

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Website ideas? Domain ideas?

Separate - March 17, 2014, 2:50 pm

I'm looking to start up a new project (a website) and I don't know what I should do. Any suggestions are accepted and I would also like you to suggest a domain thanks.

Daryl Dixon - March 17, 2014, 2:55 pm

I get where the people are coming from with making threads like these, asking for ideas and what not... but if someone really has an idea that has the potential to be successful and a domain to go with said idea, odds are that they are not going to share it. They are either going to do it for themselves or pay someone to do it for them.

Separate - March 17, 2014, 2:59 pm

(Mar 17, 2014 02:55 PM)Daryl Dixon Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I get where the people are coming from with making threads like these, asking for ideas and what not... but if someone really has an idea that has the potential to be successful and a domain to go with said idea, odds are that they are not going to share it. They are either going to do it for themselves or pay someone to do it for them. I understand your point. It doesn't have to be anything that is unique and/or will make my money. I'm not bothered what people suggest I just want some ideas tossed around.

Daryl Dixon - March 17, 2014, 3:01 pm

(Mar 17, 2014 02:59 PM)Alesso Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I understand your point. It doesn't have to be anything that is unique and/or will make my money. I'm not bothered what people suggest I just want some ideas tossed around. Alrighty then, I'll see what I can come up with...

Do you have anything in mind? What are you good at? What do you enjoy doing?

Separate - March 17, 2014, 3:06 pm

(Mar 17, 2014 03:01 PM)Daryl Dixon Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Alrighty then, I'll see what I can come up with...

Do you have anything in mind? What are you good at? What do you enjoy doing?
I have nothing in mind. I'm open to anything.

sudo apt-get pussy - March 17, 2014, 3:10 pm

A website that lists custom computer builds other people has done.

It'd be a wall full of computer pictures and when you clicked on one you'd get the specs and the rest of the photos as well as the builder's notes. you could put ads on the sides of the wall and monetize it. The guy that gets the most likes on his build at the end of the month gets a cash prize or something. If someone rebuilds their build, they get a place in the hall of fame.

It'd be like a guide for people who wants to build a computer but has no idea of where to start.

If the site got big it could draw attention from many custom builders you'd be off. It'd have the potential to draw in a huge crowd, and you'd make money of the ads. If you don't want to earn money from the site, you could give bigger cash rewards and hopefully build the site bigger.

Supermarket. - March 17, 2014, 3:20 pm

You should do a file hosting site or something ?

DoubleD - March 17, 2014, 3:26 pm

Depends what kind of project you want? I'm confused :P

Traitor-Panda - March 17, 2014, 6:15 pm

This has got to be one of the most pathetic threads I've seen all day.
And I've cycled through 10 birthday threads...

Alfred - March 17, 2014, 6:17 pm

myfirstwebsite.weebly.com

/thread

Mr. WAVES - March 17, 2014, 6:17 pm

Why should I give you my ideas when I can start the project myself and make money from it? I don't see why you guys are asking for business ideas.

Separate - March 18, 2014, 12:27 am

(Mar 17, 2014 06:17 PM)YOLOnline Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Why should I give you my ideas when I can start the project myself and make money from it? I don't see why you guys are asking for business ideas.
How the fuck am I wanting business ideas?
I don't even want to start a fucking business.

I'm looking for website ideas that people would use.
I also said that I wouldn't monetise it.
Please if you're no help. Go the fuck away.

sudo apt-get pussy - March 18, 2014, 2:13 pm

I really like how I'm the only one that took this thread seriously and I didn't even get a fucking sentence of feedback.

Separate - March 19, 2014, 12:34 am

(Mar 18, 2014 02:13 PM)sudo apt-get pussy Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I really like how I'm the only one that took this thread seriously and I didn't even get a fucking sentence of feedback.
Sorry I ment to leave you feedback but I don't kno why I never. Thanks for taking your time to write all of that but I believe that you have to have some knowledge about the topic you are doing otherwise the website won't be at maximum potential.

I'll give it a think.

LarryKingdor - March 19, 2014, 12:38 am

(Mar 18, 2014 02:13 PM)sudo apt-get pussy Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I really like how I'm the only one that took this thread seriously and I didn't even get a fucking sentence of feedback.
I will thank you for him, thank you.?

Dame. - March 19, 2014, 12:42 am

It depends on what niche you are wanting to use. It also helps if the niche you choose one one you enjoy too it makes it worth while for you. Like if you like gaming or playing video games you could choose a gaming niche or if you like making graphics you could do some sort of graphics niche. I read in an earlier reply that you are not looking to monetize the site but once you decide on the niche maybe you might change your mind later on if the site kicks off really well. Adsesse isnt to hard to get approved for or AWM. But all in all it depends on what you would like to do with the website (Adsense, AWM, PPD, PPC, Exchange Site, Forum, Blog, File Host, Image Host etc) and how much time you put into it. If you come up with an idea and need any help coding, putting the site together I can help you. I also have some unique domains you might be interested in.

fahrudin - June 7, 2014, 9:19 am

Depends what kind of project you want?

Eminem? - June 7, 2014, 9:21 am

(Mar 17, 2014 03:10 PM)sudo apt-get pussy Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) A website that lists custom computer builds other people has done.

It'd be a wall full of computer pictures and when you clicked on one you'd get the specs and the rest of the photos as well as the builder's notes. you could put ads on the sides of the wall and monetize it. The guy that gets the most likes on his build at the end of the month gets a cash prize or something. If someone rebuilds their build, they get a place in the hall of fame.

It'd be like a guide for people who wants to build a computer but has no idea of where to start.

If the site got big it could draw attention from many custom builders you'd be off. It'd have the potential to draw in a huge crowd, and you'd make money of the ads. If you don't want to earn money from the site, you could give bigger cash rewards and hopefully build the site bigger. Seems like a really easy project :), good luck.