It's dumb how like the majority of the people like me entered the beginning of the month or the middle and have had the sig the whole time, and then theres people that join in the last like 2 days and if they win that's just kind of BS because they really didn't help at all.

Anyways, enough of my rant. Good luck everybody!

Not everyone finds this thread in the begging of the month, and it was your own choice to do so. And im sure you did it since you thought that you will have a higher chance winning if you wore it early.

Better luck next time buddy. If I could make some easy set up I would without doubt give people like you better odds of winning, but it's just easiest to keep it completely random.

Look out for our next contest. ?

(I'll still open thread if more winners want to post proof)
