

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Customers of Grim Booter

henry2428 - February 24, 2014, 7:05 am

Hi all! I've been a long user of Grim Booter, basically from when it started up. About a month ago, My account with approximately 12 months remaining was removed. I then created a second account with the same username to send a support ticket about it but I just got removed again. It may have been due to me logging on the booter with my phone (different IP) but the previous owner from 14 months ago said that it'd be fine as long as the IP from from my city. I noticed a lot of changes in staff etc and power.

So, Have you, the customers If grim booter experienced anything and if so, what changes have you noticed? Do you like it or do you have an alternate booter? It may just be the general population of booters these days.

Sky - February 24, 2014, 7:45 am

All booters suck, I have loads of accounts on several booters which I probably shouldn't name since the accounts are hacked.

They're all utter shit, I usually just sell them off site.

TL;Dr - Don't use any booters. Put time & effort into a botnet.

~Arcane ?

Ambien - August 2, 2016, 11:08 am

(Aug 2, 2016 10:58 AM)destroyah321 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) You have a very valid point but most people on this site try to make a pretty penny off of these services, even if most of them suck and lie and cheat.

Motherfucker that post was made like 2 years ago.