Refunds will only be given when I do not deliver your minutes

You may not chargeback, this will result in a scam

How does this work mate? will you add a site on yours and just allow 1000 minutes on it?

Or do you somehow transfer the minutes?

System.out.println - February 12, 2014, 12:32 pm

Well I can do it on many ways:

- 1). You create a new account and I run the traffic exchange program on one of my many vps's.
- 2). You can give me your account details and I run the traffix exchange program on one of my many vps's.
- 3). I can put your link into my account and you will receive your hits equal to the minutes you ordered.

Futurebound - February 12, 2014, 12:40 pm

Okay, on your account is it a premium member? because it means you can change where the traffic is coming from?

My account is currently not premium but I will use my methode so the traffic will not come from hitleap.

I'm currently only offering this service:

I will send the minutes/views from my account(got way too much minutes)

I will not run your Hitleap account on my vps's atm.

Infer - April 4, 2014, 11:46 am

So you won't actually give the minutes to the account? (Run the program)
