Regulus - March 17, 2014, 12:27 pm

Hello there awesome HF members. So the new movie with Leonardo DiCaprio "The Wolf Of Wall Street" is popular as fuck at the moment. Everyone i have been talking to have seen it and they loved it.

IMDb rated the movie 8.5/10 which is pretty damn much, but i couldn't agree with IMDb more, the movie was worth those ratings to be honest.

So the point of this thread? Well, share your opinions about this movie (For those who have seen it) and maybe share your favorite scene?

My favorite scene was the one when Donnie was masturbating in front of the whole party and the girl Naomi, me and my friend literally fell of our chairs laughing haha!

What did you think of the movie?: I really liked it. Some people have said it was too long, but I was entertained the whole time, so I don't see that as a problem. It had some good acting, and the way the movie was done (Leo breaking the 4th wall every now and then) was really great.

Your favorite scene?: Honestly I can't decide. It had a lot of really good scenes and of course you can't forget Margot Robbie :P

This is a fantastic exploration of greed, money, and a truly flawed character that spent much of the nineties on a jaw-dropping but pernicious thrill-ride.

No doubt a 10/10 movie.

?¢??? - March 20, 2014, 9:31 am

The movie is infectiously entertaining. It is probably the funniest movie I have seen all year with witty dialogue, over the top characters, and filled with energy that bleeds off the screen. Between all the fun however, there is also a story about addiction and how it can cause a downward spiral in your life whether it be drugs, money, or power.

The cast is fantastic and DiCaprio gives his best and most fun filled performance to date. I really enjoyed this movie and think it's the funniest movie of the year 4.5/5

Bobs 106 - March 20, 2014, 3:43 pm

Scorsese seems to be getting a little more over the top with each new film he makes (with the exception of the kids film Hugo) and while there were definitely some classic Scorsese scenes in this flick, I did find it a tad ridiculous. My favorite scenes were of DiCaprio and Hill wrestling in his kitchen after Hill is on the bugged phone with the Swiss banker, and the scene where DiCaprio and his wife have sex for the last time. Classic Scorsese epicness.

The movie had great acting however the movie was horrible, they used sex as a tool to cover up the fact they had no idea what to actually put in there. It had way too much sex and the only reason this movie was a hit was because horny teenagers watched it. They had a good choice of actors and movie idea but they had no fucking idea how to make it.

So a summary of what I just said is, is this movie good?

I hated it so much. It's like a poor version of Wise Guys.

The story in the movie is hardly existent - you could literally take a nap for 40 minutes and the overall progress could be summed up in a sentence.

From pointless event to pointless event; also the sluts and parties were alright in the beginning but they just keep repeating the same shit over and over again.

Overall a horrible over-hyped movie which success displays how mindless today's moviegoers are.

What did you think of the movie?: Pretty awesome movie in fact. All my friends went to go see it together. However, I went by myself after to really take in it the next day. Some portions of it really hit home for me, on what I would do in the situation and who are your real friends.

Your favorite scene?: Probably Jordan's first lunch on Wall-Street. It started everything for him, and was pretty entertaining. Oh and by the end of the movie, you probably wouldn't even remember it.

The movie is excellent ! An outstanding cinematic achievement that Di Caprio is brilliant ; you lay back with his performance which is by far the best in cariera.Ma impressed with this movie because not a classic scenario that shows us how illegal that a person becomes rich , but how that person destroys , its treatment of certain situations and how they spend money ! After watching this film everything you want in life is to be rich !
