Thread: Removing the added post count of The Lounge.

deiski - April 4, 2014, 6:07 am

I remember when it use to be you don't get any post count for posting in the lounge.

Personally, it's better like that, despite that I have almost 1000 posts in The Lounge, I'd be willing to lose even 4k of my posts if this was added back, I feel it would stop the low quality posting of The Lounge.

Apologies if this has been suggested, just my opinion.

:pray:

Think about it though, The Lounge is where people can discuss practically any topics, whether it be 'I stubbed my toe' or 'my power is out', they'll actually have to think about what they post about, if there going in the marketplace they have to actually read and reply, instead of just replying, in my opinion its likely to increase the quality and less of 'internet trolls'.

My point, EVERYBODY posted about it, I admit I did too, but I was one of the first, I didn't realize it would get ridiculous as I never contributed to that stuff.

Please consider even trialing this.

I think this is a good idea. Some people just rack up posts in the lounge. It is the same way in group lounges or any other lounge. I hardly post in the lounge so this wouldn't bother me.

If people are using Hackforums for the purpose of spamming to increase their post count... then in my opinion they should be banned. We don't need them anyway.

Therefore, I think this is an excellent idea... hence the 6 billion threads/posts into the lounge on April Fools... Plus, the lounge is for talking about whatever you want, therefore you shouldn't get post counts anyway and should have next to no rules within reason.

Putting quotes and replies in the main post so people can see my main points.

It's their own count raising, not yours. It doesn't affect you at all. You can do the exact same as they can and spam.

It affects me a lot if peoples quality is plummeting, I don't care if somebody has 20k posts or 200 posts, I mean, if the post count stops being added for posts in there, people will stop using it for low quality posting and trolling, which is against the rules.

100% sure people are still gonna troll.

I beg to differ, as I'm trying to point out I'm not looking to argue, I'd rather be friends, I just want this to be considered, even put on trial for a month or so too see what happens.

I completely understand, but personally, before the post count thing was added back, I feel it was higher quality.

Please don't close the thread, I just want to know peoples opinions and this to actually be put in a staff members consideration.

As I just stated, the quality of the section will not increase. The trolling will remain, it is inevitable.

This will not be changed.

I guess we can just agree to disagree here, but it will always have the same outcome.

I'm just saying, it's not a TERRIBLE idea.

I gotta go to sleep anyway, I'll read this thread when I wake up.

Nina Dobrev TM - April 4, 2014, 6:28 am

Yeah I see your point, and the other guys.

After that April fool's shit ermagerd.

Whatever everything can be put to vote/trial

ven0m - April 4, 2014, 6:30 am

Your post counts reflects nothing. Staffs junk threads of low quality. So, having those post counts will not hurt.

Now, this reminds me of MagicSpeed and this thread.

Hm, I dunno man, I'd just like to see some change around here.

Omniscients done this before and all he got was complaints telling him to add it back.

Lounge posts are still considered posts, therefore they will remain counted in post count (until Omniscient says otherwise).

Omniscient - April 4, 2014, 3:59 pm

This was debated and decided long ago and the post whores won.
