Group Leaders

Lani

Sh1eld

As the description of Polymath indicates, Polymath is not a group with one specific theme or topic. Our goal is to build a group with a set of individuals with different and broad knowledge, so that we as a group can cover multiple things here on the forums.

To apply for Polymath, write an application where you tell us about yourself and post it on this thread. There are no specific requirements on how you should set up your application. Please note that we will only accept members whose skill-sets match well with our requirements and show a certain indication of quality throughout the forum.

Please keep the application below 150 words.

Do not ask us if you have been accepted, or if we have read your application. If you get into Polymath accepted, you will notice.

_wind - March 12, 2014, 3:51 pm

Making a website for my application; stay tuned!

Gustav. - March 12, 2014, 3:53 pm

What I do is simple, I remove Malware and diagnose problems within a computer. I am familiar with Windows operating systems versions, XP, Vista, and 7 (I just got into 8, and I surely can't say that I know everything in and out about it). Sorry about the short application, 150, is what you wanted and I tried to keep it at a minimum ?

Komodo - March 12, 2014, 3:53 pm

I am not the best at explain my accomplishments, but I will give it a try. I am a very simple man, and like to be on Hack Forums in my spare time. In my short amount of time in Hack Forums, I have taught, and learned from members. Hack Forums is like a second home to me, and I try my hardest to support it. My skills can vary from Black, to White Hat methods (grey hat). I know things such as basic coding, Rats, Keyloggers, Computing Help, Trouble-shooting, Driver issues, etc. I know how to do things such as Marketing, and Business-Tactics. I currently own a Booter (offline at the moment) and am a Supporter for multiple things such as DataScrambler. Even though I have only been a member for a short amount of time, I would love to join Polymath to help contribute to the community.

Aura - March 12, 2014, 3:55 pm

I guess I'll give it a try, just to see if I'm a worthy member to the eyes of some people.

Well my name's Yoan and I'm a 3rd year IT student. I'll be graduating next year and I'll go to University where I'll go get a Bachelor in IT. I'm one of the main active helper in the Computing area, mostly in the Windows sections, the White Hat Help section, the Computer Protection and Security Alerts section and I'm starting to be more helpful in the Misc. Computer Talk and Virtual Machine sections. I've been an active helper in these sections for a few months now. I started as a normal member and I won two upgrades contest that got me to Ub3r. Recently I've been promoted to the Head Leader of The Brotherhood Computing Sector which I have the intention to take to the top, which means, I want to make that sector THE reference in the Computing area of HackForums. I assist at least 3-4 members everyday via Teamviewer and I specialize in Windows, Troubleshooting and Malwares and Viruses Analysis and Removal. If you browse the Computing area, you've probably seen me around. I don't know if my Computing knowledge is enough to be accepted in Polymath, but if it's not, I understand totally. Also, I've been named a Leader of The Brotherhood yesterday.

Good luck with the group too. Also, 207 words, sorry.

Also, vouch for this guy. When he's posting, he practically runs the White Hat Help section by himself.

My type of group. To begin, my name is Jordan/Jay and I am currently studying to become a forensic accountant. As of now, I work downtown Detroit at a major accounting firm as a payroll specialist. On top of working downtown, I have several other ventures in which I invest in bitcoin, homework service, outsourcing of work, tutoring, buying/reselling, and so forth. I am a firm believer of evolution and the big bang theory. To cut to the chase, HF is an area where it truly is survival of the fittest. With that being said, I believe I am fit for a group of this nature.

Much more info but limited with the 150 word count.
Thanks for the opportunity as it is appreciated.

Flanked - March 12, 2014, 3:56 pm

Can I be in a usergroup? Cause I can't apply via UserCP.

?een - March 12, 2014, 3:57 pm

I'd like to be a part of Polymath because I can contribute regarding the social media/marketing/money making aspect of this group. It'd be nice to learn what other members have to offer too. I'm a merchant.

Happeh - March 12, 2014, 3:58 pm

My main subject and knowledge would be music. Not only am I a big fan of music and can help with technical support, criticisms or recommendations, but I actually work within a music store, meaning my knowledge goes beyond just the normal things people can Google. I have working and in-depth knowledge that has accumulated over three years and would be happy to offer advice and more to people looking for something more niche. I also play several instruments and own quite a few. I'm always a happy guy and very sociable so communication would never be an issue.

Something else I can provide is my knowledge on Youtube. I'm currently the head moderator on Maker Studios forums, with Maker being the largest Youtube network around. Being Moderator means I can be responsible and can lead with no issue at all; again, happy to help with any support needs and such in this area too.

Thanks for reading.

Reading is fundamental.

Try doing it sometime. ???

Hidden™ - March 12, 2014, 3:58 pm

I am DarkTrace and have been apart of this community for a few years now.

My main areas of contributions are to giveaways and controversial topics as well as small guides and tutorials. My skill-set varies widely as I run a website and constantly keep money in motion. That is not to say I do not save here and there but to make it you have to spend it. As far as networking goes, I am what I consider knowledgeable in the field of routers / wifi/WPA/WPA2 cracking. I have a giveaway almost all of the time and tend to weave in and out of as many different sections as I can. The Lounge would be my main posting area but whose isn't? If you have any further questions please send a personal message my way. Thank you very much and thanks for reading.

McFlurry - March 12, 2014, 4:00 pm

Good luck to everyone one applying. Please take your time with your application and please do not rush it. Only a select few will be added.

Hello Lani, Sh1eld, and members of Polymath,

My name is Mitchell, i will be 20 the 4th of april, so a couple of days left,

I always look for opportunities to learn and to share my knowledge,

I am experienced in a couple of things,

1, GFX, 2, Web developing, 3, Coding, 4, Money making, 5, SE,

And many more things, but i cannot tell them cause of the 150 words,

Me applying for this groups means alot, i waited on a particular group to open and here you are,

I feel like i can contribute and learn to and from you guys,

If any questions pop up feel free to pm me,

Thanks for giving me the opportunity to apply,

Regards Mitchell.

Zapu - March 12, 2014, 4:01 pm

Name: Extrnl

App: My name is Extrnl, and I've been on Hackforums for over 1 year now. My interests lie in the technical field. My interests are programming(Currently learning x86 Assembly, other languages such as Python and C, but I've had most interest in Assembly) and learning low level exploitation techniques(Buffer Overflows, learning evasion techniques using ret2reg, ret2libc and ROP)

IDS evasion using Polymorphic Shellcode, XOR Vals, Unicode Conversion, Fragmenting Packets and other methods. I'm an avid user of *nix(Currently using #!, although I have used Arch and Manjaro, all of which I love) I'm also learning some networking(How protocols like UDP, TCP, ARP work, encapsulation, demultiplexing, OSI Model Layer, I think networking is REALLY fun and essential for any sort of pentesting. I hope to be certified soon)

Aside from all the technical things, I do enjoy debating various topics(Social and Political) because it's fun to debate, and hear others opinions on things they like.

I'm a kind, friendly user, who treats people with respect as long as they respect me. You could consider me to be goofy at times, and that's because I don't think it's healthy to be uptight all the time, and it's natural to loosen up a bit. When I dedicate myself to something, I NEVER give up, no matter how mad I get over the task, because I know with more reading and more patience, I will finally understand it later.

I also enjoy reading up on Paranormal stuff such as Innawood threads on /x/(Those are the best in my opinion) and changens, because I am fascinated with that type of stuff.

Thanks for reviewing my App, and I'm sorry if it's not living up to your expectations.

You sir have surpassed me, you are better than me, know that. I don't run anything, you sir have been doing a fantastic job maintaining it yourself. I haven't been on to experience every single detail & effort you put towards the section but from the looks of it; it's great and you should have a golden honor.

SIM-1179501 - March 12, 2014, 4:02 pm

I am nmek and I just like helping people out. I have never been in a group before and would love to have the experience to be in a group. I am a little bit good at everything, and like to do things as a group so that you can get more insight on things.

Kenjataimu - March 12, 2014, 4:02 pm

I am an emerging entrepreneur, deep thinker, futurist, aspiring politician and activist. I try to stay open minded and I can be a very "spiritual" person.

You can talk to me about anything and I will give you a genuine answer. I have knowledge in business and electronics and I enjoy talking to people with unique interests.

I will be taking out of school business courses this summer where I will learn even more skills necessary to move along my businesses and envision bigger ideas.

Agency - March 12, 2014, 4:03 pm

My application,

I really am never good at coming up with something but lets try,
I enjoy gaming, Gaming has always been something i have excelled at compared to everything in life. With gaming i like to stick to a game till i master it like for example runescape which i played for around 6 years or so in which i met lots of new friends and had great fun in getting 99 for everything, When i play something i stick to it and don't stop some call it nerdy i call it dedication to gaming. If i can help anyone with gaming i get a sense of happiness that i helped someone,
Thanks for reading

Roger Water's Application

Hello Lani, Sh1eld, and members of the Polymath group!

My username is Roger Waters, but you can call me Dylan. I am turning 18 in less than a month and I consider myself to be an active user of this site. I am a writ3r for HF News in the Gaming Section, a leader of The Brotherhood's Computing Sector, and a Sector Coordinator for Complexity's Gaming Sector. I am knowledgeable in all Computing topics, Smartphone topics, and Gaming topics on the site. I have been studying Computers and Networking for four years at my high school where I have been Student of the Year several times for excellence and contribution to the school as a whole, I have also brought my knowledge to assist users on Hack Forums. You can check the reputation users have given me thanking for my assistance with their issues and my post count, the numbers don't lie. I believe that I would be a great fit for your group, and if accepted, you will not be disappointed. Thank you for taking the time to read my application.

Regards,
Roger Waters

Hello, I am known as Addiction, you may have seen me around. Whilst I browse the forum and reply to any topics which interest me, my main sector of knowledge lies within the Website Construction section. With many users now trusting me to help them with their problem on a daily basis, a quick look over my threads and posts within that section will show you two things:

My main area of knowledge is the MyBB system.

I have varied knowledge of other subjects regarding web development and construction.

I do my best to help others, which has resulted in a few users accusing me of being arrogant and obnoxious but this is not the case at all. I find that constructive criticism is the best way to help someone move forward and of course I will help them in any way I can but I never spoon feed someone with the problems they come up against.

As previously stated, I have been recognized as one of the main helpers within that section that stand out amongst others and I hope that by realizing that, you can acknowledge that by recruiting me not only will you be gaining a high quality member but also a member who can paint the picture that the group wishes to show of itself and adhere to any standards set.

Hopefully I will be hearing from you soon.

Regards, Addiction.

Pink. - March 12, 2014, 4:05 pm

My name is "Rivaled" other than that known as Vanish.

I specialize my self into the terms of "Hacking", I did code a bit, but I stopped. I normally hang out in the server stress testing section, or the marketplace. I do make money online, and I know what I am doing. I am a greyhat, and I am able to help anyone out if needed, I run a DDoSing service on HF along with a partner. I also do have experience with alot of other terms, "Doxing" "Bruteforcing" "Cracking" "SQL's" "XSS's" "Coding" "Linux Coding" "Scripts" "DDoSing" "Pentesting" And so goes the list, Since it is limited to 150words, I honestly did not know what to put. I am also very interested in gaming, I spend around 10+ Hours a day on the computer. If you want further information, please send me a PM. ?

Flanked - March 12, 2014, 4:06 pm

Hello, I'm Jason, and yes a regular member I can always try.

I don't really do something else then making money online and swimming. I make money by E-whoring that I could teach to the group. And I can teach some other ways that are harder. I use to help people when they got scammed, I helped the scammed user by tracking all details and get them all together to show that the scam report was valid.

That was my application, I'm not good at writing them as I don't apply that much. Thanka for reading.

Revenge - March 12, 2014, 4:06 pm

Well since you wanted it under 150 words. I'm going to keep it very short. My name is Danny, I like to play video games, sports and browse the internet a lot. A lot of people would consider me trustworthy and honest.

Thank you. ?

King Cin - March 12, 2014, 4:06 pm

I have one objective in life, that objective is gaining and sharing knowledge.

I would like to learn from other members in Polymath while I also teach them what I know. I can teach about Computer Security, Human manipulation, psychology and philosophy. All I want is to achieve my objective, I don't need anything else. If I can gain knowledge, then I'm statisfied.

Thank you.

Waxy - March 12, 2014, 4:07 pm

So, i guess this is my application for Polymath.

My name is Andrew, I'm 17 and I have a full time job working in Graphics & Printing. My main subject focus would be arts. I love different types of electro music and I create graphics every day. I would consider myself a creative person, who enjoys speaking to and meeting new people. In my spare time I like to make Tags (small pieces of art), listen to music or go out with my friends. I would love to join this group, as I assume it will have lots of skilled and talented individuals who I would like to talk to and discuss matters within the group.

Xapo - March 12, 2014, 4:07 pm

Hi there, I'm Total Recall. I'm an avid business type guy. I'm quite mature and I know a consider sum about stuff. People would describe me as willing to help. My area of expertise is in server management. Luckily I've spent 3 years working on Project Watson with IBM as a contractor. I'm an overall nice guy with an attitude for success. I am a very active member, despite my short time being on the forum. I've made an impression selling over 5,000$ worth of bitcoins in the market. Successfully, without a single scam report. Not many can say that. Thanks for your consideration.
