Chapter Two:

Lumbridge was my Hometown.

As the young boy entered the mysterious world of Runescape, he was approached by another player named "Ninmci" who was Level 118. "Hello, are you new to Runescape?" asked Ninmci, "Yes, I have only just begun.. What should I do?" replied the boy, "You should start by building yourself a nice little bank, I would personally begin with woodcutting normal trees behind this castle." Ninmci then took the boy a little north to some chickens to collect a Bronze Axe, then he took him back to where he needed to cut.

Ninmci stood with the boy for over 4 hours, just talking and getting know to him before he had to leave. Once he had left the boy was Level 45 Woodcutting, but he still didn't have much of a bank. He thought to himself that the best thing to do would be to explore the world and see where things are. He banked everything he had and started to walk west, eventually coming across a shipyard.

As he approached one of the boats he saw a female player disappear. "What happened?! WHERE DID SHE GO?!", he was extremely confused.(not knowing she could of just logged out..)

Another player came up to him and said "Here, take this and board the boat. You might be able to find her on the other side."

The trip will cost 30gp.

Sure, here you go.

Seaman Lorris
Climb aboard.

The journey was very short, it felt like he had just teleported to the island. "Maybe they used a speedboat?"..

Once he had arrived on the docks of Karamja, he saw someone in the distance running into what seemed to be a plantation of Bananas. He quickly clicked after the mysterious character, hoping he would find the female who went missing.

As he entered the plantation, he saw the female player collecting Bananas from the trees. "What are you doing?" he asked. "Im collecting Bananas for the guy in the hut next to us, he pays 30gp for a crate filled with 10 Bananas!!"

The boy thought this was incredible, he thought Ninmci would be so proud of him for starting to build his bank up. He began collecting Bananas, putting them in the crate outside the hut and collecting his 30gp. Eventually he had built up a total of around 2,000 coins, but he didn't know where he was or how to get back.

"CAN ANYONE HELP ME, IM LOST!!" he shouted.

He was approached by a player, who said he would be able to take him somewhere to be able to get back to Lumbridge.

The mysterious player didn't say much, only "Keep Up.." and "Come on!" as together they ran over a volcano.

"Go inside the Volcano, then run south." said the player.

The boy entered the Volcano.

"OH MY GOD!!" he screamed as he was attacked by a Lesser Demon.

"Byebye." said the player.

Oh dear, you have died.
