Thread: Need help fixing code on MyBB theme

Vaper - February 10, 2014, 9:57 pm

So I had a custom theme made for my forum and it is all fucked up.

The links on the board that are clickable are the same color as the theme so I can't read what they say.

Also, the quote box is fucked up.

When I try and edit the code in ACP it doesn't change anything. So I need to actually edit the code and re-import the theme.

If anyone can help me that would be great. I just need to know what to edit and what to edit it to.

Here are some pictures of what it looks like currently.

Use chrome and right click, inspect element. Look over on the css part and copy the beginning of text above the hex color . Go into your global css of theme, Ctrl f and paste what you copied into it. You'll find the line and edit the hex color to whatever. If my instructions are unclear go on mybb.com and ask them they'll help in a flash

(inspect element the font that is blending)
