No, we are not kidding anyone. Yes we are serious. For other service the price are high for many factors, job difficulty and other.

Omg not another one of these threads..... Kill me now.

Vicellus Drum - February 14, 2014, 2:44 am

You're going to have to gain some credibility and provide evidence of actual hacking services, otherwise nobody's going to purchase from you.

Your prices are pretty outrageous too.

Yes. We can provide credibility and some evidence about our hacking services. For example, for doxing service we have vouch copy.

Doxing is extremely trivial, and could be done by just about anyone. Why not something that actually proves your credibility? IE rooting some servers?

We will do the best to upgrade the tools about facebook and e-mail. For other services in the future we will provide vouch copy for example hacking website and other. But at the moment we can't for logistical reason.

If someone need assistance (Live Help) we can provide it by Skype. We will be glad to help you. Trust us. We will do the best.

potatopete54 - February 14, 2014, 3:36 am

You really have to reduce some of your service's prices.. for example;

E-mail Password (From 1500€ to 2500€)

You should change it.. every mail in the world isn't valuable.

Same goes for Doxing and DDoSing.

Hello

You are right when you say that we are new joined on that forum but this not means that we are scammers or thief. You can understand this?

About the prices you are right to say that seems very high but our co-operators ask a lot of money for this service and you know that it is not easy to hack a website within just 5 minutes? Ok? If it's easy to hack a website within just 5 minutes We would be grateful to resell the service for just 50$. But that's not possible.

About the vouches, do not be worried. We have our timeframe and we're still processing our request. As we told before, we are not magic and we will do the best to get legit vouch.

Rapist, To help the people we will continue to advertising our hacking services.

We don't force you to accept our conditions or our prices.

It's normal for Anonymous to sell things at these prices because he has high reputation, had showcased his skills many times which is why he has the black hat award, and he is just a bad ass.

You have: A sketchy status, the right to post a thread, you do not have the right to post a thread in Judge Dredd's section, and you probably use RATs for hacking. If you would like to prove me wrong, please do the request of the person above and hack into Mark Zuckerberg's account as well as try and hack the db. Let's see how you do.

Yes but Anonymous are trusted as fuck and have tons of vouches. This guy or these guys here doesn't have any vouches and they recently joined the forum so.

3 He hasn't responded on any request yet, instead of that he's only replying to the guys pointing him on the facts.

4. I've irritated him a few times already and he hasn't done a shit about it while he's promoting his legendary hacking skills.

However, I asked them for a vouch copy of hacking a facebook account, they said that they will provide me with a phishing page and i had to do it myself -_-

It doesn't make him worth less than Anonymous. If he is able to prove his skills, I would say he is automatically qualified to be a trusted service provided.

We need to apologize with you guys if we seems scammer or other. We sell our services for those prices because our partners being very good with hacking services, they ask al lot of money for this.

Honestly, we know that they're not cheap prices and we will do the best to collect money in order to buy the new equipments.

1. You're just talking bullshit as I've said several times before.
2. You're complaining about my grammar while yours isn't even understandable. I haven't saw any proper sentence yet.
3. You still didn't answer my question why you're promoting Anonymous's hacking service while he should be your competitor if you were really able to execute the services you're offering.
4. I don't get why you're asking such an amount to hack a facebook password while you're simply sending your customer a phishing script and let them do it theirself. A phishing script that would save the password simply doesn't cost alot of money and could be easily made. If you're indeed willing to pay for a script like that you're free to pay me for it lol.
5. If you haven't got these tools yet to actually execute your offers, you simply don't know if you're able to do it. Why the hell are you offering those services then? You've proved your nothing more then a fucking joke as I've told you already.

1. We don't saying bullshit and if you don't understand this, it is your problem.
2. You cannot complaining about our grammar if you are the first user that write incorrect sentence.
3. We are not promoting their services even if we are using their signature.
4. We don't recommend to the customer to send a phishing link to the victim because we can also send a trap email to the victim. At the moment we don't use this technique anymore because the success is 70%. We don't said that our phishing script costs a lot of money but we explained that other equipment used by our third associates cost many money. After we bought these tools we can resell some services for cheap prices.

5. We are working with our third partner that can sell their service for those prices. As soon as we are collected the right money we will buy the equipment and we will resell the services for cheap prices. We are not here to waste our time.

So you're not promoting their services by wearing the signature linked to his sales thread? Why the hell are you wearing it then?

This 70% rate is based on what? So you're saying you don't recommend your customers to send a phishing link but you've quitted using your other method? Wtf should your customer do then?
