Thread: [\[VIDEO RESPONSE\] \[ADDED VIDEO OF A FIGHT\] UID - 1363323 | baka Scammed me \$0.30](#)

VladHQ - March 14, 2014, 11:09 am

NOT RESOLVED

UID - 1363323. My "friend" sent me 30 cents on PayPal, I know him in real life, and when he said it was a mistake, I refunded him and got a -$0.25 cent fee. I had about 50 cents on PayPal, and now I have only $0.23!

The member is very rude and makes derogatory comments in the notes.

Deal with extreme caution! User is very sketchy and will scam!

This is your fault for opting to pay for the fee in the paypal transaction menu.

Munch - March 14, 2014, 11:12 am

Well it is money , despite the low amount.

But what did he "scam" you of?

VladHQ - March 14, 2014, 11:14 am

I helped him cheat on a quiz in real life, and he did not sent me the PayPal money.

And yes, bullying isn't okay. Ilenin - March 16, 2014, 9:16 pm

I originally thought of this as a joke. I read deeper (2 pages) to realize this is a serious post (I think).

I haven't read all the replies as I'm tired, but from what I've read so far this honestly seems comedic. Being a person who wouldn't mind it losing less than 50 cents in a transaction, this doesn't strike me as alarming. However, if this person was being immature I would be careful making transactions with him. I would especially be careful working in a business with the person.

This seems like a practical joke to me. I, personally, wouldn't take it to mind if a friend of mine I knew in real life took 30 cents from me, if it was really a problem I would just resolve it physically. If it was a joke I would tell him or her that the joke wasn't funny and to give back the money they owe. If it was a mistake they shouldn't mind paying the money they owe.

I mean no offense in this comment, it's all a matter of my opinion.

Nachfolger - March 16, 2014, 9:30 pm

Just because you're a weak-hearted person and do everything that other people tell you to do, doesn't mean that you can take it out on someone else who is kind enough to even tolerate you 1% of the time.

Consider yourself one friend less. So that leaves you with 1-3.

Oh guys, btw. Since you all know vlad is poor already, I've boughten him lunch 5+ times too. Never once have I ever wanted anything back, but when he loses .30 due to his own stupidity he wants it..

Life is , both of you need to sort your shit out and grow up.

I am actually mad at both the scammer, and the people that disagree with me. It's a legit scam report and I got negative reps from it, probably because I am l33t and can only neutral rep back. He actually got positive reps from it, which is extremely weird because he is a scammer even though it's just 30 cents.

I have more friends, you are an ass to me all the time. And if you wanna get this shit blended in with real life, you don't do any extra curriculum activities. And you were dumb enough to cheat off of me, and get caught because you didn't realize that the HW that I gave you had a note to the teacher on the bottom FROM ME. I don't care about how many friends you have. Frankly, everyone see's that you treat people like shit. You always try to do stupid shit like this. $.3 and you don't even realize how fucking stupid you look right now. So what if I don't? Everyone has fucking problems, but this isn't just about the 30 cents, now it's getting more personal. You are the very rude one, you are the one that started insulting me earlier in the thread. And you make mistakes all the time. Even after I let you cheat and I got dropped 2 letter grades, I still help you now, and you don't even say thank you! I play water polo because I like swimming in general and it was the only sport involved with water. I was on a swimming team when I was 8, and I took swimming lessons when I was 3. You do nothing. The only real friend you have is Rathwaan, and that is because he actually cares about you. He talks to me (when we were still cool) and tells me that he really wants to hang out with you but all you do is play League of Legends. It is annoying. I have never seen you anywhere outside of school. Dude, who is your real friend. One that you can rely on? Brandon? That kid's fucking idiot, and he surely doesn't give a shit. Who else? Colin? No. Who else? Nobody. Maybe if you got out more, you would have more friends. If you fulfilled the promises that you made to me, I wouldn't get mad at you, but you chose not to. Shame.

It's getting personal because you just started it. I never said anything till a few post ago. But that's cool if you want to do water polo, but it's easy to admit that you wouldn't have done it if your friends weren't already there. Also, maybe I don't have any real friends I can rely on lol. Maybe because you're all shitty ones? I don't only play league, sorry. It's a hobby I enjoy, and are you willing to try to take that away? Because no one has the right to take away something that someone enjoys. And if you think you can then you're in a really wrong state of mind. I don't care if I don't have that many friends, because frankly the few that I DO have are enough. You get mad at people either way. Rarely do you ever do things just for the goodness of yourself. It's usually "pay me $2" or some variation of that. & LOL promises? is this make a wish foundation? Okay look in all seriousness, I don't support either him or you. If either one of you had a single brain cell behind you, you could have just gave him the money in real life seeing as you were apparently friends at school. And yes, I called you a child and I stand by my opinion. I don't care if he negs me because of my opinion, becasue both of you are as bad as each other. Maybe next time you won't be an idiot and cry over $.30 and lose a friend over it. You actually come across as a bit of a bully, wanting a public apology for a mistake you made. I am bringing him down, right now, yes. That is because he has been disrespectful during the first about 50 replies to this thread I have done everything to stay as less harassing as possible.

By the way, if you haven't realized yet, the video is fake. I didn't actually hit him, I was kidding with him, and that's why both of us are smiling. I haven't been disrespectful to him in real life, and we do both laugh at this thread, but even though we do find it a little funny, he still owes me the money, and I am being completely serious. I may be a moron to post a scam report over 30 cents, but I am trying to get a domain and I don't have any PayPal money so every cent is important to me. I am not broke in real life, I do have some cash, and I could buy things if I wanted. I really do hope that those people calling me a moron realize that this is not about cash, this is about PayPal. You are getting attention because you are making a scene and bullying him, point has been further proven by the fact you made a video of you hitting him.

Fake or not, you revealed what he looks like on a forum where he may not have wanted to be known, you gave his real name away in the video too and now that I come to think about it, that can be seen as rule breaking here by posting member information.

He revealed his personal information numerous of times. He revealed his e-mail numerous of times. You can easily look him up on Twitter by his name/e-mail. He doesn't choose to stay anonymous. To be honest ValdHQ, you are just looking for attention. Even if few cents matter to you, you seem like trolling. Your thread title says ["Video of a Fight"]---Seeking attention. Its just a video of you pushing his backpack. Since when pushing someone's backpack is considered as a "FIGHT"? If money is worth so much in your eyes, i wouldn't WASTE my time on this thread. Go ahead, by all means, go ahead! I bought the Twitter account from a user because I needed a user base of about 2,000 followers due to me making music. I finally got around using it and got 500 followers because the original account amount was like 2,100 something. I bought the account and it probably is the account of the previous user that was banned (?) from this forum.

Again, an admin can check my logs, my account should be clear. Also, this is completely off topic, and does not relate to the scam report in a single way. Please PM me if you have a personal issue with me or would like to further discuss this.

VladHQ - March 19, 2014, 1:05 pm

Okay, fine. This is my other account... My older account was closed back when I was in Ukraine, about a year ago. Right now, I am in US. Up to now, I still do not know the reason of the account closure, but I did login into one of my account from my friends TeamViewer, because since I need a VPN to go on HF, I had to check my PMs so I logged in from his, and he had an account with like 50 posts, not upgraded, no rep, and he lived in New York, I believe. My account was closed after about 3 days, and I am assuming because of that.

I really want to stay on HF, I am already L33t again, and I am truly sorry for making a new account, I did change places of residences, and I really haven't done anything terrible. Even though people think that this is a troll report, it's not for me. I am quite mad at my friend in real life because it led to so much flame. This doesn't deserve so many replies, and my original idea was not to get replies. I would like to keep my account, I am not a scammer, nor was I on my previous account. I have not done any deals involving money on HF, and this thread can kind of prove it. I did make tutorials and I did contribute a lot more than an average member on both of my accounts. I really hope to convince an admin that I do want to stay on this site, and it's a pleasant time spender.

I didn't insult him, I asked him if he could say what happened in The Mentors' section. He reported and that's why I got RF'd. Afterwards, I did PM him insulting him, but why would I get my account closed, he is just a regular member, I get several PMs insulting me, I just ignore them. Am I supposed to forward them to Omniscient and get the user's account closed for some petty insults? I don't think so.

And I honestly didn't know that that was the reason I got account closure.
