VPN looks great! Already forwarded a few ports so I can do some RATING. Thanks so much and good luck with a good product!

I'll post more in-depth when I've had more time to play around with it.

EDIT #2:

Okay, I'm connected to the TX server right now, ip address (IP), and I went to the panel to portforward ports 81 and 1604.

I have a RAT connection running on port 1604 but it's not showing up in my program, and when I use CanYouSeeMe.org with that ip and port, I get "Error: I could not see your service on (IP) on port (1604)

Reason: Connection refused"

Do the portforwards take a while to kick in or something?

I am irritated right now at the fact that your thread says MultiOS Support, yet I can't run it because it's a Windows Executable file. I am running Linux and I expected you saying it is MultiOS, for it to work on Linux as well.

P.S: Don't ask me to run it in Wine because that won't work.

Also, being that you're going to be using OVH servers soon, you're going to need to know what you're doing with them servers. If you don't someone can easily come through and knock one of those servers down with ease. OVH says there's 480 Gbps of DDoS protection, but it isn't as good as they claim.

What datacenters are your servers located at? Doubting that they are "logless". Especially your US locations.

Renewing my membership now !

I really love this VPN, it's fast n smooth.

Says invalid username and password, this must be because the payment hasn't updated :p?

Interested in buying if you can show proff the you dont keep logs.

But just noticed that the first page and the website shows different prices

LegendCullough - May 5, 2014, 2:14 pm

It looks great, I will contact you soon!

There's coupon codes at the top of the thread.

Also, I no longer own this. Cheesebus does.
