

Forum: Hack Forums

Thread: need helping shutting down cyberbullying group dananon - February 7, 2014, 12:32 pm

greetings.

as some of you may know, there is facebook group all started by 1 young adult located in los angeles which contains 111,419 members. it is the center of cyberbullying.

teens upload photos of one another bashing on anything from sexual orientation to race to mental illness. there is so much cyberbullying in this group that would have to scroll along through to understand it.

would anyone be interested in taking this down?

Engves - February 7, 2014, 12:33 pm

"a facebook group" This isn't really helpful, you should probably post the link here

dananon - February 7, 2014, 12:45 pm

My mistake!

Here is the Tom foolery I speak of.

<https://www.facebook.com/groups/284020144963138/>

also, judging by the past 6 days, their averaging 660 new members on a daily basis.

Engves - February 7, 2014, 12:58 pm

Mate what do you even want us to do. The owner of the group has post her full information there. Its not difficult to fuck her over.

dananon - February 7, 2014, 1:01 pm

(Feb 7, 2014 01:58 PM)Engves Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Mate what do you even want us to do. The owner of the group has post her full information there. Its not difficult to fuck her over.

i don't understand how the URL's got mixed up. by my mistake once again. this is the group

<https://www.facebook.com/groups/lostutopia/>

it's called lost utopia. anyway, so assuming i have the group admin's IP address, what are the next steps?

Temporize - February 7, 2014, 3:57 pm

LOL

I just joined it, it's literally the most harmless thing I've ever seen..

Don't waste your time OP.

elcane - February 7, 2014, 4:06 pm

^This - it seems you have been a bit misled because I don't really see much going on worthy of putting in the time/effort to dismantle such a large group. If you are really concerned and want to hit cyberbullies where it hurts there are much smaller groups doing much more damage that you should focus on.