Thread: [\[ALL PRODUCTS\]Leak-Prevention Service | WE TAKE DOWN YOUR LEAKED PRODUCTS](#)

wezlyyy - March 25, 2014, 8:18 am

With our constant watch service we can protect your product 24/7, very tedious work that can be annoying for the average product owner.

We take pride in this service and idea, and hope to do business with you.

If you are just signing up for the watch service and already have many leaks out there, we will remove the already existing leaks for a flat price of $45 for all the leaks.

We can support any downloadable product, meaning there is no physical object that is sold.

Example compatible products:

E-Books

RATs

Software

Tools

Account passwords for your service

Cracked programs

I also do this but private, GLWS OP, hope you get some customers.

Glamorous - March 25, 2014, 9:57 am

I must say, this is a very different and unique service you're offering here. Sounds interesting, will be watching this thread.

How are you going to take down something? Would it be like DMCA? Or what if it was posted on a forum.

Shanks - March 25, 2014, 10:48 am

This guy is probably admin on leak. and will just remove the threads lol.
GLWS sounds good.

yes, he wont be able to remove those because first off he wont be able to find the sites in the first place. If he did he would not be able to even contact them. If he even gets their contact information they would ignore him what happens if I purchase this and he does not even able to find the leak and if he finds it cant remove it? refund?

I'll probably hook you up when my product is done, cuz i know it'll get leeched fast.

Examplesze - March 25, 2014, 12:52 pm

How do you suppose to remove it from forums that allow leaking ?

If he told that he told his secret.

TheyCallMeNeon - March 25, 2014, 1:14 pm

Just ring up the host and tell them they are violating law.

How can you prevent a leak? Once something is leaked it cannot be undone, users download it, and it can simply be uploaded again, spread around on Skype, between friends & on file hosting sites you can't touch.

I honestly don't see how this service can work out.

The speculations about how my service is done are all valid. Its like my own product. I spend a lot of time waiting for leaks and cracks to be listed publicly, then do my best to remove them. For someone elses product, they might spend a ton of time making FUD stubs or update JDB.

I'm glad to see everyone is paying attention to my service, feels great :D

Sadly, it does get quite hard to remove leaks via skype or other peer to peer file sharing, but for static public file sharing I can easily deal with. I am not an admin or moderating any leak forums haha, but thats a interesting idea(very evil).

All jokes aside, I am happy to see people have interest! I am trying to make my pricing reasonable, but would gladly discount because I need vouches!
