Its a more personal one, but I was with some teammates after a basketball game we won and we went to mcdonalds. My teammates were being really fucking loud and obnoxious in the whole place and people where starting to stare. My teammates ended up cutting infront of this couple who were I'm guessing around 40-45 years old. And boy can I tell you, the look on their face was one of pissed of and disappointment. So my good deed was I offered to buy them mcflurrys (ice cream desert) and I apologized for my teammates saying they were "Fired up from the game we won"

Cats or dogs?: Always dogs. Never was a cat person. Mans best friend.
