Done, thanks man!

Seriously people, subscribe to Crunchyroll, it's 4.99 a month (which is like not buying a bottle of coke each week + some choco bars) and you get access to loads of HQ animes.

You're welcome.

I've just had them laying around for ages now.

Also, yes, do subscribe, I mainly watch it on my phone, but it's totally worth it.

I'm able to stream 1080p anime without even buffering for a few seconds, so I don't know what you're on about. owO

Australian internet can blow me ? I get buffering times on 480p anime from sites like AnimeUltima etc. I haven't tried CrunchyRoll for speed, but my internet just sucks too much to stream 720p and up when anyone else is using the internet as well (which is around 90% of the time).

It's worth it in my book. You get to stream all the anime you want for quite a cheap monthly fee.

For those of you who may be interested, there's a podcast I listen to that has a promotion with Crunchyroll. Oddly enough they've never watched anime before but somehow they got an anime company sponsorship, lol.

Free 30 day trial of Crunchyroll (yes you have to put in credit card information but you will NOT be charged). Just set a reminder on your phone a few days before the trial expires and no problem. Chances are, in a few months they'll send you another 30 day trial so use a real email address.

I don't use the website anymore, haven't used it in years but I often watch jacksfilms's videos and he usually advertises things and among those things is this :

<https://www.crunchyroll.com/jack>

From what I see you get a free month of service if you use that link. Haven't scrolled through the thread to see if anyone shared it but anyways, leaving this here for those that don't know.
