

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: computer bsod when idle for certain amount of time

gbaromman - February 28, 2014, 6:23 am

When my computer is left idle it seems to BSOD and I have no idea why I think my graphics card my be dying but i have had no issues or graphical problem when using my computer.

I don't think its anything malicious or power problem as it's worked fine before its not overclocked or anything like that it's just strange as to why it happens and I was wondering if anyone can shed some light on the issue

cpu i5 2500k @3.30GHz
p8p67 mobo
16gig ram ddr3
i tihnk my graohics card is a 7870 it says in cpu_z 7800 series (can't remember exactly)

Aura - February 28, 2014, 6:57 am

(Feb 28, 2014 07:23 AM)gbaromman Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) When my computer is left idle it seems to BSOD and I have no idea why I think my graphics card my be dying but i have had no issues or graphical problem when using my computer.

I don't think its anything malicious or power problem as it's worked fine before its not overclocked or anything like that it's just strange as to why it happens and I was wondering if anyone can shed some light on the issue

cpu i5 2500k @3.30GHz
p8p67 mobo
16gig ram ddr3
i tihnk my graohics card is a 7870 it says in cpu_z 7800 series (can't remember exactly) Download and install BlueScreenView. Copy/paste the entries of the last 3-5 BSODs on Pastebin and post the link here.

gbaromman - February 28, 2014, 12:26 pm

I think i have done this right ? i jsut high;lighted the last 5 and copied them

<http://pastebin.com/2yggXSwF>

Aura - February 28, 2014, 12:31 pm

(Feb 28, 2014 01:26 PM)gbaromman Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I think i have done this right ? i jsut high;lighted the last 5 and copied them

<http://pastebin.com/2yggXSwF>

Did you install any new hardware recently ?

Did you update/install any drivers ?

Did you install any programs recently ?

Do you use a third party software to handle your drivers ?

gbaromman - February 28, 2014, 12:33 pm

Did you install any new hardware recently ?

Did you update/install any drivers ?
Did you install any programs recently ?
Do you use a third party software to handle your drivers ?

hardware no
update / maybe my graphics drivers ?
programs maybe a game but i dont remember tbh
unless the amd panel thing is counted as third party then nope

Aura - February 28, 2014, 12:35 pm

(Feb 28, 2014 01:33 PM)gbaromman Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Did you install any new hardware recently ?
Did you update/install any drivers ?
Did you install any programs recently ?
Do you use a third party software to handle your drivers ?

hardware no
update / maybe my graphics drivers ?
programs maybe a game but i dont remember tbh
unless the amd panel thing is counted as third party then nope
If you go in your Device Manager, do you have any Unknown Devices or device with missing drivers listed ?

Update : The OP's account have been compromised. I forwarded all the proofs I had (the hacker sent me PMs with the OP's account) to Factor8. Please, do not trust this user and do not reply to this thread until further notice.