'll be messing around with this today for sure. Thanks a lot for the share!

hackermafia - January 19, 2014, 3:48 am very nice bro good trick is working.....

Right - January 19, 2014, 3:57 am

Thanks for sharing man, should be helpful.

neil5050 - January 19, 2014, 9:13 am

Welcome everyone I am hoping everyone finds this very useful

Feel free to use before it gets patched.

Anyone possibly interested in another cool fb trick. That a lot of people do not know about.

infernuspt - January 19, 2014, 4:59 pm

This is a pretty good trick. Works thank you for the share mate.

HackScope - January 19, 2014, 5:10 pm

Nice trick I appreciate and I am gonna use it alot telltale - January 19, 2014, 6:26 pm

Can anybody tell me how can this be useful? What kind of things can be done with this?

Bibl - January 19, 2014, 7:02 pm

Not much use for it but still a very good find great share, thanks for this trick OP!

i.o.o.i - January 19, 2014, 10:17 pm

Nice trick :). Thanks for the share.

uBTC - January 19, 2014, 10:19 pm

That is indeed a wonderful method. Thank you.

thmaster100 - January 19, 2014, 10:54 pm

Tested , works :)

thank you mate :)

Update :

worked with firefox also :)

Just tested my self (same method)

Splin3 - January 19, 2014, 11:14 pm

Thanks you bro for the tutorial with pictures. ! He work !?

V.V.V.V.V - January 19, 2014, 11:20 pm

Very useful if you knew what you were doing.

You can send someone to any site you want. Regardless of the url posted on your profile.

D?pe - January 20, 2014, 8:31 am

Very nice, definitely adding this post to my favorites.

neil5050 - January 20, 2014, 8:37 am

I been messing with a lot of facebook stuff recently. I am tempted to post a gif posting trick if anyone is interested. (currently working) that is if it doesn't get patched by the time I post it. For example this trick isn't patch and anyone testing this right now should have it working.

lazyOne - January 20, 2014, 8:55 am

Interesting indeed. Very interesting.

neil5050 - January 20, 2014, 9:10 am

facebook gif posting tutorial coming soon. I am going to possibly try to post it by tomorrow or the day after if it isnt patched by then.

Boxici - January 20, 2014, 11:00 am

Great trick, thank you for sharing :) . Will play with this later.

CrypticTheKing - January 20, 2014, 12:10 pm

Thanks you so much for the TUT its going to help lots of people

Mr.Motivation - January 20, 2014, 1:03 pm

so simply but still working method :D why not to use something what works

Staff.Company - January 20, 2014, 1:04 pm

Snify - January 20, 2014, 2:14 pm

You're basically changing the post parameters in order to spoof the redirection.

I highly doubt it's gonna be patched, ever.

Thanks for the share :)

Great share mate, keep up the good work.

neil5050 - January 21, 2014, 9:40 am

No problem, I might add other cool facebook tutorials too. Also guys don't forget I posted a tutorial to post gifs into facebook groups too.

emirej2012 - January 21, 2014, 9:52 am

Thanks, work like a charm! This is AWESOME :)

Thank you

Mace - January 21, 2014, 10:02 am lame. will only work on the computer, and in the browser window that your changing it for, very lame.

Gyir - January 21, 2014, 10:59 am

The only way this could be patched would most likely be to make the form which handles the link stored autonomously and accessed from the webpage. I'd say it's definitely possible. And @mace, this will work. The page's source is changed before it's uploaded, and the form that gathers the information will be reading from the altered material. I haven't tested it; but in theory that is the idea.

boubasse - January 21, 2014, 11:59 am Very useful to hide a link by another :)

itzx vizuh - January 21, 2014, 12:02 pm

this is good for phishing sites mate nice tut nice, i never seen this before. can be useful for phishing.

Thexp - January 21, 2014, 8:25 pm

This isn't even useful. Facebook can't patch to because it is client side and doesn't work for anyone else other than you. Also when you reload the page, your edited html goes away.

You are so unskilled. Please delete your account and learn the TCP/IP Protocol first and learn how POST and GET works. Then you will see that facebook can patch it and reloading the page will of course result in a new empty form. ???

what the hell are you talking about? This has nothing to do with POST/GET. Let me explain how it works because clearly you don't know:

You change a HTML attribute which has been downloaded already The HTML you've changed does not go to the server. If you refresh the page, the changed HTML is gone, and the link is back to what it was. If you copy the link, and open a new window, and paste it, and click on the link, it'll do what facebook has set it to do.

(Aug 4, 2014 05:11 PM)neil5050 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) You guys should check out the thread on where I show people on how to force other people to log out on facebook . It goes really well with my link spoofing trick

Could you say how did you do to not change the subtitle, even the url is changed? I can't get that to work.

neil5050 - August 4, 2014, 10:25 pm

What do you mean by Sub title Theabsolute theAbsolute - August 5, 2014, 8:55 am

See some example post:

<http://www.businessandfaith.eu/wp-content/uploads/2013/01/Tell-friends-this-post-is-important-Promote-private-Facebook-message.jpg>

Just after the title, there is website url. Whenever I change the url following your tutorial, that subtitle changes as well, and it's obvious that somethings wierd about the link.

But on your example, on your page, subtitle isn't changed.

neil5050 - August 5, 2014, 2:40 pm

ok, I tested it again -> reason is when I first uploaded the trick. The subittles always changed to the exact url.

it looked like this when i first posted the trick a few months ago. Facebook recently made some changes it seems so thats why the sub tittles seem to have not changed.

Great Trick Bro Thanks for Sharing It :)

woms - October 19, 2014, 6:55 am

Nice one, should be nice for tricking people into websites they wouldn't want to go to ;)

Pflash - October 19, 2014, 9:40 am great share man .

this is unpatchable :P

marcus10 - October 23, 2014, 3:25 am

This is one of the best trick that I've found here! Thanks neil5050! :D

However I have a question that puzzles me for around 6 months but I can't still find the answer. Ok here's the mind-boggling-question: On facebook, can we really change the URL name on the end of the post???

This one???

lols007 - November 9, 2014, 11:38 pm

This isn't working for me :(

Please help me

Wow this is cool I will try it later.

Thanks op. Tongue

kaotik2003 - June 19, 2015, 1:22 pm

Awesome trick. Could be used for infection or IP Grabber. I just used it to play with my friends lol beachkid - June 19, 2015, 3:06 pm could redirect them to an fake login aka facebook login screen

sonikshot - June 20, 2015, 11:31 pm

Wow. Awesome share. This opens up so many possibilities!
