

Forum: Hack Forums

Thread: Griefing small servers.

Zexo - March 2, 2014, 12:07 am

why do people grief small servers that don't have a chance.

nickchan - March 2, 2014, 12:36 am

Because most big servers have protection and really aren't worth trying. Rather than going to a new server looking for staff and getting them to install a poison plugin.

root_local - March 2, 2014, 12:38 am

Right same here small server = tard owner = no Protection :)

Oddish - March 2, 2014, 1:11 am

Because people are entertained when they grief.

Small servers are usually single-handed users that are beginners, and therefore it's much easier to grief, without all the server protection that's usually provided on large servers.

HackedLP - March 2, 2014, 9:37 am but more important is how new the server is. newer servers are more attractive for griefers

Gary - June 26, 2022, 5:32 am

It's most likely due to the fact that bigger servers have protections and backup, some people are very malicious and would like to destroy all your hard work and effort.