

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Computer Protection Essentials

Narrate - February 21, 2014, 12:00 am

Hey HF,

I was just wondering what are your guys computer protection essentials? Like what do you need to have to protect your computer?

Personally This Is My List:

JRT

Shortcut Cleaner

TDSSKiller

RKill

TFC

RogueKiller

CCleaner

MalwareBytes Anti-Malware Tool

Avast Computer Protection

AdwCleaner

So what essentials do you guys use?

I also scan everything before I download using Anubis And VirusTotal

Aura - February 21, 2014, 4:19 am

I already have a thread going on there if you want to post in it instead ?

<https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=4067069>

Corso - February 21, 2014, 6:24 am

I hate when people just carelessly list shit... Why do you use those? When? How often? Give us something of value... Also this thread exists like, 20 times over - Why not add your post to those?

Null Byte - February 21, 2014, 7:46 am

All I use is Process Hacker 2 running with system privileges. Also malwarebytes' for weekly scans.

Narrate - February 21, 2014, 9:12 am

Q: I hate when people just carelessly list shit... Why do you use those? When? How often? Give us something of value... Also this thread exists like, 20 times over - Why not add your post to those?

I apologize, but I wasn't suggesting to use these, so that wasn't really relevant.. But if you really want to know, I run all of these on start-up, when ever I download anything, I run MBAM, TdssKiller, TFC and Rkill to check the most common spots a virus could be.