Thread: Looking for a Coder\(Vb.net\) for this simple one time job good pay

The Guardian warrior - February 4, 2014, 11:59 am

Sup all,
am basically looking for a coder to code me an application.

Project : A cleaner app same as CCLEANER (by same i mean all those functions and stuff)

Language to be coded in : VB.NET

Notes : Along with app once done,the coder will also have to provide me the source code and will also have to make the APP HWID protected using my .NET SEAL account. note one more thing, i WILL NOT BE selling this app afterwards neither on HF nor somewhere else i just need it done the way i want for certain reasons i can't tell openly :P

Payment: By paypal

Anything else?: need this done AS QUICKEST as possible I won't be going first here's how deal will go:

*We get in contact by PM and i tell u the details such as features,name,etc

*You get it done

*After done u show me it over teamviewer and i send u half payment

*Then u send me the BIN ONLY(exe) and i test it and after testing it i send the remaining payment

*After that you send me the source code

how much am offering? : I have no set price in mind but all i can say is "I DO NOT LOW BALL"

This is all!
thanks

Well, let me set a price range for you, then. This would cost you anywhere from $200-400+ (this is what a programmer who actually knows what they're doing would charge you. Not the people who would charge you $20 and would give you a program that crashes when opened and then they disappear,) mostly around $300 considering that this would be a profitable program once it's set up for SID locking and all that jazz. Rather or not you say you're not going to sell it doesn't mean that the program is not sellable. I'd charge 310 for the whole thing (source code included in the price) but that's just my quote. That being said, I wish you luck in your project.

PS: for anyone else who wants to know what they'd be doing: CCleaner Features It's not difficult if you know what you're doing. It's just time-consuming.

Your best bet is to hire a professional programmer from a programming website, Just saying

Well... I have been programming for 9 years and have been teaching programming for 2. Halfway through getting my bachelors in Computer Science... I don't know if professional is the word for it, but I can confidently say that I know what I'm doing.
