Thread: Find a person, with only a image of the person? help :\)

N33t - March 19, 2014, 2:27 pm

I got a image of a girl i that started chatting to me, but wont give out her real name... and on, is there any way i can find her? by only having her image?

Yes, i have tried the google image search, but no big luck.

Im only trying to expose a fake profile, shes using picture of others on the net to get other people to send her/him naked photos :)

If you feel for neg repping me, sorry ^^

Wow, stalker alert, if she ain't giving you her real name it's because she does not want you to have it.

Don't ask for help to stalk woman!

Mimix - March 19, 2014, 2:28 pm

Send it to me, i maybe can track it down.

How do the fact that "she" is using a fake profile, with picture of another innocent girl.. How do that make me a creep? when im only trying to find out where she got these pictures from, or more about the person who is behind the "fake profile".. How can do that make me a creep?

I know how to find her, but I don't think I should give you this information.

Why? ^^ Why do people assume that im creeping on this person..

Im simply trying to expose this sick bastartd behind this fake profile.

Wow... i should never have made this thread... it makes me look like a real creep.. -.- when all im trying to do is expose some freak who tried to make me send him/her naked photos of myself, but would not give out his/her name. And im beeing called the creepy one...

Be very careful as people are bad these days and they make a lot of bad things just to manipulate people to give them money

For example they can pretend that they are girl and will ask for nudes with you and if you send them you are destroyed as it will ask you for money if not it will share the photos with you naked on the internet

Reverse image search. Plenty of websites do it even google

Just realized this post is damn near 10 years old

this is a good practice if you have girlfriends online.. cause if not they may drain your wallet. i meet a couple faking being in love with me... once stuff dont make sense i apply some osint to discover the true.. i prefer the true than a fake love history.. eventually yeah she call me psycho

one girl after couple months chatting and really wearing his character she told me ok send me some money im going to usa and we can marry.. then off course having analytical mind some stuff dont make sense.. my first test was telling her i use to be in that city when kid can you send me picture of the street. and she send me a picture of a city with palms and pools.. the city that she was supposed to be its cold weather.. so right there it trigger my desire for investigation i got in to his BF socialnetwork since guys are more less paranoid about their privacy and i find a picture and did reverse image they were in a popular place so i discover that they were in vacations with the money she ask me to help her... almost destroy me .. i suffer alot .. stay way from all those apps .. stay basic like the old ways.. find a good woman with good moral or else ur being call psycho for applying hacking skills

I believe if you think that she has a fake profile etc, then it's easier to move on. That kind of sounds like you have ulterior motives.
