"Wahh, I was rep fucked, please feel sorry for me"

Please, for the love of god, make these types topics against the rules.

So many people get rep fucked and then make these topics just to get sympathy rep.

It's no different then asking for rep in my eyes.

What do you guys think?

Nima304 - May 8, 2010, 9:41 pm

I agree, people that make those types of threads should be repfucked again and warned.

Widow's Peak - May 8, 2010, 9:42 pm

I think that bringing up the fact that they got repfucked should be against the rules.

Well how bout you stop being a dick because I am sure you would have done the same thing.

And re-word ya stuff bro, reset means RESET, not REP FUCKED.

Some people don't actually know what happened to there rep, and if someone gives them rep to make them happy, it's none of your business.

<3 amped.

It's not being a dick, these people make these topics for the sole purpose for people to feel sorry for them.

Stop defending these people, they were punished for a reason and yet they continue to abuse the system.

If they want to know why their reputation was reset/removed they can PM an admin or for once READ THE RULES.

Okay okay, you got me. But re-word your thread please? I've seen like 3 threads of peoples rep being RESET without being rep fucked.

That's why they are confused.

Yeah, I typed "reset" without realizing that there was actually a difference.

I changed it. ?

Report the post/thread as "Reputation Abuse".

Generally those that complain get more negs. That's their own problem then.
