Thread: [\[Being Updated Daily\] Money Making Helpdesk - Variety of methods - Free Help](#)

OhMyQuad - March 4, 2014, 8:00 am

If you want to thank me for offering this, instead of giving it to me donate to this:

<http://www.justgiving.com/ohmyquad>

I have been on hackforums for a reasonable amount of time and i thought i'd give something back, have made quite a nice amount of money using the methods i will be listing and have met some amazing people and learnt skills that i will have with me throughout the rest of my life.

So instead of selling this as an ebook and charging for it, i'm giving this out for free to the community. I won't be accepting anything for it either, i have listed a justgiving link which is going to a charity in the UK that specialises in introducing young people in the UK to business.

Topics that are coming:

Social media services

eBay and Amazon affiliate (via Facebook page posting)

Website services reselling (SEO/Design)

Ecommerce, running through basic guides and which shopping systems to use (with brief guides)

Drop shipping

SEO and onpage conversion optimisation.

Now a lot of people offer these, it's a competitive price. What a lot of people do, is they get access to a social media panel (which i shall talk about a bit later) and they post a thread saying they're selling for $0.20 above what they can get them for from the panel. People then approach me and say, i'm not getting many orders and i'm not making that much money, can you help me? I'll list what i think the most important things you need to have to maximise orders and profit.

Do your research on pricing!

You won't get anywhere with really low pricing. People just won't believe what you are saying, as the saying goes, if it's too good to be true, it probably is. Price is one of a few things that draw people in to your service. If you're depending on price alone, your service won't gain many customers. Make sure you know what you want to get out of your service, if you are doing them for fun (as i know a few people who do) then be willing to make a bit less and offer deals (special pricing for quantity) If you want to be making more of a margin, then offer a higher price and let the orders come in, use the other points you have here to attract buyers. Thread design

Now this is important, put yourself in the buyers shoes, look through other threads, look at the successful threads, what do they have, what do the unsuccessful threads have. Most people have paid a designer to make them a thread, this on hackforums alone is a must. You won't get anywhere with a pure text design. Don't make it too flashy as you want your customers to see what they're after and keep reading your thread. Customer Service

You need to be able to offer the customer their solution and keep them happy. If the order has gone completely wrong, don't be afraid to add extra views or give them a partial refund. You're better going without money than negative comments on your service. The better you can deal with a situation the more likely you shall be to have the customer come back to you. Make sure you are always friendly and answer any questions that they may have as soon as you can. If you get bored of answering the same questions, add an FAQ to your thread so that your potential customers know everything about your service. Refunds

Don't be afraid to refund people even if you've placed the order with your supplier. An unhappy customer is going to be posting all over your thread saying you don't fulfil your services. If you can deal with it in a responsible manner, they'll leave your thread alone, i have had times where I've gotten orders for $25, for some reason along the line the order has gone wrong, I've refunded the $25 and delivered the order free of charge, they've gone on to then place further orders with me and recommend me to their friends which in turn made me more than the $25 I had "lost" by refunding them.

Your signature

Make sure that you have a suitable signature that draws attention, dependant on how much you post, you can have thousands of people viewing your signature whilst scrolling through the forum. You need to make sure that your signature grabs their attention.

Free services and giveaways

This is a bit of a sore spot within social media. You see a lot of people offering free services just to gain rep. I personally have given away free services as i have had a panel which i had access to for a week that could deliver large amounts of followers/likes to facebook pages and i didn't want the slots i wasn't using for my service to go to waste so i thought i would give back to the community a bit.

How to provide Social Media Services

There are multiple ways of providing your services, some providers don't like giving away their methods which i understand. However the key methods are as follows. Social media panels, social exchange websites, software to generate the service and through reselling other peoples services.

Social Media Panels:

This is how a lot of people choose to fulfil their services. As there is a wide choice of panels, i have made a list however i won't post the list here, if you are interested send me a pm. You get a set rate from within the panel and you then choose your margin and resell your services. However don't choose these panels purely off of price. If your panel has any problems at any point, you want an owner who will respond to you quickly and deal with your issues. This is what has turned me away from so many panels to the point where i actually partnered with someone and made my own. You always need to have access to multiple panels, you want to know if your main panel shuts down overnight that you'll have a backup plan. Get speaking to the panel owner, find out their problems and limitations then see if the other panels have the same problems, try see which is best for smaller orders and which is best for large. There is a big variety just test it out and find what you like.

Social Exchange Websites:

This isn't a very common method, you complete an action and in return are credited coins, so what it basically means is if you wanted to supply 1000 likes, you yourself would have to complete 1000 likes on other pages too. These are generally slow and have a limit of 2-3k, use these only if you have the coins/credits/points on the site to spare and let the customer know.

Software/Scripts:

This is what the majority of twitter and twitch services are done through, you purchase the software, then using a list of accounts and proxies you fulfil the service. There are upsides and downsides to the service, for example the customer only gets fake users, so through social media panels you can occasionally get real users, however it does mean you have full control of the order and after you've paid off the cost of the bot you are fully in to profit.

Reselling other services:

You can approach current sellers and ask if they have any reseller rates. This may work for people who are completely new to the whole scene, as if you are reselling for somebody they shall also be making money through you, so the more successful you are the more money they get. (Hopefully this guide should cover a lot of the questions though)

Social Media Frequently Asked Questions:

Do you need to invest to do social media services?

Some panels have no minimum deposit and don't require you to pay a fee to join their panel, if you also are good at graphics you can get those done yourself. So sometimes no. However the average investment needed is between $10 and $30.

Does the service provide a certain thing (real, high retention, fake, bots etc)

You need to know what you actually provide. I shall in the next update be writing a list of all the need to know questions that customers shall ask.

Is selling social media services hard?

Social media services are usually quite easy, you had times where you have someone say i wish to buy X amount of facebook likes, you then take the money and just place the order on the panel and you are done. That's quite an easy thing to do. However if you want to be the best there is, you need to put the effort in to provide the support, keep your customers up to date of any problems and deal with any potential problems before it gets difficult.

Is it profitable?

If you do it right, yes it is profitable, if you make a website and then do SEO etc you can make upwards of $400 profit per sale. (shall be doing a guide on basic ecommerce and SEO too within this thread)

Any further questions please feel free to post here or private message me. I run a group on skype with a variety of social media sellers who all help people out.

I'm proud to say i figured this one out by myself, was browsing through facebook one day and just was on a load of pages which were just linking people to cars on ebay and thought, how could money be generated off of this? So i found the partner network and i found a way to monetise it. Got a fully autopilot method for it.

Linking to the Amazon and eBay Affiliate. There were things that i needed done and other users needed it too. So i invested my own money into developing a script which i now sell a monthly subscription to and also offer my other services too. Remember to offer what people need, if you offer something that they can do free elsewhere then they won't come to you.

Key Advice:

Keeping an open mind

You could be the best person at the world at doing a certain thing yet never know as you haven't given it a try.

Don't be scared to invest

Now when i say this, i don't mean just invest thousands into something. However if you know your market and have done your research and you feel that what you're putting your money in to will bring you a return, then do it. Make sure you're able to afford to lose it.

What can i offer you?

I'm willing to help you in anyway that's possible, be it partnering with you, advising you, or just talking to you about some ideas you may have. [/b]

If anyone wants any further help, just ask me, i can help improve your own methods or teach you mine.

Will be editing this over time with more methods and some of my progress.

All i ask is that if you are going to message me please post too, just so that i am able to help others too, i will make time to help everybody.

Have had people offer to give me something back such as below:

(May 13, 2014 04:38 AM)Potential Programmer Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I have Messaged the user and I added him on on Skype. In gratitude I am going to give him a percentage of what I make due to his help. This is a giving member and we as other users should encourage this kind of behaviour. I would recommend giving the those who give back, don't be greedy because just think, if he didn't help you would wouldn't have made anything regardless?

My response:

That's a really great thing to say, but i don't need it. If we can work together and we work on a project together and we both put effort in is when i would want something for it.

If you do insist on giving something back, i'll make something on justgiving for helping people and putting it towards a charity.

This is why i do what i do: (May 20, 2014 02:54 AM)Proficient Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) A few weeks ago, I was in need of money because of a financial crisis in my family.

Then, a few days after, I stumbled upon this thread.

Finding this thread opened a big opportunity and an amazing friendship.

Thomas was very helpful to assist me every step of the way.

He's a very busy man but he was always able to make time for me when I had questions.

This young man is amazing. He's assisted many people apart from me as well.

Long story short, he is the best mentor I've ever had.

Most mentors I've observed always seem to be in for the referral commission to be gained.

But Thomas is different. You see in this guy a good heart and a genuine passion to help those in need.

Through my determination, I was able to establish a successful Social Media Shop that raises funds for my college tuition.

Meeting this guy has been one of the best things that happened to me.

will be giving a brief overview however if you want more information pm me.

1. Social Media Services

It's relatively easy to find a cheap reseller panel or contact someone who does a lot of social media services and ask to resell for them. The one flaw that i see the newer members attempting to do is not being at all competitive. This is a basic rule of selling, you need to offer something that others do not have.

2. Amazon and eBay Affiliate

At the minute due to mt.gox and other things happening i'm not sure, you could either make a lot of money or lose a lot of money. Through my social media services i have $100 btc so i'm just deciding if i should keep or not.

I am tempted to spend that $100 and invest in other things though.

I'd say up to you, but realistically how far will $100 in btc get you, even if it got up to the 1k+ mark again you'll only gain $100.

When i was 15 i turned $15 into $200 by buying and selling runescape gold, i learnt a lot of life skills through doing it, the money wasn't great but the experience that you learn is just as valuable as the money.

No. Don't buy any E-books, they're all scams no matter what they say to you. NOBODY would give out their method if it truly worked.

In life there's no such thing as easy quick money. Majority of the ebooks are overhyped, you can make money with it but i doubt you'll ever make what they say.

The techniques i listed on the first page are things that i've done that have cost me nothing to start doing.

I am very interested on what you have to say for some PPD methods!

Decentral - March 10, 2014, 6:47 pm

(Mar 4, 2014 09:00 AM)OhMyQuad Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I won't be revealing all my techniques, but i have generated some of these methods myself, i could sell them but i thought i'd give something back. I will be giving a brief overview however if you want more information pm me.

1. Social Media Services

It's relatively easy to find a cheap reseller panel or contact someone who does a lot of social media services and ask to resell for them. The one flaw that i see the newer members attempting to do is not being at all competitive. This is a basic rule of selling, you need to offer something that others do not have.

2. Amazon and eBay Affiliate

I'm proud to say i figured this one out by myself, was browsing through facebook one day and just was on a load of pages which were just linking people to cars on ebay and thought, how could money be generated off of this? So i found the partner network and i found a way to monetise it. Got a fully autopilot method for it.

3. Web based scripts

Linking to the Amazon and eBay Affiliate. There were things that i needed done and other users needed it too. So i invested my own money into developing a script which i now sell a monthly subscription to and also offer my other services too. Remember to offer what people need, if you offer something that they can do free elsewhere then they won't come to you.

Key Advice:

Keeping an open mind

You could be the best person at the world at doing a certain thing yet never know as you haven't given it a try.

Don't be scared to invest

Now when i say this, i don't mean just invest thousands into something. However if you know your market and have done your research and you feel that what you're putting your money in to will bring you a return, then do it. Make sure you're able to afford to lose it.

What can i offer you?

I'm willing to help you in anyway that's possible, be it partnering with you, advising you, or just talking to you about some ideas you may have. [/b]

If anyone wants any further help, just ask me, i can help improve your own methods or teach you mine.

Will be editing this over time with more methods and some of my progress.

All i ask is that if you are going to message me please post too, just so that i am able to help others too, i will make time to help everybody.Can you hekp me become an ebay/amazon affiliate?

Polacek - March 10, 2014, 10:16 pm

I love the 8 page forum topic so far.

And I bet you're loving the potential traffic to your signature. ;)

Everyone, pay attention.

Simplest form of marketing right there;

Provide a service to the community while waving your penis in their face, with a sign dangling that says: "Condoms $20"

Why on earth would you suggest that i'm doing something like that. Do you want to know the real reason as to why i'm doing this? It's because i want to learn more and get potential partners who in the future i will make money from working with. One person who i've been speaking to has a great idea for an app, i've got him intouch with people who i think could help him with that. Another i've managed to learn a bit about domain trading.

My post was simply an observation, don't get so worked up.

There's plenty of people in this section of HackForums who feel like they need to put in [X Amount] of work to make money. So they obviously try and find the most simplest and easiest way to make money, by being suckered into things that are 'too good to be true'.

My observation was for those people, a simple and easily remembered method to make money:
"If you provide a service in which makes you sound like an expert; people will trust you. Eventually buying something from you."

Hi I'd really love to make some money thats worthwhile for my time haha, I've tried so many methods on here but none of them seem to be working well for me, I'm earning like a few cents a day and that's really not helpful

Could you help me get started? I have no idea where to start and would like to make at least a few hundred a month if that's possible? I'm a student too so I'm not going to have hours and hours of time on my hands every day, and would like to earn some money to pay for university in a couple of years. Is this possible?

Good to see someone actually trying to help the community. A lot of people just keep everything to themselves and shoot someone down when they ask for help. I would like to +1 you if I was a l33t. Hahaha

I'm doing this so that i've got people i can work with, if i've helped them start making money and they come up with something they could make a lot of money with and need a partner or some funds, then i'm here to support them and hopefully build a healthy working partnership with them. That's a really great thing to say, but i don't need it. If we can work together and we work on a project together and we both put effort in is when i would want something for it.

If you do insist on giving something back, i'll make something on justgiving for helping people and putting it towards a charity.

Shall be doing a full overhaul of the thread today, should make it a bit easier for everybody.

Just brainstorming what i want to add on skype:

Social media services

eBay and Amazon affiliate (via Facebook page posting)

Website services reselling (SEO/Design)

Ecommerce, running through basic guides and which shopping systems to use (with brief guides)

Drop shipping

SEO and onpage conversion optimisation.

then just including a few tips in general how to maximise profit etc

Can anyone think of anything else they would want a guide on? I've not done too much but i'd be willing to ask people who know the topic to help out writing a guide.

OhMyQuad - May 16, 2014, 2:29 am

Have updated the social media services post on the first page.

Now a lot of people offer these, it's a competitive price. What a lot of people do, is they get access to a social media panel (which i shall talk about a bit later) and they post a thread saying they're selling for $0.20 above what they can get them for from the panel. People then approach me and say, i'm not getting many orders and i'm not making that much money, can you help me? I'll list what i think the most important things you need to have to maximise orders and profit.

Do your research on pricing!

You won't get anywhere with really low pricing. People just won't believe what you are saying, as the saying goes, if it's too good to be true, it probably is. Price is one of a few things that draw people in to your service. If you're depending on price alone, your service won't gain many customers. Make sure you know what you want to get out of your service, if you are doing them for fun (as i know a few people who do) then be willing to make a bit less and offer deals (special pricing for quantity) If you want to be making more of a margin, then offer a higher price and let the orders come in, use the other points you have here to attract buyers. Thread design

Now this is important, put yourself in the buyers shoes, look through other threads, look at the successful threads, what do they have, what do the unsuccessful threads have. Most people have paid a designer to make them a thread, this on hackforums alone is a must. You won't get anywhere with a pure text design. Don't make it too flashy as you want your customers to see what they're after and keep reading your thread. Customer Service

You need to be able to offer the customer their solution and keep them happy. If the order has gone completely wrong, don't be afraid to add extra views or give them a partial refund. You're better going without money than negative comments on your service. The better you can deal with a situation the more likely you shall be to have the customer come back to you. Make sure you are always friendly and answer any questions that they may have as soon as you can. If you get bored of answering the same questions, add an FAQ to your thread so that your potential customers know everything about your service. Refunds

Don't be afraid to refund people even if you've placed the order with your supplier. An unhappy customer is going to be posting all over your thread saying you don't fulfil your services. If you can deal with it in a responsible manner, they'll leave your thread alone, i have had times where I've gotten orders for $25, for some reason along the line the order has gone wrong, I've refunded the $25 and delivered the order free of charge, they've gone on to then place further orders with me and recommend me to their friends which in turn made me more than the $25 I had "lost" by refunding them.

Your signature

Make sure that you have a suitable signature that draws attention, dependant on how much you post, you can have thousands of people viewing your signature whilst scrolling through the forum. You need to make sure that your signature grabs their attention.

Free services and giveaways

This is a bit of a sore spot within social media. You see a lot of people offering free services just to gain rep. I personally have given away free services as i have had a panel which i had access to for a week that could deliver large amounts of followers/likes to facebook pages and i didn't want the slots i wasn't using for my service to go to waste so i thought i would give back to the community a bit.

How to provide Social Media Services

There are multiple ways of providing your services, some providers don't like giving away their methods which i understand. However the key methods are as follows. Social media panels, social exchange websites, software to generate the service and through reselling other peoples services.

Social Media Panels:

This is how a lot of people choose to fulfil their services. As there is a wide choice of panels, i have made a list however i won't post the list here, if you are interested send me a pm. You get a set rate from within the panel and you then choose your margin and resell your services. However don't choose these panels purely off of price. If your panel has any problems at any point, you want an owner who will respond to you quickly and deal with your issues. This is what has turned me away from so many panels to the point where i actually partnered with someone and made my own. You always need to have access to multiple panels, you want to know if your main panel shuts down overnight that you'll have a backup plan. Get speaking to the panel owner, find out their problems and limitations then see if the other panels have the same problems, try see which is best for smaller orders and which is best for large. There is a big variety just test it out and find what you like.

Social Exchange Websites:

This isn't a very common method, you complete an action and in return are credited coins, so what it basically means is if you wanted to supply 1000 likes, you yourself would have to complete 1000 likes on other pages too. These are generally slow and have a limit of 2-3k, use these only if you have the coins/credits/points on the site to spare and let the customer know.

Software/Scripts:

This is what the majority of twitter and twitch services are done through, you purchase the software, then using a list of accounts and proxies you fulfil the service. There are upsides and downsides to the service, for example the customer only gets fake users, so through social media panels you can occasionally get real users, however it does mean you have full control of the order and after you've paid off the cost of the bot you are fully in to profit.

Reselling other services:

You can approach current sellers and ask if they have any reseller rates. This may work for people who are completely new to the whole scene, as if you are reselling for somebody they shall also be making money through you, so the more successful you are the more money they get. (Hopefully this guide should cover a lot of the questions though)

Social Media Frequently Asked Questions:

Do you need to invest to do social media services?

Some panels have no minimum deposit and don't require you to pay a fee to join their panel, if you also are good at graphics you can get those done yourself. So sometimes no. However the average investment needed is between $10 and $30.

Does the service provide a certain thing (real, high retention, fake, bots etc)

You need to know what you actually provide. I shall in the next update be writing a list of all the need to know questions that customers shall ask.

Is selling social media services hard?

Social media services are usually quite easy, you had times where you have someone say i wish to buy X amount of facebook likes, you then take the money and just place the order on the panel and you are done. That's quite an easy thing to do. However if you want to be the best there is, you need to put the effort in to provide the support, keep your customers up to date of any problems and deal with any potential problems before it gets difficult.

Is it profitable?

If you do it right, yes it is profitable, if you make a website and then do SEO etc you can make upwards of $400 profit per sale. (shall be doing a guide on basic ecommerce and SEO too within this thread)

Any further questions please feel free to post here or private message me. I run a group on skype with a variety of social media sellers who all help people out.

Ronnie Coleman - May 20, 2014, 2:54 am

A few weeks ago, I was in need of money because of a financial crisis in my family.

Then, a few days after, I stumbled upon this thread.

Finding this thread opened a big opportunity and an amazing friendship.

Thomas was very helpful to assist me every step of the way.

He's a very busy man but he was always able to make time for me when I had questions.

This young man is amazing. He's assisted many people apart from me as well.

Long story short, he is the best mentor I've ever had.

Most mentors I've observed always seem to be in for the referral commission to be gained.

But Thomas is different. You see in this guy a good heart and a genuine passion to help those in need.

Through my determination, I was able to establish a successful Social Media Shop that raises funds for my college tuition.

Meeting this guy has been one of the best things that happened to me.

I'll be posting pics soon <3 Thanks Thomas <3

Vxncent - May 20, 2014, 4:06 am

Thomas,

I first joined HF in December 2013. I joined because I thought you were all a bunch of l33t hax0rs and I would be able to make a million dollars by hacking things if I joined HF.

Obviously, I was extremely wrong. Once I realised this, I kind of drifted away from HF for a month or so..

Until one day, about the 15th of February 2014, I decided I would log on and see if anything has changed. I quickly took notice of how much cheaper Instagram likes and followers where on HF then on individual websites around the net. Once I saw this, I wanted the cheapest price. So, I posted a thread asking for 10k Instagram followers for $5. Thomas (OhMyQuad) replied to the thread in a matter of minutes, offering me this.

We were just chatting on Skype after I ordered, and we somehow got to the topic of money. I asked him how much he earns and how he earns it etc. To my surprise, he told me one of his biggest money making areas. That was the social networking area.

I was really curious on this, because at the time I was 14 (now 15) and I wanted to make some money. He led me through everything, and I mean everything about selling social network services. Even to this day, he is the reason I am able to sell my social network services at such a cheap price.

Now, I am earning money, which is the original reason I joined HF. I would like to thank him, as without him I probably wouldn't still be here today and I wouldn't have earned a cent at all.

He has been like an e-father to me. He has taught me everything I know so far. I really owe it to him.

I believe that he has the power to help you all make money, you just have to be nice and patient and work with Thomas - and he is also extremely generous.

Thank-you for everything so far Thomas, can't wait to keep working with you in the near future!

TL;DR: Thomas is amazing. He is the reason I make money. Trust him and listen to him to be successful.
