Thread: Small Error in Help Documents

Trust - March 18, 2014, 8:07 pm

I found a small error in the Hack Forums help documents.

It can be found on this page: <https://hackforums.net/misc.php?action=help&hid=21>

PID's and Call-Ins

As this is pure fraud we will not allow this type of discussion here. That includes ebooks, threads, sigs, social engineering section, and marketplace.

From my understanding, the "Social Engineering Section" is no more.

It's a small thing that requires no immediate attention, but it's just something I noticed that could be changed.

Unless it meant the act of suggesting a social engineering section, of course.

The Rules and Help Docs are being rewritten by The Writ3rs at the moment. They will be edited soon and a new version will come out.

This is great news to hear, hopefully they will be more detailed and specific.

That's awesome!

I'm looking forward to see what comes out of it.

Good eye my friend, but Omniscient usually fixes these kind of problems when he has the time like Sammy said. Good pointing out though!

Didn't it become the Ewhoring section? I remember hearing about that somewhere.
