Thread: What Does Your Username Mean?

Regulus - February 7, 2014, 8:23 am

Hello awesome members. So first of all, it was a while ago i saw one if these threads here on the Forum so i thought i'd make another one, hope it's okay for you. Now, tell me, What does your Username actually mean? And why did you choose it?

I'm curious as i have seen some weird and interesting Usernames here on HF haha!

My username: Regulus is the brightest star in the constellation Leo the Lion. It is a bluish star. (Blue is my favorite color as well)

Why i choose it: I'm born in August, which means i have the "Lion" star sign (Zodiac). And Regulus the star is known as the "Heart of the Lion" in the constellation Leo.

So my star sign is very meaningful for me and i love it so much, i will never ever change that name here on HF =)

Take care members and have a great day! ?

630 - February 7, 2014, 8:25 am

My username does not really have much meaning to me anymore, it's an area code I used to live in when I was younger. I knew when joining I wanted a cool name and it works for me.

Describe or represent (something) as being smaller, worse, or less important than it actually is.

UnrelentingSausage - February 7, 2014, 8:29 am

I chose this name because I originally thought of the name "RuthlessMeatloaf" I played as said name for a while then felt like it had just gotten old. So I tried to think of other foods and meanings for Ruthless and then I was eating breakfast one day and came up with UnrelentingSausage.

Justinian's reign is marked by the ambitious but only partly realized renovatio imperii, or "restoration of the Empire" (thx wikipedia).
