Your product is dead, you have abandon your customers by the clear looks of it and I didn't know about your crypter until close to the end of ours being done. We contemplated changing it but why should I when I have a competing name with a crypter that isn't there really.

If you really have that much of a problem, you can pm me.

Yes a few bug fixes for Plasma and DarkComet are being launched today, they re-FUD is also being worked on atm as well as a NetSeal feature which will allow us to remotely diagnose your errors.

Any bugs/errors today are most likely because of the update so please just stay tuned while it's being updated.

No one can tell you what settings to use on a rat that we don't own
You pick the options you want on the crypter and that's your choice

This isn't a support thread and we don't support how to setup your rats bin.

This isn't a support thread and we don't support how to setup your rats bin. When I posted on here a couple of days ago you replied saying to use the support button (which I did). And... If y'all coded the crypter, then you should at least be able to help me find out what is corrupting the file. Or at least be able to tell me if it's even compatible with Solar bot (coded in Lazarus). Just in case you misunderstood me, I don't need support setting up the bin for Solar Bot. I need help crypting it.

I would understand if y'all put forth the effort to even reply in the first place. But I didn't even get a reply. And, as stated in the thread, I should be receiving "Full support" and "Skype support".
